Today

Busy Dictators Hitler, Peace Angel Kemal Speaks Up Women, at Fifty

By Arthur Brisbane

Copyright, 1935, by King Features Syndicate, Inc. International copyright and all other rights reserved.

Dodge City, Kan., March 24—This train is going through Kansas, with little sign of dust storms, that have done so much damage. Colorado in one small region reports dust rising five miles into the air. Farmers suggest that "static electricity in the dust kills the wheat or stops its growing."

Europe's dictators borrow ideas from each other. Mussolini, perhaps unconsciously, copied Rienzi, who ended violently. Hitler saw how well Mussolini's idea worked, and adopted it. Dollfuss tried it in Vienna, ended badly.

Kemal Pasha has made a success of it thus far in Turkey, throwing sultans overboard, Mohammed, the fez, veils for women also. Kemal says, "If Hitler can defy the League and kick over the Versailles Treaty, so can I." He will fortify the Dardanelles, in spite of the treaty, that created a neutral zone, adjoining the narrow water passage that separates Europe from Asia at Constantinople.

In old days Stalin would have had something to say about that. Fortifying the Dardanelles would have meant keeping him and his fleet out of the Mediterranean. It matters little now. Stalin, who knows that the only real fleet is the air fleet, has the second largest air fleet in the world. If Kemal annoyed him, Stalin could blow up Constantinople, Angora and the Dardanelles fortifications as well, all comfortably and conveniently from the air.

Hitler, turning with a rapidity that would startle any work, now declares himself guardian Angel of Europe, offering to start a world peace guaranteed to last 20 years. That would depend on Japan and Russia.

France sends 30,000 men closer to the German border, and Mussolini, probably annoyed by imitation dictators forcing themselves into the limelight, announces that he has raised Italy's army to 660,000, and will probably increase it to two millions.

Two million soldiers would eat a good deal of food that other Italians would have to supply, and fire off much ammunition that would not hit anybody in particular.

If real war came, Mussolini, like others, would rely on his air fleet, rather than send two million men to be gassed from the air.

The next war, if we must have it, will be a bombing, gas-poisoning competition. A few million civilians killed in the first week, which is not improbable, might do more than any amount of talk to bring the 20 years' peace.

President Roosevelt is "advised by his highest naval and military advisers" that "no immediate war is likely."

That must comfort the President, knowing as he does that this nation is absolutely unprepared for war, with an air force that the British air minister somewhat "top-loftily" but accurately describes as negligible.

The Senate, tired out, and like the rest of the government, anxious to begin the spending, passes the biggest appropriation bill ever passed on earth, four thousand four hundred and eighty million dollars. The suggestion that four thousand millions be printed in new money to avoid interest charges, was rejected indignantly. Bonds will be issued for the four billions and the taxpayers, on final settlement plus interest, will pay eight thousand million dollars, instead of four thousand millions, that they would pay if the money had been printed. But that would have been "inflation." An amendment to the bill permitting one billion of new "inflation" money will doubtless be eliminated.

Clarence Darrow, able criminal lawyer, earnest, and sincere, thinks we ought to have free trade. He would change his mind if Japanese criminal lawyers could imitate Darrow as well as they can imitate our American workmen. Darrow saved and defend Leopold and Loeb, for $250 instead of the amount paid to Mr. Darrow for saving the lives of the horrible young murderers.

Darrow is more like himself in describing some of our new fangled methods of "distribution" that do not distribute.

"We are paying people not to work, not to produce, in order to produce a scarcity so we can get wealthy because we are poor."

Mrs. Isabella Greenway, representing Arizona in Congress, celebrates her 49th birthday, having as principal guest her only grandchild, a small baby.

Young and good looking as

Continued on Page 3, Column 7

QUINTUPLET KIDNAP PLOT

THE WEATHER

Probably rain late tonight or Tuesday, possibly with snow; lowest temperature tonight near 32 degrees; moderate northeast and east winds.

High tides at 2:07 a. m.; 2:42 p. m.
Sun rises at 5:49; sets at 6:01.
Light all vehicles at 6:31 p. m.

8 A. M. TEMPERATURES

BOSTON	33	Los Angeles	44
Washington	48	San Francisco	48
New York	44	Seattle	38
Atlanta	64	Chicago	32

(Full Report on Page 17)

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

NEW ENGLAND'S GREATEST EVENING NEWSPAPER

VOL. 32—No. 4 | Published Daily Except Sundays and Holidays by the I. E. Newspaper Pub. Co. Entered as 2d Class Matter at Boston P. O. | BOSTON, MONDAY, MARCH 25, 1935 2 CENTS | ZONE PRICE 3 CENTS

7 P. M. SPORTS MARKETS

Man Admits Bank Theft to Save 2 Who Died

HITLER'S NAVAL DEMANDS

KIDNAP Guard Over QUINS

PLOT TO FLY 5 TO U. S. BARED

By Associated Press

Toronto, March 25—The Ontario Provincial government was understood today to have ordered a police guard stationed at the Dafoe Hospital near Callander day and night to foil an alleged plot to kidnap the Dionne quintuplets.

A rumor circulated through provincial governmental quarters that a plot had been uncovered to use an automobile and an airplane in order to get the five babies across the frontier into the United States.

The babies, by law, now are "special wards of His Majesty the King," and their control is in the hands of the Ontario government.

It was rumored that the kidnapping plan had called for a 150-mile automobile trip to Sault Ste. Marie, on the Michigan-Ontario border, where an airplane was to have been waiting.

The babies, it was said, were to have been placed in the plane at night and carried out of the Dominion.

NEW Grand National SCRATCHES

By International News Service

Liverpool, Eng., March 25—With 11 new scratches and only one added starter, the field in the historic Grand National Steeplechase was reduced today as public interest in the event was manifested by heavy betting.

The scratches included an American entry, B. H. Whitney's Double Crossed, but in its place he nominated Royal Ransom.

The other eliminations included Noiseau, Avenger, Remus, Drintyre, Prince Madoc, Alpine Mist, Alarmist, Buck Willow, Francolini and Kiltoi.

SIX SEIZED As Cuban Pickets

More than 1000 office workers, out for lunch, saw five men and a girl arrested at noon today while picketing and carrying placards in front of the Cuban consulate, 40 Central street.

Those arrested were Mary Murray, 22, of Poplar place, West End; Otis Hood, 40, of Rockland street, Abington; Robert Burgess, 20, and Daniel Riccardi, 22, both of Gordon street, Cambridge; Solomon Motzkin, 18, of Granville avenue, Malden, and Richard Callahan, 20, of Chambers street, West End.

Millions in Fake Auto Claims

This is the first of a series exposing false accident and injury claims that Registrar Frank A. Goodwin estimates number 20,000 annually, resulting in yearly losses of $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 and increasing compulsory auto insurance rates 20 to 25 per cent.

Two youngsters engaged in a street fight in East Boston.

The result was two black eyes and a bloody nose for one boy —and an increase in compulsory auto insurance rates for owners of 946,320 motor vehicles registered in Massachusetts.

It sounds not only incongruous but weirdly impossible, but it is a fact of official record.

The case that began as a street fight ended as a settled claim under the compulsory insurance law —one of a reported 20,000 annual false claims that are raising the rates every year.

For purposes of the story the boy may be called Johnny. His real name is in the insurance records.

The date was October 1 last.

Johnny was 12 and naturally pugnacious. He had been having a bit of a neighborhood tiff with

Continued on Page 4, Column 1

Tragedy Ends Boy's Search

Finds His Father Hanged in Attic

All through the week-end, George Secord, 15, had been seeking his father, who disappeared on Saturday.

The father was all that George and his sister Doris, 12, had left since the death of their mother two months ago.

Today George thought of notifying police, but before reporting the disappearance he went to the attic of the Cambridge house in River street to see if his father had taken away any spare clothing.

In his little sister, George was compelled to break the news a short time later.

The body of their father was hanging there. They were orphans.

The father, Kenneth Secord, 40, was an automobile mechanic.

George and his sister Doris told police their father had been despondent since the mother's death.

Tropical Selections

For Tuesday, March 26
By DAVE WILSON

1—Red Ensign, Dark Vive, Be Shy.
2—Flight of Gold, Chicle Ship, Dandy Jay.
3—Judge Schilling, Knight's Hope, Squeeze Out.
4—Tremont Lady, Playful Tour, Two Edged.
5—Danish Fear, Recovery, Chatuga.
6—Chief A., Merovich, Alkali.
7—Kibitzer, Cabachon, Sleepy Joe.
BEST—Red Ensign, First Race.

ADMITS $5204 Bank THEFTS

STOLE TO AID DYING, HE SAYS

Discovery of a $5204 shortage in a Dorchester bank today resulted in the arrest of an employe and what police called "a tragic confession."

The Lower Mills Co-operative Bank on Washington street, Dorchester, was the institution.

Alfred J. Rollins, 38, of Cypress street, East Milton, was the arrested employe.

The confession, police said, was this:

That he became a thief to obtain money for medical and hospital treatment for a wife and child—both of whom died.

Rollins has three living children.

He told police his wife died March 2 from lung cancer after funds he stole provided medical treatment for her and for her care at two hospitals.

He told them a daughter, Barbara, died last May after undergoing 19 operations for cancer of the brain.

Police said Rollins told them his bank salary was $900 a year. The bank employed him for four years.

He said he covered up the defalcation by transferring money from an insurance company fund he kept in the bank.

Rollins was held on suspicion of larceny.

WELLESLEY MAN Killed in Crash

Benjamin Proctor, 3d, 27, son of a Boston architect, was killed today in a head-on collision of two automobiles at Fort Lee, N. J.

His father has offices at 173 Milk street and lives on Intervale road, Wellesley.

His car was in collision with one operated by Miss Florence Johansen of Fort Lee, who was only slightly injured. Miss Johansen was held in $1000 bail on a technical manslaughter charge.

Today's American

AMUSEMENTS	16
AUSTEN LAKE	11
BRIDGE (Mrs. Culbertson)	6
CLASSIFIED ADVTS.	19
COMICS	14, 15
CROSSWORD PUZZLE	15
EDITORIAL	20
EDWIN C. HILL	20
ELSIE ROBINSON	20
FASHIONS	8
FIN'ANCIAL	17, 18
FLOYD GIBBONS	14
GIVEN IN MARRIAGE	9
HEAVEN HIGH — HELL DEEP	6
HENDRIK VAN LOON	20
HIGH SCHOOL TRAGEDY	9
JOE PALOOKA	12
JUNIOR BIRDMEN	17
LOUELLA PARSONS	16
MARTHA LEE	8
O. O. McINTYRE	20
RADIO PROGRAMS	13
ROGERS—"THIS IS LIFE"	10
SEEIN' STARS	17
SOCIETY	7
SPORTS	11, 12, 13

'Feathered Fire Alarm'

Just a feathered fire alarm, that's Jack, the parrot. His shrieking almost raised the roof today during a fire in a bedroom at 219 Commonwealth avenue, Newton. When Mrs. Vera M. Wood and her daughter, Countessa, who is holding Jack, came home, they heard the parrot's cries, discovered the blaze and awakened other occupants of the building. (Picture by Boston Evening American Staff Photographer.) Story on Page 2.

172 IN EVERETT SHOW RAID FREED

Eight men and one girl were given suspended sentences today in Malden court as participants in the raided Everett "girl show."

The other 172 of the 181 persons arraigned on charges of participating in an immoral show were discharged, although some were performers.

Judge Maurice R. Flynn, in discharging these 172, declared that the performers included in the group, as well as the spectators, apparently did not know what was to make up the show.

The acts were booked individually, he said, and none of the acts knew what the others were until the entertainment began.

A highlight of the court trial was admission by a state trooper that a long sheet of typewritten evidence which he brought to court was prepared in the office of City Solicitor W. Henry Finnegan in Boston, with Joseph Fisher, secretary to Mayor James A. Rocke of Everett, present.

Fisher helped prepare it, said the trooper, John Collins.

The nine found guilty were sentenced to two months in the House of Correction and were placed on probation until December 16.

They were Helen Eliff of Boston, declared to have been a performer; John M. Quarelino, retired Everett policeman, alleged to have been a ticket taker; Timothy Duggan, the alleged master of ceremonies; Harold Freedman, a pianist.

William McPhee, Arthur Browe, Cecil Cate, Charles F. McLaughlin and George L. Dunbar, declared to have been ushers.

All the men gave addresses in Everett.

Millions in Fake Auto Claims

This is the first of a series exposing false accident and injury claims that Registrar Frank A. Goodwin estimates number 20,000 annually, resulting in yearly losses of $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 and increasing compulsory auto insurance rates 20 to 25 per cent.

Two youngsters engaged in a street fight in East Boston.

The result was two black eyes and a bloody nose for one boy —and an increase in compulsory auto insurance rates for owners of 946,320 motor vehicles registered in Massachusetts.

It sounds not only incongruous but weirdly impossible, but it is a fact of official record.

The case that began as a street fight ended as a settled claim under the compulsory insurance law —one of a reported 20,000 annual false claims that are raising the rates every year.

For purposes of the story the boy may be called Johnny. His real name is in the insurance records.

The date was October 1 last.

Johnny was 12 and naturally pugnacious. He had been having a bit of a neighborhood tiff with

Continued on Page 4, Column 1

INSISTS ON BIG ARMY AND AIR FLEET ALSO TO CHECK SOVIETS

WARNING TO BOLSHEVISTS

BERLIN—Reichsfuehrer Hitler of Germany, in conference with British envoys, insists Germany needs big army, naval and air forces to defend western Europe from Russian Bolshevism.

GENEVA—The League of Nations called a special council session for April 15 to discuss France's appeal against Germany.

PARIS—By overwhelming vote, Chamber of Deputies passes special billion-franc appropriation to strengthen France's marine defenses.

LONDON—Britain awaits tensely for results from Berlin parley, which may mean peace or war.

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

Berlin, March 25—The Soviet Russian "menace" to Germany and the threat of a new naval building race in Europe today dominated six hours of conferences between Chancellor Adolf Hitler and Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon of Britain.

Hitler, it was learned, virtually monopolized the conversation, while Sir John merely injected an occasional question or explanation.

The proposed Eastern Locarno pact was the great issue against which Hitler unloosed his verbal barrage.

He declared that Germany's preparedness was to defend herself against the possibility of a Red invasion by Soviet Russia.

He insisted that Germany needs an adequate navy as well as a large army and an expansive air fleet to control the Baltic and to defend Western European civilization from Russian Bolshevist attack.

It is understood Hitler told Simon that Nazi Germany had already saved Europe from Bolshevism.

It was eight hours after the meeting began before the session, which had included a two-hour lunch, ended. The statesmen will confer again tomorrow.

The conference took place in Hitler's official study in the chancellory building.

Hitler talked, it was said, as if Germany's regenerated army was an accomplished fact, not to be changed by the present negotiations.

He turned the tables on the British at the outset by bringing up the question of Austrian sovereignty.

He said it was no longer a question of Germany guaranteeing Austria's independence but of examining her present independence "under the present dominance of certain powers."

Naval Race Threat

The threat of a European naval building race stalked into the discussions with word of the action by the French Chamber of Deputies in voting a special 1000 million franc appropriation to strengthen France's sea defenses.

Hitler is reported to have called

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

CURLEY Moves to Speed RACE LICENSES

Governor Curley announced today that he would confer with members of the racing commission tomorrow or Wednesday to speed up granting of horse track licenses.

"Something must be done soon if Massachusetts is going to have any racing this year," he said.

BALANCES AND RECEIPTS

Washington, March 25—Today's treasury balance, $2,330,729,376; U. S. customs receipts, $23,368,192.

Malden Man Tells Floyd Gibbons CCC Adventure--See Page 14

HITLER SERVES NEW NAZI DEMANDS ON SIMON

Continued from First Page

Simon's attention to Germany's heavily-armed neighbors as indicating her need for equality in military forces.

One source declared Hitler particularly alluded to Premier Mussolini's week-end call for increased conscription and branded as "ironic" France's actions in citing Germany before the League of Nations on charges of violating the Versailles Treaty.

"Peace Or War" Result Seen in Berlin Parley

By H. R. Knickerbocker

International News Service Staff Correspondent

(Copyright, 1935, by International News Service. Reproduction in whole or part strictly prohibited.)

London, March 25—Behind closed doors, two men talked today in Berlin and 400,000,000 Europeans waited tensely for results which may mean peace or war.

As Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon of Britain came face to face with Reichsfuehrer Hitler for the first time, Europe agreed it was the most momentous meeting since the Germans put under the treaty of Versailles the signature which they have now repudiated.

This was almost the only point on which Europe agreed on this "most grave day in history," as James Louis Garvin, editor of the London Sunday Observer, calls it.

Three little bright points appeared at the last minute on the gloomy horizon.

Hungary announced she did not at this moment intend to follow Germany's example and rearm openly, which would have meant war in the Balkans.

Rumania denied a report she was mobilizing.

Foreign Minister Koki Hirota of Japan announced there were no negotiations for a Japanese-German alliance but that Germany had declared she would never demand return of her Pacific island colonies, mandated to Japan.

On the other hand, dark clouds rolled up on Germany's north and southeastern borders. From Vienna, Special Envoy Franz Von Papen hastened to Berlin and it is believed he came to tell Hitler the time is ripe to demand a plebiscite to give the Nazis there a chance.

Against such a demand Mussolini's army, a million strong, is flocking now to the colors and one of Simon's hardest tasks will be to find a way to keep the bayonets of Italy's dictator from clashing with those of Germany's.

At the same time, in a corner of tiny Lithuania is a smoldering spark more immediately threatening to Europe's powder barrel than any other.

There the German majority in the town of Memel is clamoring for a return to Germany and a verdict is awaited from Kovno in the court-martial of 123 Nazis for a conspiracy to effect a "putsch" against Lithuanian rule.

The Lithuanian prosecutors asked death for five Germans accused of murdering a member of their secret society who had turned traitor.

If the court decrees death or confirms any of the long-term prison sentences asked against prominent Nazis, public feeling in German will flame.

But Memel is Lithuania's only port and she declares she will fight to the last man of her two million population to hold it.

She has ordered arms from the Soviet Union and just as Italy's army stands menacingly behind Austria, so the vast red army lies separated only by a narrow strip of Polish territory from Lithuania, which Moscow wants to support against its arch-enemy, Berlin.

Against this explosive background Simon and Hitler are now "exploring" each other's minds. Simon knows that Hitler's maximum program is:

First, complete military equality. Having seized it, Germany will never abandon it.

Second, increase of her navy to possibly 400,000 tons, four times the present German navy, about one-third the British or approximately the same as the French.

This demand would be grounded on the necessity of protection against the soviet fleet, which, however, is only a fraction of the present German fleet.

Third, return of the former German colonies, the most important being Tanganyika, under British, and German Southwest Africa, under union of South Africa mandate.

Fourth, return of German sovereignty over traffic on the Rivers Oder, Weser and Rhine, which the Treaty of Versailles put under international control.

Fifth, a plebiscite in Memel.

Sixth, a plebiscite in Austria.

For Britain

SIR JOHN SIMON

Destiny of Europe Is Up to---

By the Associated Press

Rare power to affect the course of history was centered today in two Englishmen and two Germans holding conversations regarded as auguring much for future peace or strife in Europe. The quartet was composed of the following:

SIR JOHN SIMON—British foreign secretary, a lawyer, a logician. Diligent disciple of the cause of international tranquility, he has repeatedly stated the hopes he holds that the current negotiations will do much to effect a spirit of good will among the nations of Europe.

At 61 years of age, tall, round shouldered, a fringe of grey hair surrounding a bald pate, Sir John has been thrust into the political limelight as leader of the Liberal Party only recently after a distinguished career at the bar.

ADOLF HITLER—Germany's colorful Reichsfuehrer, an Austrian by birth and former carpenter, decorator, draughtsman, architect and soldier. A skillful politician, he has succeeded in evoking torrents of enthusiasm from a people plunged into despair by the bitter aftermaths of the World War.

Der Fuehrer is 45 years old and a bachelor. One of the world's youngest government leaders, he wields an authority such as few others possess.

CAPT. ANTHONY EDEN—British Lord Privy Seal, widely regarded as destined to become the next foreign secretary. A long list of brilliant achievements at Geneva and other conclaves of statesmen have marked the progress of his military career, still comparatively in its infancy. Eden is 36, the youngest of Britain's trio of conferees.

BARON KONSTANTIN VON NEURATH—Reich foreign minister, like Eden an outstanding "career man." Entering the Kaiser's foreign service in 1903, he has today, at 63, won himself an enviable reputation for salvaging good will from the wreckage of Germany's post-war foreign relations.

For Germany

ADOLF HITLER

Japan Waits

By International News Service

Tokio, March 25—Japan would accept an invitation to join a conference of Versailles Treaty signatories to consider Germany's conscription decree, Undersecretary for Foreign Affairs Shigemitzu informed the British ambassador today.

He added that Japan was closely following European developments.

ERA Man Slashed

A knife was drawn in a quarrel on an ERA project on Victory road, Dorchester, today. Augustin McGregor of Waltham street, South End, was slashed on the face.

France to Aid Austria And Hungary in Treaty

By Associated Press

Geneva, March 25—Political circles here said today they had heard France had practically assured Austria and Hungary that the latter two nations would benefit from any modification of Versailles Treaty military clauses envisaged for Germany.

Hungarians here said there was a growing sentiment in Hungary favoring union with Germany unless the Little Entente—Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia and Rumania—accepted some territorial adjustments and the creation of a Danubian confederation based on economic freedom and political equality.

It is expected in Geneva that both Hungary and Austria will follow Germany's lead in proclaiming compulsory military service.

Austrian quarters indicated a desire for a military force of about 40,000 immediately, with the right to increase the size of its army and reduce the number of police, saying the latter are found unsatisfactory.

Compulsory military service would make the Hungarian and Austrian armies about 15 per cent of the population of those countries.

It would swell Europe's forces under arms, which, without the additions of Hungary and Austria, but including Russia, will be almost 1,000,000 larger this year than in 1934.

League Calls Council to Hear French Appeal

Geneva, March 25 (AP) — The League of Nations today officially convoked its council for Monday, April 15, to discuss France's appeal against Germany.

PARROT Gives Alarm AT FIRE

He wasn't actually crying "fire" but he was doing his level best to let folks know all was not well and something should be done about it.

He is Jack, the pet parrot of Mrs. Vera M. Wood and her daughter, Countessa, of 219 Commonwealth avenue, Newton.

Mrs. Wood and her daughter returned home from visiting friends early today and even before they smelled the smoke, they heard Jack spreading the alarm at the top of his voice.

In their apartment, they found the bedroom ablaze. Snatching the screaming Jack, they went through the 30-family apartment to arouse other occupants. More than 40 persons fled in their nightclothes.

It was the second fire in the apartment within a month. Both blazes were blamed on defective wiring. Loss was estimated at $1000.

"SICK KITTEN" Defendant to Sue

New York, March 25—Gladys George, Broadway stage star and defendant in the "sick kitten" divorce suit, will file a counter-claim for divorce against her husband, Edward Fowler, an actor, she revealed today.

Miss George, accused by her husband of having a man in her room, answered he was "just helping adjust the bandages on my kitten, who was convalescing after an operation."

No mention is made of the kitten in the counter-claim.

Bones Solution

Leominster, March 25 (AP)—A skeleton found here Friday was believed by police today to be that of James McHugh, former resident who has been missing for seven years.

FRENCH Start Navy RACE

VOTE BILLION FOR 3 SHIPS

By International News Service

Paris, March 25—America's and Japan's naval increases were brought into the arms picture along with Germany's conscription today as the Chamber of Deputies voted a special billion-franc increase in the marine appropriation by 453 to 125.

The program calls for a new treaty-limit first-line battleship of 35,000 tons to cost 785,000,000 francs; two destroyers totaling 3400 tons to cost 148,000,000 francs, and 132,000,000 francs to equip the new units.

The total outlay is to be 1,065,000,000 francs, or about $70,290,000.

Emphasizing foreign naval construction, Pierre Appell put particular stress on Germany's acceleration of her new 10,000-ton "pocket battleship" construction program as he presented the supplementary naval estimates to the Chamber.

Plans are almost completed for construction of bombproof shelters and "other protection from aerial bombardment," Senator Marcel Regnier, minister of the interior, told the chamber this evening.

Pressed for details, Regnier said he could not divulge what he termed a "military secret."

Several deputies demanded the government warn the populace against certain defective gas masks now being sold.

FLOWER Show Opens With CURLEY TALK

Mechanics building was transformed into a huge garden for the opening of the annual spring flower show of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society today.

Governor Curley was the guest of honor at the opening day—known as Massachusetts Day—and was to speak over the radio.

Gardens characteristic of all parts of the world are included.

One of the exhibits, called the Governors' Garden, was set by Isabella Stewart Gardneu Museum in honor of the six New England Governors.

In addition, there is an avenue of roses, a hall devoted to carnations, and naturalistic gardens.

Garden clubs from all parts of New England have large exhibits and different hostesses from the clubs will be on duty each day.

Mrs. John H. Cunningham of the Chestnut Hill Garden Club is chairman of the committee in charge.

Mussolini Ready to Sit In at 4-Power Parley

Rome, March 25 — Although Italy has mobilized her military class of 1911 in the interests of maintaining European stability, she still is willing, official circles said today, to participate in diplomatic negotiations with France, England and Germany provided Germany agrees.

Government sources expressed the opinion the mobilization, instead of closing the avenue to diplomatic discussion, rendered such negotiations more effective.

This thought was echoed by a large section of the Italian press.

"We firmly believe," said La Gazetta Del Popolo of Turin, "an accord will more probably be reached in view of the fact we are now able to prevent any surprise stroke. Our military preparations does not prevent negotiations. We are persuaded they will facilitate them."

The mobilization orders summoned approximately 200,000 men to the colors. It was considered likely that after their concentration, the troops would be moved to northern cities adjacent to the frontier.

TODAY

By Arthur Brisbane

Continued from First Page

ever, "Congressman" Greenway will not worry, as some women do, about the "approaching fifties." The 50th birthday is the beginning of the best period in a woman's life, the period of highest intelligence and charm, lasting from 50 to 80, and longer. Wise Providence postpones full development of woman's intellect until after 50 because, until that age, she should not concentrate too seriously on anything except the production of good children.

The German Lufthansa Air Company, with perfected Diesel engines for airplanes, has already constructed giant planes that travel 135 miles an hour with oil fuel. This means low cost flying from the Atlantic to the Pacific, $10 a passenger or less, when really big planes are built. It also means more trouble if war comes.

NO WAR Soon in Europe, SAYS BORAH

Washington, March 25—Senator Borah, who specializes in international affairs, predicted today there will be no European war within the near future.

The Idahoan, who was for years Republican chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, forecast that even if there were a war America would keep out.

In an interview with the Associated Press, Borah suggested that the re-arming of Germany might, instead of bringing war, lead to a peaceful Europe.

The interview follows in question and answer form:

Q—"Does Germany's re-arming mean a war in the near future?"

A—"I have a very strong conviction there is not going to be any war in Europe within a reasonable time."

"The Versailles Treaty had already been disregarded by the other nations, its military clauses disregarded, and other conditions were developing that made it inevitable Germany should renounce it. Nobody knows this better than Great Britain, and Great Britain holds the key to the situation.

"Furthermore, neither Italy nor France desires war."

Q—"What are the probabilities of America's being drawn into the war, if there should be one?"

A—"I do not anticipate we are going to be involved in this controversy. We should, and I have no doubt we will, make every effort to abstain from participation. I do not feel nearly as much troubled about the European situation as the situation in the United States. This is where our problem is and the farther we keep away from Europe the better for our people.

"We are still suffering from one visit to Europe and I trust we shall never make another."

CONGRESS To Speed Big NAVY BILLS

By Associated Press

Washington, March 25—Placing a stronger navy high on the list of "must" legislation, the House today pointed three of the major naval bills of the session toward passage. Most representatives believed they would almost certainly be passed Wednesday.

These measures seek to build up Pacific naval bases and to supply enough officers and aviators for a fleet and air force being lifted rapidly toward the maximum power allowed by international arms agreements. All three carry an administration stamp.

The bills seemed likely to be sandwiched between House consideration Thursday of a bill to prevent wartime profiteering and approval by the military committee Tuesday of a measure that would create powerful air bases to guard the nation's frontiers.

POLAND Protest Stirs GERMANY

By Associated Press

Berlin, March 25—The German foreign office and the Polish embassy today presented divergent views as to a visit to the Wilhelmstrasse made Saturday by Ambassador Joseph Lipski of Poland.

The Polish embassy characterized Lipski's visit as friendly, oral protest against German rearmament.

The German foreign office quickly issued a statement that the ambassador merely came to talk over the international situation and that "the assertion of a protest by the Polish government, reported in the foreign press, was completely unfounded."

Diplomatic quarters said Poland evidently feels none too sanguine over the turn of international events.

The same sources said the mere fact that Poland took this stand at all will probably be calculated to show Reichsfuehrer Hitler that even the nation with which Germany is on the best terms of all the great powers must be assured no aggressive desires animated Germany in breaking the military clauses of the Versailles Treaty.

6-YEAR-OLD Arrest Duplicated

Six years ago, George Mortimer, 43, of Baldwin street, Lynn, was arrested by Patrolman Frank Beaom, charged with hurling a stone through a jewelry store window and stealing jewels on Munroe street, Lynn.

Early today Mortimer was taken by the same policeman, at the same store, for the same offense.

Mortimer served five years and a day for the previous break.

Study in Black and White

White tulips—and a dark haired girl admire! Just one of hundreds of striking pictures at the annual spring flower show of the Massachusetts Horticultural society, opening today in Mechanics Building. These giant blossoms are an exhibit furnished by the Wayland Garden Club. The young woman is Dorothy Woods of Dorchester. (Picture by Boston Evening American Staff Photographer.)

Bargain and Weather News—Station WHDH—7:30 to 8 A. M.

Filene's Automatic Bargain BASEMENT for MEN AIR CONDITIONED

This concern makes it a point to keep only the newest up-to-date clothing in its fine stores—we bought their surplus—just arrived—TUESDAY

Specialty shops' surplus MEN'S SUITS

SIZES
REGULARS 34 to 44
SHORTS 34 to 42
LONGS 37 to 42
STOUTS 38 to 46
in lot

$21.75 part no. Sale TUESDAY

OUR PLAN: Every price goes to less . . . we have through auto matic reductions — 25% after 17 selling days; 50% after 18 selling days; 75% after 24 selling days. Goods given away to charitable institutions after 30 selling days.

80% made from imported fabrics at $21.75
MEN'S SPECIALTY SHOP fine sharkskin, $21.75
MEN'S SPECIALTY SHOP exclusive worsted suits $21.75
MEN'S SPECIALTY SHOP soft cassimere suits, $21.75
MEN'S SPECIALTY SHOP plain or striped flannel suits, $21.75
MEN'S SPECIALTY SHOP conservative worsted suits, $21.75
MEN'S SPECIALTY SHOP semi-drape suits, $21.75
MEN'S SPECIALTY SHOP tweeds, checks, neat stripes, $21.75
MEN'S SPECIALTY SHOP college men's suits, $21.75
MEN'S SPECIALTY SHOP hand loomed Harris tweed suits (limited lot) $21.75

HUNDREDS OF OTHER BARGAIN LOTS NOT ADVERTISED—NO MAIL ORDERS

Spring FLOWER SHOW
A Gorgeous Display of Nature's Floral Masterpieces
Mechanics Bldg.
OPENS TODAY 8 A.M. to 10 P.M.
ALL THIS WEEK 9 A.M. to 10 P.M.
Admission $1.00
MASSACHUSETTS HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY

PHONE NEWS TIPS TO THE BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN—WIN $50 WEEKLY

Do you want to make some money for being alert? If so, the Boston Evening American and the Sunday Advertiser are presenting the opportunity. Every week a total of $50 in prizes will be given for news tips telephoned in to the News Tip Editor at Liberty 4000. There will be given $25 weekly for the best first exclusive news tip received, $10 for the next best, $5 for the next best and $1 prizes for each of the 10 next most valuable tips. A news tip is the information that something of interest has occurred.

Dust's Toll

NOON IN KANSAS DUST STORM AREA

100-Year Damage

By Associated Press

Kansas City, March 25—Southwestern drouth damage, embraced in abandoned homes, half-starved herds and dust-smothered crops, ran high in the millions today as weather-beaten farmers prayed for a general rain to check the ravages of sun and wind.

"Many millions of dollars," was the nearest authorities would come to estimating the losses.

However, Hubert L. Collins, Denver statistician for the United States Department of Agriculture, said thousands of acres of Southeastern Colorado land would be useless in farming and grazing for 100 years or more, and other crop experts pointed to the dust toll in the blowing wheat fields.

Collins predicted, on the basis of the present outlook, "the most complete crop failure in the history of the western plains region."

He said he referred to eastern Colorado and Wyoming; western Kansas and Nebraska, and the Texas and Oklahoma Panhandle sections.

As the "black blizzard" continued, farmers, beaten by the prolonged storms after four years of drouth, began an exodus from the Colorado counties of Baca, Bent and Prowers and others planned to move their cattle.

Hits Wheat Crop

Oklahoma crop authorities said wheat would approximate 50 per cent of normal, with the figure subject to wide variation in the event of more rain or more dust.

Crop damage in Texas was said to be negligible compared to the loss of valuable soil.

F. K. Reed, Federal statistician, said two weeks of dust storms had greatly dimmed wheat prospects in western Kansas. He estimated the crop, which last year ran about 12 million bushels, was 35 per cent of normal.

Kenneth Welch, who as relief administrator, has had nearly three-fourths of the Baca County, Colo., population to provide for in the past year, expressed a belief that soil erosion control is the only possible means by which the section can be made habitable again.

The problem of maintaining the required for such control remains unsolved.

Dust covered feed is a menace to the health of farm animals. In some sections cattle have refused to eat what green feed they can find because of the dirt and sand.

While Colorado physicians expressed the belief that "dust pneumonia," caused by irritation of the lungs, no longer is an immediate danger, they have added that unless the atmosphere clears, public health will be imperilled.

To determine whether the dust has been an actual or a contributory cause in the deaths of six persons near Springfield, Colo., during the storm period, prompted the Colorado board of health to send planes up to take cultures up to two-mile altitudes.

Damage to gasoline engines, especially those of motor cars, cannot be estimated. Garagemen report a flourishing business in some sections.

Robert Israel, Wichita, Kan., insurance man, said many claims have come in for such damages, but underwriters are undecided where to place the liability.

Fine sand filters into the motors in such quantities, Israel said, that after a few hours of driving pistons, piston rings, cylinder walls and bearings are badly scored.

Dust storms howled again yesterday over southwestern Kansas and northwestern Oklahoma, as well as eastern Colorado.

Rain fell Saturday night in the Oklahoma panhandle, but it failed to keep the soil from blowing.

FRANKLIN SAVINGS BANK
6 Park Sq., Boston
Interest Begins April 1

SOCIAL WorkerFound DYING

WOMAN KIN TO JUDGE BROWN

New Bedford, March 25—Miss Ruth Wells, 46, Boston social worker assigned to New Bedford, was found near death today in the gas-filled basement of the Welfare Society building.

The woman, a cousin of Superior Court Judge Nelson P. Brown and an agent for the Massachusetts Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children, is in a critical condition in St. Luke's Hospital, and may die.

Bigelow Friend

According to police, she had been reported at midnight as missing since 5 p. m. yesterday from her address in Hawthorne street.

Associates told police that she had long been brooding over the disappearance of Dr. George H. Bigelow, whose body was found in a Framingham reservoir on Saturday night.

Through her social service work, Miss Wells had long been in professional association with Dr. Bigelow, former state health commissioner, her associates declared.

She has been on leave of absence from her work since December, a short time after the doctor's disappearance, and has been under the care of a physician, police were told.

Eight hours after this report, two student nurses from St Luke's Hospital entered the welfare society building to begin a tour of district nursing.

They smelled gas and traced it to the basement. On the floor they found Miss Wells, unconscious, her head on a pillow, they told police.

Gas was flowing from a heater near her head.

Miss Wells was graduated from Byrn Mawr in 1911 and afterward taught at the college. Later she returned to Boston and taught at Miss May's exclusive school in the Back Bay.

Helen Starts Comeback

Maybe it's true that they never come back! But Helen Wills Moody, if you want to know, has "never really been away." And now she's fast getting into physical shape for a tennis demonstration which will give present women champions a lot to think about, she promises. Her mascot, the dog, is with her at her first appearance of the season at the California Tennis Club, San Francisco. (Picture from International News Photograph Service.)

One—Plus Two—Equals Triplets After All!

After having given birth to a four-pound baby girl, Mrs. John Ondich of Sharon, Pa., remained in a condition which puzzled doctors. Examination by X-Ray showed that two more children were soon to be born. Twin boys came along 36 hours later. One of them seems pretty cross, at the moment, perhaps because his sister, who has one side of the bed to herself, is a whole day and a half his senior. All three, however, are fine and healthy and doing well, according to doctors. (Picture from International News Photograph Service.)

Spring? Of Course

Taunton Proves It by First Herring

Taunton, March 25—The robin, the bluebird and the unfolding crocus may be nature's harbingers of spring elsewhere in the land, but here—oh, here—it is the herring.

When the herring threads his silver way up the Taunton river through the flood waters seeking the pond wherein he will press his suit with the female of the species, why then—and only then—it is spring in Taunton.

Well, this is to say the first herring has been fished from the river and it is spring in Taunton and there will be gnashing of teeth and envy and jealousy at those other herring runs in Pembroke, Weymouth, Needham, Wareham and wet stations were the herring is still awaited.

'AMERICAN Tragedy' Killer MUST DIE

By Associated Press

Pittsburgh, March 25—The State Supreme Court today affirmed the conviction of Robert Allen Edwards, under sentence of death for the "American Tragedy" slaying of Freda McKechnie.

Edwards was convicted last October in Wilkes-Barre.

His appeal was taken on the ground a juror, John Luft, had pre-judged the case, and decided his punishment.

The defendant contended Luft was heard to make a statement in which he threatened to "Burn" him.

Edwards, a young mine surveyor, was charged with hitting Miss McKechnie, his friend and neighbor, on the head with a blackjack while they were bathing in Harvey's lake on July 20 and leaving her body in the lake.

Examination disclosed Miss McKechnie, who was 27, was an expectant mother, and the state accused Edwards of slaying her so that he might be free to marry his college sweetheart, Margaret Crain, music teacher of East Aurora, N. Y.

FISHER DROWNS When Dory Upsets

James Muleahy, 34, of Roxbury, was drowned off Brown's bank when rough seas capsized a dory in which he and another Boston fisherman were hauling in trawling nets.

NEW APPEAL To Free Mooney

San Francisco, March 25 (INS)—A new appeal for the freedom of Tom Mooney, California's famed prisoner, will be filed sometime in April, George T. Davis, one of his attorneys, announced today.

50-Year Jail Term

White Plains, N. Y., March 25 (AP)—Lawrence Stone, 24, descendant of a pioneer Connecticut family, today pleaded guilty in the second degree to the murder of Nancy Jean Costigan, five, at Mount Vernon last October, and was sentenced to 50 years in prison.

BARBARA'S PRINCE COST 3 MILLIONS

PRINCESS BARBARA HUTTON MDIVANI

New York, March 25—The Mdivanis—the handsome, ardent Georgian princes who marry America's wealthiest heiresses—glittered in a new spotlight when it was reported here that the former Barbara Hutton, now on the high seas bound for home and Reno, had paid three million dollars to Prince Alexis at the time of their short-lived marriage.

The highest figure estimated before as settled on any of the Mdivanis was a million dollars—supposedly the amount Alexis got. But the new estimate fits in more closely with statements that Barbara's Woolworth millions had dwindled greatly since her marriage.

The Mdivanis are luxuries and other girls could have told Barbara that before they were married 29 months ago. Louise Van Alen, another heiress, knew all about it, for she was married to Alexis before Globo.

...nd Pola Negri, film star, and Mary McCormic, singer, could have told her it ran in the family, for they were married to Serge Mdivani. Mae Murray, film star, could have told her about the third of the Mdivanis—for she was once the wife of Prince David.

Some of these former princesses declare those who marry the Mdivanis live happily. "Ardent wooers, but poor husbands," is the way they refer to their former princes.

Prince Alexis's romance with Miss Van Alen wasn't so different from his romance with Barbara Hutton. At Cambridge he met Miss Van Alen's brothers, and when he came to America they were introduced. Mrs. Van Alen opposed the marriage, but Louise was determined. They married in Newport in May, 1931, and were divorced in 1932.

Alexis got a string of polo ponies from Miss Van Alen, and he got another from Barbara when, in June, 1933, he married her. Louise is jokingly referred to as his "polo widow."

Aboard S. S. Bremen, March 25—Barbara Hutton Mdivani was catching up on rest today in preparation for what she fears will be one of the most trying experiences of her life, her arrival in New York as an avowed divorce aspirant.

She was still in bed this afternoon, apparently sleeping most of the time, as she refused breakfast and had not issued any orders for food all day.

Under wirelessed orders from her New York attorney to make no more statements, she let it be understood she will try to avoid making any statements, written or oral, when she reaches New York.

Sugar Bowls Fly in Cafe

4 Police Finally Take Burglar Suspect

Sugar bowls were ammunition and overturned tables were barricades during a battle between four policemen and an alleged burglar in a Roslindale restaurant early today.

Polas Stratics, 40, of Compton street, South End, was finally subdued in the Washington Spa at 4254 Washington street and arrested charged with breaking and entering. Nobody was badly hurt.

Sergeants John Bell and Edward Sullivan, Special Officer David Roche and Patrolman John Strickland trapped him hiding behind a counter after police had been notified there were strange noises in the restaurant.

They claimed he hid in a closet in the spa until it closed, then attacked the cash register with a jimmy.

"PEEPER" GETS Title and Fine

Carl H. Johnson, 25, of Union street, Lynn, accepted today in Lynn court the title of "Peeping Tom."

Captured in Nahant place, Lynn, Johnson pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct—the "Peeping Tom" ordinance, and was fined $20.

Johnson was allegedly peering into a window where Miss Eleanor Abbott was entertaining a guest.

SNUFF Heir Here in SUIT

6000 FIGHT FOR $17,000,000

One Boston business man out of nearly 6000 claimants from 21 countries stood a good chance to slice into $17,000,000 today as one of the nation's biggest will fights opened in Philadelphia.

He is Aubrey C. Kretschmar of Framingham, New England advertising representative for several New York commercial publications, with an office in Boston.

The $17,000,000 fortune was founded by Walter Garrett of Philadelphia, "snuff king," in the Gay Nineties.

Kretschmar was a second cousin of Mrs. Henrietta E. Garrett, late widow, who precipitated the will fight by neglecting to carry out provisions of her husband's will and name specific beneficiaries.

Garrett died in February, 1895, leaving $6,000,000 to his widow, but inserting a clause in his will which said:

"I desire that at my death she will make a will, disposing of all her property, so that she may know to whom it shall descend."

This will was never made by the widow, so far as can be learned, and the descendants on the Garrett side of the family are fighting the descendants on the Kretschmar side for the fortune, now grown to $17,000,000.

Battle Is On

Mrs. Garrett was a Kretschmar, and both the Garretts and the Kretschmars originally came from Germany.

To battle in his interest, the Framingham man, a native of Philadelphia, has retained Attorney Samuel Weiner of State street.

Attorney Weiner has retained in Philadelphia to act in the will fight former Attorney-General Wilhelm F. Krauer of Pennsylvania.

The clause in the "snuff king's" will is the point at issue, because when the widow died in 1930 she left merely a note disposing of only $62,500, balance of the fortune remaining at issue.

On the Garrett side of the fight, the claimants aver that the money automatically goes to them as Garrett's next of kin.

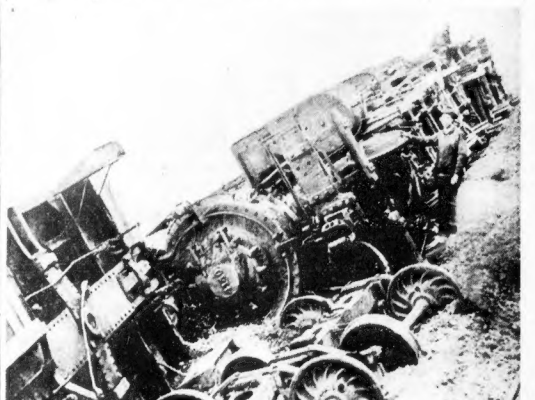
On the Kretschmar side, however it is argued that the money was legally given into the widow's possession and that the Kretschmars should benefit as her next of kin.

Kretschmar, who lives at 639 Worcester road, Framingham, and who has an office at 212 Summer street, Boston, is a descendant of John C. Kretschmar, who came to America 100 years ago from Germany.

He formerly lived in Auburndale, moving there from Philadelphia 20 years ago.

He is 56 years old, a graduate of Amherst College and has three sons and a daughter, Aubrey C., Jr., 26, also a graduate of Amherst; Robert, 25; Charles, 23, and Virginia, 19.

Spring Means Washouts in Pennsylvania



Gentle spring seems to have landed like a ton of bricks in Uniontown, Pa. A washout, caused by March freshets, tumbled this train down an embankment near Lynn Lake. The engineer, fireman and conductor leaped for their lives and escaped serious injury. Two others in the locomotive cab, stuck to their posts and found themselves unhurt after everything was over, although the engine rolled over three times on its way to its present unconventional resting place.

Read Robert E. Rogers "This is Life" Column Daily in the American

FAKE AUTO INJURY CLAIMS COST $3,000,000 A YEAR

Continued from First Page

Larry, who was also 12 years old. Trouble started during a schoolyard game, Johnny and Larry adjourned to Bennington street.

Johnny was getting the better of the fight when Larry threw a stone. It caught Johnny on the bridge of the nose and the fight was over.

Johnny bloomed forth that evening with a pair of peepers worthy of a large airfish.

Auto Drives Up

On October 2, Johnny was playing in Bennington street, black eyes and all, when an automobile pulled up to the curb and its driver, a man living in the district, whistled Johnny to the running board.

"That's a fine pair of black eyes you've got there, son," said the motorist.

Johnny said: "Yuh!"

"In a fight?"

"Yuh," said Johnny, "I got hit with a brick."

"Hop in," invited the motorist. "I'm going to drive you home."

So they drove to Johnny's home and the motorist introduced himself to Johnny's mother.

"Those black eyes are a shame," he said.

Spoil His Looks

She agreed.

"They sort or spoil his looks."

She thought so, too.

"You'd really ought to get paid for them."

"Paid for them? How?"

"Easiest thing in the world. We'll put the kid in an auto accident."

Johnny's mother was horrified.

"Oh, I don't mean a real accident. Let's just say he was in an accident. We'll say my car hit him as I was driving along Bennington street. I've got insurance, okay. It's a cinch or big dough. Take a look at him. See how badly he's hurt. Let's get him to a doctor and get a lawyer and we'll split what we collect."

Rushed to Doctor

Johnny's mother wasn't quite as horrified at that.

So they rushed Johnny to a doctor's office, with the horn of the car blasting a path through traffic.

The doctor treated the 24-hour-old shiners that adorned Johnny's optic by virtue of a rock thrown by a playmate.

"Oh, my poor boy, my poor boy! Right before my eyes it happened!" wailed Johnny's mother. "Right under the car!"

"Right in front of my car he ran," stuttered the nerve-shaken motorist. "He was lucky he wasn't killed.

So they hired a lawyer and filed a claim under the compulsory insurance law against the company in which the car owned by Johnny was insured. They took Johnny to the doctor's office several times, seeking more compensation for his eye injury or what-could-he-do-for-them.

Johnny's mother was the only witness of this terrible accident. The driver admitted the accident. The insurance company called it a day under the case and settled the claim out of court for $175 plus doctor's bills, considering itself lucky.

Johnny's mother and the motorist split the $125.

The same motorist figured in a series of similar fake cases and was eventually caught and jailed.

Insurance company claim settlements went up. The rates are based on the claim losses. The rates went up, too.

Compulsory insurance has cost Massachusetts car owners approximately $160,000,000 during the eight years it has been in force.

Claim settlements by the 70 underwriting companies during that period totaled about $117,000,000, with thousands of claims left unsettled.

Many Suspected

About $24,000,000, it is estimated, has been paid out on fake or exaggerated claims—from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 a year in the estimate of Frank A. Goodwin, registrar of motor vehicles.

In other words, from 20 to 25 per cent of premium rates goes to settle false claims.

Many of these fake cases are caught. Many, many more, though they may be suspected, are never caught.

From an innocent little bump on the head or hand scratch, cases of claim are developed. Sometimes, as in Johnny's case, there is no auto accident at all. At other times, the accident amounts to nothing and there is no real injury.

The law is an open invitation to conspiracy and perjury and both are being practiced daily—to the ultimate cost of the auto owners because the insurance companies pass along the costs under the law.

Plenty of otherwise scrupulously honest persons are not averse to fibbing a little in order to collect. Doctors and lawyers may be fooled, especially in cases where experienced crooks and confidence men are the conspirators.

The stock phase, in all such cases, is:

"It comes out of the insurance company. Let 'em pay."

But it's the car owners who are paying.

(Another case of fraud in the compulsory insurance claims racket will be told in tomorrow's Boston Evening American.)

AL SMITH
Called Morgan
"ERRAND BOY"

Alfred E. Smith was called "an errand boy for the House of Morgan" and the law firm of Ropes, Gray, Boyden and Perkins was termed the "holier than thou" group by Frank A. Goodwin today before the legislative committee on election laws.

The registrar of motor vehicles was urging the repeal of the free primary convention law when Representative Christian Herter of the Back Bay interrupted to say Smith was opposed to the direct primary system.

Goodwin shouted:

"Al Smith fooled the people for a long time and anytime anybody said anything about him, he cried 'religious bigots.'

"Well, he got away with it until a man of his own religious faith did a job on him. You haven't heard much about Smith since Father Coughlin started talking about him.

"He's just an errand boy for the House of Morgan."

MacGUIRE
Dead, Probe
BLAMED

New York, March 25—Word was received today of the death in New Orleans, Dec. 5, 1933, of Donald C. MacGuire, New York brokerage house employe who figured in testimony given in congressional inquiries, seeking more information on the eye injury or what-could-he-do-for-them.

MacGuire, bond salesman with Grayson M. P. Murphy & Co., was mentioned by Murphy at a hearing last November as the man who approached him with a proposal that Butler head a group of 500,000 war veterans and others in a "Fascist" march on Washington. MacGuire's death was disclosed by his brother, William J. MacGuire.

The latter in a statement wired to the Associated Press said:

"Dr. Renihan of Stamford specifically states that this last illness can be directly attributed to the unjust charges launched by Congressman McCormack's committee, which were apparently based on General Butler's charges which he afterwards denied making."

In Philadelphia, General Butler said simply:

"I'm very sorry."

LORD ALFIE 'DOES' BOSTON GAILY

Dublin's Lord Mayor Alfred, "Call Me Alfie," Byrne, made the official rounds today in most jovial mood.

With Detective Paul Crowley, the Lord Mayor arrived at police headquarters, met Captain Stephen J. Flaherty, chief of detectives, and then was taken to Commissioner McSweeney's office.

There he was posed with McSweeney and Superintendent Martin H. King when he gazed from his short stature at the two stalwarts and croaked:

"I suppose you might call this Alfie in big company."

Commissioner McSweeney was calling the visitor "Lord Mayor," but the Dublinite reproved him:

"No, no," he said, "call me Alfie —just Alfie."

He went from there to Governor Curley's office to use his influence toward better trading terms between Ireland and the United States.

The Lord Mayor pointed out that imports from this county to Ireland were ten times in excess of exports.

He informed the Governor that arrangements are being made to place exhibits of Irish products in New York, Philadelphia and Boston, among other places.

It developed, during the conversation, that temperance is rapidly increasing in Ireland especially among the younger generation. The Governor remarked that it was a "good thing."

The conversation was largely interspersed with reminiscences by the Governor of his visit to Ireland two years ago.

Accompanying the Lord Mayor was Peter T. Kelley. Both Kelley and the Lord Mayor are in the insurance business.

Advertisement

UNCORKS STUFFY NOSES IN 5 SECONDS

Doctors Recommending Extract of Chinese Plant

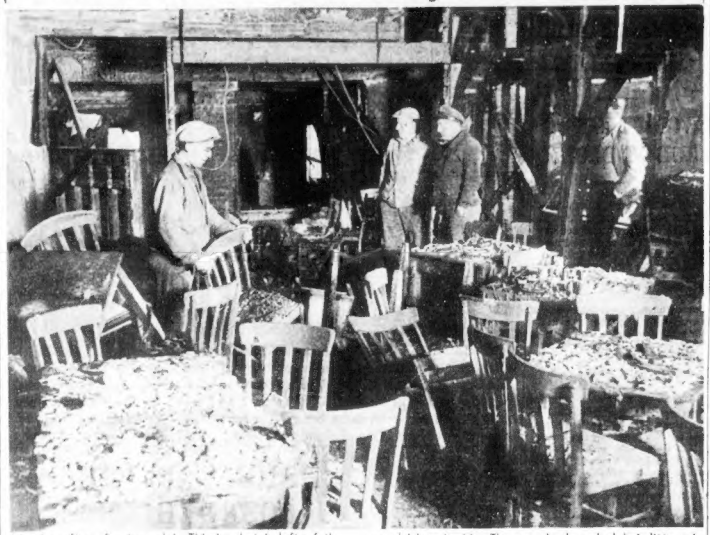
When you have a head cold, thousands of tiny blood vessels in your nose swell up, choke off breathing and set up your misery. It's as tight as a bottle. You can't sleep well and it makes you feel miserable. But now—you can get relief in 5 quick seconds.

Thousands of years ago, Chinese herbmen discovered that one of their plants possessed almost magical powers in relieving nose and throat conditions. Today, after endless experiments, modern science has found a way to extract from this plant its most active ingredient, called Ephedrine. And, now, you and every other sufferer of head colds can get the wonderful benefits of Ephedrine in a scientific compound called Hill's Nose Drops.

In five seconds Hill's Nose Drops start to shrink swollen blood vessels in the nose. As they contract, passages open, mucus drains off and breathing is made easier. Be sure to get a remedy that hits at the real cause of clogged passages . . . head congestions. So, if you want "3 second relief" from head colds or the miseries of asthma or bronchitis, get a bottle of Hill's Nose Drops today. At all druggists, 35¢.

© 1935, The Lemon Co.

'Date With Death' for Six at Chicago's 'Club Rendezvous'



Morning-after of a tragedy! This is what is left of the once luxurious Club Rendezvous, on the outskirts of Chicago. Fire, believed to have been caused by a carelessly tossed cigarette, burned six persons to death and caused injury to 14. The scorched and debris-littered tables show how closely the merrymakers were seated together when the room was suddenly wrapped in flames. (Picture from International News Photograph Service.)

ACTRESS QUIZZED AS HUB MAN DIES

Death of a Boston man in a Hollywood mystery stirred the California motion picture colony today. Two persons, one a beautiful actress, were questioned.

An autopsy was being performed on the body of Louis D. Rosengard, 31, former Pere Marquette football player, University of California graduate and son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rosengard, of Donald street, Dorchester.

Rosengard, who recently visited his home here following an extended European tour, died in a taxicab in which he was being rushed to a Hollywood hospital from the Beverly Boulevard apartment of the actress, Miss Lou Jones.

Jack Carlisle, of Los Angeles, who told police he met Rosengard in Miss Jones' apartment, said the victim had been taken ill there. Carlisle called the cab and was with Rosengard when he died.

Rosengard was traveling representative of a publishing house. Dorchester friends understood he recently acquired control of a Los Angeles night club. He had many friends in the picture colony. His last address known by the family was Hotel Ritz, "on Angeles.

Police, searching Rosengard's pockets, found a passport made out in the name of Donald L. Ross, with stampings and marks indicating that he had been traveling extensively for several months.

A photograph of a famous German actress, Claire Furhs-Kaufmann, was found, autographed in his billfold.

It was signed: "Friendly love," and dated last June, in London.

Besides his parents, Rosengard is survived by a sister, Ida, and two brothers, Manuel and David, all of whom live with their parents.

BIGELOW
Suicide Still MYSTERY

Only partly solved by the finding of his body and a verdict of suicide, the case of Dr. George H. Bigelow was officially closed today.

The cause that drove him to self destruction remained a mystery, apparently unfathomable.

In the Framingham scene of his boyhood, to which he returned on December 3 to drown himself in the reservoir where his body was found Saturday, funeral services were conducted with burial late today at Jaffrey, N. H.

"The Bigelow case is closed so far as the police are concerned," announced Captain John F. Stokes of state detectives, who directed the international search lasting nearly four months.

Pathetic Note

There was only that pathetic last word—the water-soaked note addressed: "Mrs. George N. Bigelow," signed "George," and found among his papers:

"I can't say it — that's the trouble. I am so sorry and so ashamed of this."

Dr. M. James Shaughnessy, the medical examiner, said that the note "indicated a certain state of mind and intent of suicide."

Later he said that stones were found in Bigelow's clothes, and the conclusion was that they had been placed there in order to assure that his body would sink.

The Rev. William Allen Knight, former pastor of the Plymouth Congregational church, Framingham Center, will conduct the funeral ceremonies at the Framingham home of Dr. Enos H. Bigelow, father of the dead physician.

The $500 reward posted two weeks ago for the finding of the body will be divided, it is reported, by Hervey H. Pratt, 36 Goddard road, and Robert W. Fleck, 111 Pleasant street, Framingham.

The only possible motive for suicide, advanced by friends and colleagues, was that Dr. Bigelow feared that his heavy duties were undermining his mind.

CONCERT TO AID
Camps for Girls

Washington, March 25 (INS)—The gala concert to be given for the benefit of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt's Camps for Unemployed Girls, of which Mrs. William Randolph Hearst is chairman, will be held on April 2, it was announced today.

Besides Mrs. Hearst other sponsors for the concert are Mrs. Vincent Astor, vice-chairman; Mrs. James Gerard, treasurer; Mrs. Herbert Witherspoon, director of ceremonies.

NEED MONEY?
Turn to Classification 78 in Today's Want Ads

HOWE
Gains, Roosevelt
PLANS TRIP

By Associated Press

Washington, March 25—President Roosevelt decided today to leave late tonight for a fishing cruise off Florida after after receiving assurance that Louis M. Howe, his secretary, was considerably improved in his serious illness.

The President made his decision after a consultation of five physicians in the White House today had indicated that Howe had passed the immediate crisis and should continue to improve several days and possibly for several weeks.

Mr. Roosevelt will go by train to Jacksonville, where he will board the destroyer Farragut late tomorrow afternoon. He will keep within an hour's cruising distance of the Florida coast in event of a serious relapse in the condition of Howe.

Before packing his bags, Mr. Roosevelt gave particular attention to the $4,880,000,000 work-relief program which passed the Senate Saturday.

Merrymakers Die in Fire

6 Dead, 18 Injured At Night Club

By Universal Service

Chicago, March 25 — Charred bodies of six young merrymakers, burned to death in the Club Rendezvous, lay in undertaking rooms in Niles Center, and 18 gravely injured persons were being treated in hospitals today.

The mood of the more than 100 patrons, most of them Northwestern University students, was far removed from tragedy as they jammed the night club with its single, inadequate exit.

But after the first burst of flames from different sections of the low, barnlike place, a riotous, fighting mob rushed to the door to get out, trampling one upon another in their frenzied efforts to escape.

But for the heroism of a few, notably that of George ("Buck") Fredericksen, county policeman, who himself carried or led 12 trapped patrons to safety, the death toll would have been greater.

Four investigations were begun into the causes of the holocaust. Authorities said there have been a series of night club fires recently, some of them undoubtedly of incendiary origin.

In the present instance, it was intimated, there were evidences that careless use of inflammatory decorations may have been a factor.

WEYMOUTH
Town Hall Robbed

Weymouth town hall was looted of $2160 when the safe was robbed for the second time within a year.

Employes of the town hall, who said they saw two strangers in the building shortly before noon Saturday, when the hall was locked for the week-end, will be shown rogues gallery photographs today when they visit police headquarters in Boston.

It is thought that the safe-crackers managed to hide themselves in the building.

Be smart—save Legal Stamps double LEGAL STAMPS Tuesday
THE GREATER Houghton's
"Top Quality Pay Less"

JOBLESS
Number Drops
23 PER CENT

By International News Service

New York, March 25—Unemployment declined 23.7 per cent from the peak of the last five years since April, 1930, to the end of last January, according to a revised estimate published by the National Industrial Conference Board today.

It said the highest number out of jobs in the period was 13,000,000 in March, 1933, estimating the present number at 10,142,000.

In April, 1930, when the census of unemployment was taken, the reported unemployed numbered 3,187,647. Subsequently the Secretary of Commerce put the jobless at 6,050,000, based on a sample census in January, 1931.

FR. COUGHLIN CHALLENGED BY RABBI

By Universal Service

New York, March 25—Warning him that his speeches are "dangerously anti-Semitic in their implications," Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, in a radio address, asked Father Coughlin if he "desires to make himself responsible for a terrible anti-Jewish outbreak in America."

Rabbi Wise made clear that he believed it possible Father Coughlin did not realize that his attitude might be considered as anti-semitic, but he attacked bitterly the idea that five of six leading international bankers, responsible for the floating of foreign loans, are Jewish. He said:

"What are the facts? Among the banking houses responsible for foreign loans, Kuhn, Loeb & Co. is the only Jewish banking house, and it e ighth on the list.

"The House of Morgan loaned more than twenty per cent of the foreign loans outstanding today. I am not a banker or an economist, but I have made careful inquiry, and these are the facts. Father Coughlin, I am sure, will be just as generous to reconsider and restate them."

Co-ordinate Taxes, Urges Fr. Coughlin

Detroit, Mich., March 25 (US)—Thousands of the present taxing agencies and governments should be co-ordinated, the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin declared in his weekly radio address. He said:

"In all there are 182,658 governments or agencies or political divisions in the country—each with its own power to assess taxes.

"The National Union for Social Justice, believing in the simplification of government, prescribed that, at least in part, the burden of taxation should be lifted from the shoulders of those farmers and laborers who pay the major portion of the bill.

"We suggest that thousands of our present taxing governments and agencies be coordinated.

"We advocate the principal taxation should be based upon the theory of ownership of wealth and according to one's capacity to pay."

Brown to Speak

Allan Brown, advertising manager of the Bakelite Corporation, will address members of the Advertising Club tomorrow in the Hotel Statler on "Problems of Marketing Under Today's Conditions."

Bootleggers Of Beauty

Lawrence Police Fear Shop Reprisals

Lawrence, March 25—Bootleggers in beauty held the attention of police today, with a possibility that the old beauty culture battles in Lawrence might be renewed.

Reports have been made to City Marshal Charles R. Vose that several beauty shops are "bootlegging" on Sundays and after hours, in violation of the code.

Women and girls wishing to be remodeled in these forbidden hours are told, according to the reports, to rap out a prearranged signal on the door and they will be let in.

Thus far, however, it has not come to the point where a slide opens and a pair of eyes peek out, while the beauty seeker says:

"I'm Beth. Don't you remember me? I was here last night."

Names of at least two parlors alleged to be violating code hours and the Sunday law have been furnished police.

Authorities declared today they fear reprisals against "beauty bootlegging" shops.

At that time several local shops were damaged by stones thrown from automobiles in early morning hours, and in one place a fire of incendiary origin was extinguished outside a shop before serious damage was done.

SECRET
Indictments
IN ERA

Payroll padding and "chiseling" and thefts of materials on various ERA projects in Massachusetts are under investigation by federal officials, it was learned today.

Already several secret indictments have resulted from the inquiry.

The investigation has been carried on quietly for a number of days by United States Attorney Francis W. Ford and special ERA investigators from Washington.

More than 30 specific complaints are declared to have been made to the federal prosecutor's office.

They involve allegedly false names on payrolls, payment of wages to men who did no work but who split the money with confederates, and thefts of considerable quantities of materials on projects.

CASH—NO WAITING—Market Prices for SCRAP GOLD
Jewelry, Watch Cases, Dental Work
Platinum and Gold-Filled Articles
GOLD SCRAP SHOP
226 Boylston St. (near Park Sq.)
696 Washington St.

"You don't have to be rich to enjoy rich whiskey!"

The Friendly Whiskey friendly to your taste friendly to your throat friendly to your purse

Copyright, 1935, The Old Quaker Co.

"Now we know that quality doesn't cost a barrel of money"

Among all those bottles on the shelves of your liquor store, you'll find a mighty friendly whiskey. Good Old Quaker straight whiskey . . . a real mellow friend . . . a friend that considers your pocketbook! The very first drop of Old Quaker says to you "Smoothness—real smoothness. Richness—fragrance—downright deliciousness!"

THE OLD QUAKER CO., DISTILLERS — LAWRENCEBURG, IND.—EST. 1846
Also try: OLD QUAKER APPLEJACK — OLD QUAKER RUM
OLD QUAKER BRANDY (8 yrs. old) — OLD QUAKER SLOE GIN
OLD QUAKER DISTILLED LONDON DRY GIN

OLD QUAKER BRAND

WHOLESALE DISTRIBUTORS

NUGENT, INC. 830 Beacon St. Tel. Kenmore 2060
GOLDEN DOME BOTTLING CO. 1005 Columbus Ave. Tel. Highlands 2006
OLD BOSTON IMPORTERS, INC. 25 Court Square Tel. Capitol 7700
COLEMAN & KEATING 1705 Columbus Ave. Tel. Garrison 0070
J. S. CONTAS COMPANY 181 Fulton St. Tel. Capitol 0161
R. L. DOWNING Waltham, Tel. Waltham 2318
WILLIAM ZAKON & SONS 86 Chardon St. Tel. Lafayette 1180
P. PASTENE & COMPANY 40 Fulton St. Tel. Capitol 8870
Brockton Wholesale Beverage Co. Brockton, Tel. Brockton 411

GIRL, 9, GETTING NEW HIP, HOPES TO PLAY AGAIN

By Associated Press

Chicago, March 25—With smiling courage, nine-year-old June Gerrey met a white-clad man today she hopes will enable her "to take a long walk in the country with mother."

That is the first thing she said she'd do if the man, a deft-fingered surgeon, successfully performs a delicate operation to supply a portion of her thigh bone, missing since birth.

Prepared for Trip

The surgeon, Dr. Paul B. Magnuson, made a preliminary examination of June today, but would not predict precisely how he plans to alter the little girl's bone structure so her withered leg will function normally.

But he predicted six months in bed for the child, a prospect that June faced with fortitude in Wesley Memorial Hospital, in the hope she would be able to return healed to her home in Rapid City, S. D., where "the other kids let me play with them."

June arrived Saturday hobbling on a crutch with a doll, half as tall as herself, clutched under an arm. She made the trip alone from Rapid City under the watchful eyes of railway conductors.

For several years she has been preparing, for the eventful trip, and the muscles of her withered leg have been manipulated to prepare them for use when possible. She herself will supply the bone needed to make her leg move.

It will be taken, just how Dr. Magnuson would not say yet, from her lower leg and grafted on the thigh to form a synthetic femur. Possibly a new socket will be fashioned at the left hip joint and the knee joint altered.

The fibula, smaller of the lower leg's two bones, will probably be removed to form the necessary femur, for surgeons said the small leg bone is not necessary for walking and, when grafted on the thigh, will possibly develop into an adequate femur.

Rapid City businessman supplied June's railway ticket and the Kiwanis Club has underwritten hospital expenses for the plucky child.

Courageous

JUNE GERREY

(Picture from International News Photograph Service)

END Of Ash-Can CONTROVERSY

Lynn's official ash-can controversy turned to ashes in police mouths today when Judge Ralph W. Reeve threw the case out of court.

Mrs. Sara E. Sanderson, proprietor of the Sargent House in New Ocean street, couldn't be prosecuted, Judge Reeve declared, because of failure to advertise the city ordinance against leaving ash cans on sidewalks more than 24 hours.

Police summoned Mrs. Sanderson into court after they had warned her several times, they claimed, on complaints of neighbors, to remove the ash barrel filled with plaster.

Mrs. Sanderson asserted that three ash men on the city truck said they could not lift the heavy barrel, although two boys, one 13 and one 12, had taken it from the cellar of the house to the sidewalk.

CONCERN Over Alyce ENDS WITH REST

Fall River, March 25—After a short rest from the excitement of getting mail and presents, Alyce Jane McHenry's temperature started to return toward normal today.

Physicians in the Truesdale Hospital were disturbed yesterday when her temperature went up to 100.2.

Today her temperature was 99.2. Her pulse was 90, respiration, 20.

The rest that she is being given under orders to remain in bed has started her back on the road she was traveling before excitement caused her temperature to rise.

BETH ISRAEL Luncheon April 1

Final plans for the second annual victory luncheon of the Beth Isreal Hospital Women's Auxiliary to be held on April 1 at the Hotel Statler have been completed, it was announced today by Mrs. Nehemiah H. Whitman, president of the Women's Auxiliary.

Mrs. E. Rose

The committee in charge of the luncheon includes Mrs. Jacob Swartz, chairman; Mrs. William Rosnosky, Mrs. Edward Rose, Mrs. Benjamin Beal, Mrs. Harry Liebman and Mrs. David Saphirstein, co-chairman.

FOR RENT Apartments, Homes, Rooms

In the rental columns In Today's Classified Section

DUTCH SCHULTZ Fights Tax Charge

Albany, March 25 (INS)—Arguments for dismissal of income tax evasion indictments against Dutch Schultz, former Bronx racketeer, were offered ni federal court today.

William E. Leahy, Washington attorney, who represented Al Capone in one of his moves for release from prison, appeared for Schultz, who is a fugitive.

Leahy contended the indictments are invalid because they name Schultz, Frank Ahearn and Henry Margolis jointly. There should be separate indictments, he argued.

POLLY ADLER Trial Deferred

New York, March 25 (AP)—The trial of Polly Adler on charges of operating a disorderly house and possessing improper films—one of the high spots of District-Attorney William Dodge's vice investigation—was postponed today for two weeks.

Over objections of the prosecution, Justice Henry W. Herbert granted the delay to allow the defense counsel further time to prepare his case.

SLAYER FISH Sentenced to Die

White Plains, N. Y., March 25 (AP)—Albert H. Fish, convicted of slaying ten-year-old Grace Budd, showed no emotion today when he was sentenced to die in the electric chair the week of April 20.

Obligatory review of Fish's trial here by the Court of Appeals will automatically postpone execution of the sentence until late in the fall, while police investigate his confessions to slaying other children.

ARMY FLIERS Injured in Crash

Washington, March 25—Captain William S. Kenyon, army air corps, of this city, and Corporal S. Mulvin of Union City, Pa., were in a serious condition at Walter Reed Hospital today after their observation airplane struck some wires and crashed at Bolling Field. They were pinned under the wreckage for several minutes.

Kenyon, the pilot, is believed to have been hurt internally.

CURLEY PLANS Summer on Cape

Governor Curley will summer at Oyster Harbors, near Hyannis, on the Cape, if satisfactory terms can be arranged, it was learned today.

The Governor said today he planned to rent the same cottage he occupied during the Summer months while Mayor of Boston.

HOOVER CALLS Two Imposters

Ex-President Herbert Hoover has sent a letter to Everett denouncing as imposters two men who have been soliciting life memberships for the Smithsonian In-

Island Belles Display Water Fashions on Beach

(Picture from International News Photograph Service)

This is the time of year, while we are still shivering in chill March winds, that California delights in sending us pictures like this. These bathing beauties are showing 1935 styles in beach costumes at Catalina Island—where, it seems, the Mae West figure is still popular. (Picture from International News Photograph Service.)

CRIPPLED Mystery Woman FREED, HIDDEN

The crippled mystery woman known as Elizabeth Sloane was hidden by the Federal Government today, after being released from Charles Street Jail.

She had served a four-month sentence for failing to pay a Boston hotel bill.

Miss K. F. Caulfield of the FERA transit service center provided transportation for her from the jail and would not say where she was taken. She said Miss Sloane would start life anew.

The released prisoner, who admitted Sloane was not her right name, was in a wheel chair when she was sentenced in court.

She professed to be the victim of paralysis. Possessing no money, she had predicted she would have money an hour after her release.

GANG GIRLS Sent to Jail

Miami, Fla., March 25 (INS)—The girl friends of Alvin Karpis and Harry Campbell, notorious fugitive desperadoes, learned today stern justice awaits those who associated with criminals.

Five year penitentiary sentences were pronounced on Dolores Delaney, 19, and Winona Burdette, 21, when the girls, arrested at Atlantic City as Karpis and Campbell shot their way through a police trap, pleaded guilty before Federal Judge Halsted Ritter to harboring the desperadoes.

PILOT FELLED By Crashing Duck

Burlington, Ia., March 25 (AP)—Art Mills, veteran pilot for the Braniff Air Lines, was "knocked out" by a duck that crashed through the front window of his airplane last night.

Mills, flying between Sterling and Waterman, Ill., on the Chicago-Kansas City route, said he was unconscious for several minutes. He thought at first his plane had been struck by lightning. He was flying through a thunderstorm.

Backs Recreation

Governor Curley today informed a delegation from the Massachusetts Committee to Further Outdoor Recreation that he would sign a bill backed by the committee creating a division of recreation in the Metropolitan District Commission, if passed by the legislature.

SHAKEUP In Cregg's Staff EXPECTED

Salem, March 25—A shakeup is due in the staff of District Attorney Hugh A. Cregg, according to reliable reports, but Cregg refused today to confirm or deny them.

The reports are based on a belief that the Legislature will reject Cregg's request for permission to increase his staff by two more assistants.

Election campaign promises are involved, it is said.

Slated to go are Charles A. Greene, first assistant, and John J. Ryan, Jr.

Prospective appointees are John A. Ganem, Lawrence, and Randall E. Jackson of Danvers and Salem, with the following also in the running: Ernest Cox, Methuen, son of Judge Louis S. Cox; Howard Clark of Gloucester, son of former District-Attorney William G. Clark, and Michael J. O'Brien of Lawrence.

SHIP In Distress IN STORM

One ship was in distress and other vessels along the Atlantic seaboard were delayed today by a fierce storm that has been raging since last night.

The British steamer Longbird, already 18 days overdue in New York, is in distress 115 miles south of Halifax with fuel and provisions running low.

Coast guard cutters are rushing to her aid.

The liner Laconia, due here yesterday with 200 passengers, wirelessed she would not arrive until late tonight or tomorrow.

The Lady Nelson, due this afternoon, will not dock until late tonight.

New Archbishop

Vatican City, March 25 (INS)—The Rt. Rev. Mgr. Arthur Hinsley, titular archbishop of Sardis since 1930 and apostolic delegate to the Catholic missions in Africa, today was created Archbishop of Westminster, England.

2 BLENDS—2 PRICES

RED LABEL America's finest quality | BROWN LABEL High quality, low price

"SALADA" TEA

115-A

TRACTOR FREES Beached Boat

Provincetown, March 25—Captain Frank Mayo of Dorchester and the crew of the 52-foot fishing boat Bonita had the unusual experience yesterday of going on the beach in a March thunder squall.

Today they had the equally rare experience of being floated with the aid of a tractor manned by coast guards.

WHITE WAY Opens Wednesday

The Great White Way on Washington street, between Kneeland street and Broadway, will be officially turned on by Mayor Mansfield, Wednesday night.

Merchants throughout that section will celebrate the opening with sales.

SCOOTER FALL Fatal to Man, 73

Shreveport, La., March 25 (AP)—Run with a child's scooter turned into tragedy for 73-year-old Thomas Hopkins.

Hopkins fell from the scooter, fracturing his thigh—and is dead of complications.

V. F. W. COUNCIL LAUDS HEARST BONUS STAND

By International News Service

Detroit, March 25—A resolution congratulating William Randolph Hearst for an editorial on the soldiers' bonus which appeared in the Hearst newspapers Sunday was passed yesterday by the Wayne County Council of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States.

The resolution follows:

"Whereas, Mr. William Randolph Hearst has been for years one of the most outstanding champions of veterans' causes in the United States, particularly with respect to the consistency of his stand in connection with the so-called 'bonus' issue, and,

"Whereas, Mr. Hearst has in the Detroit Times and all of his other Sunday papers of March 24 pronounced his views in a personal editorial relative to this issue in masterly fashion, and,

"Whereas, he has not only presented his views in support of the Patman bill, which is sponsored by this organization, but he has also made such a strong appeal to reason in the submission of his argument that this bill should be passed, that we feel a heavy debt of gratitude is due him;

"Therefore be it resolved, That the Wayne County Council, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, go on record as expressing its deepest appreciation and sincere admiration of one so outstanding in public and private life as Mr. Hearst, who has yet the courage of his convictions to set forth so unequivocably his position on a question of such extreme importance to the rank and file of our country's defenders—and a copy of this resolution be conveyed to Mr. William Randolph Hearst."

The resolution was signed by County Commander Harry G. Hoffmann.

Editor to Speak

Laurance B. Siegfried of New York City, editor of the "American Printer," will speak tomorrow night before the conference on design and packaging conducted by the committee on industrial and civic art of the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

MISSING FROM SOUTH BOSTON HOME

HAZEL JOHNSON

Friends and Relatives Are Seeking Her

Aid of the Boston Evening American was asked today in locating Hazel Johnson, 16, South Boston girl, who disappeared from home last Friday at 9 p. m.

The girl, second eldest in a family of eight children, left her home in East Fifth street, to visit a sister in L street, near Marina road, but never reached there.

According to her father, John Johnson, the girl is five feet, four inches tall, has brown eyes and dark brown hair and wore a red plaid blouse, black skirt, tweed coat but no hat.

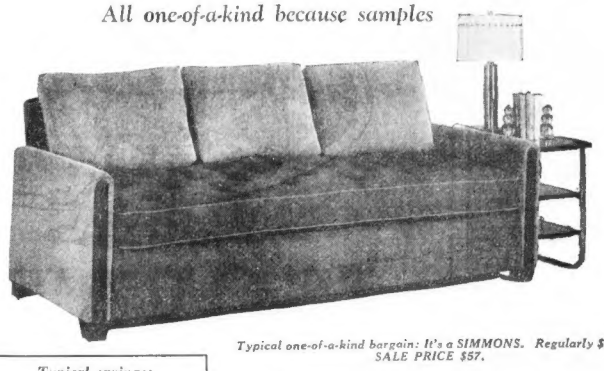
Sale of Studio Couches

SIMMONS! RED CROSS! "SLEEPER" PRODUCTS!

The famous makes. They're all here

GREATLY REDUCED

All one-of-a-kind because samples



Typical one-of-a-kind bargain: It's a SIMMONS. Regularly $85. SALE PRICE $57.

Typical savings:		Was	NOW
118/6510	Studio Couch	$44	$29.50
118/6614	Studio Couch	67	49
118/6315	Studio Couch	52	39.50
77/	Wellfleet Couch	61	45
77/	Commodore Couch	49.50	37
129/	Perfect Sleeper	64	47
129/	Guest Sleeper	54	39.50
129/	Danite Couch	69	49.50

Three standard makes. Marked lower than we've ever been able to price them before. But no duplicates. No re-orders. There are Lawson and English models, Pillow Arms. A wide selection of covers. Homespuns, novelty weaves, velours. Some are priced as low as $29.50. No two alike so be early for most advantageous choice.

PAINE Furniture Company

81 Arlington St.

HEAVEN HIGH—HELL DEEP

By Norman Archibald

Archie Has First Brush With Hun

Three months after the United States declared war I was enlisted as private first-class in the aviation service of the Signal Corps. Three more months and I was one of the lucky ones ordered abroad. At Issoudun, the American aviation center, we helped build the camp and lay miniature railroads—in the mud. Without any previous training we started learning to fly the Nieuports, fastest and most dangerous of war planes. We walked, dreamed flying night and day. A test pilot was killed, but his death didn't cool my love for flying. Then suddenly Beauchamp and I were ordered to report to the Fat Pursuit Group. Arrived at the front was assigned a beautiful new plane, a Spad.

Whirling around I faced Capt. Peterson, but before I could express my delight he waved away.

Mine! This little, new, glorious plane was mine! Happier than a child with a Christmas toy I stood, close, beside my new possession. Heinricks, an old member of the 95th, came over.

"Captain Peterson asked me to take you to the ballon line and show you the Front. Want to go now?"

"Now?" I repeated. "Now? Right now? Great!"

Heinricks laughed at my enthusiasm.

"Meet me at five hundred feet over the field," he said.

"May I go along?" asked Gill, another pilot.

"Certainly, come along," said Heinricks.

Hurriedly borrowing a helmet and a pair of goggles, I ran to my plane, climbed in and settled into the cockpit. How comfortable it was! I moved the stick. The control wires were tight. The elevator, ailerons and rudder answered to the slightest touch.

Everything was in perfect order so I motioned to the mechanic to start the motor.

"Coupez," he called.

"Coupez," I answered, holding the ignition switch in the off position.

Four times he turned the propeller and then stood free of the blade.

"Contact," he yelled.

"Contact," I yelled back and switched on the ignition.

With a swift downward stroke he swung the propeller. The motor started. Adjusting the nanettes, I listened to the rhythmic whirr of this perfectly running motor with the rapt attention of a musician, listening to a symphony.

I fastened the safety belts and, securely tied in the cockpit, thoroughly tested the motor, then motioned the mechanic to remove the blocks.

Ready to go!

My Spad

I taxied out, turned into the wind, opened the motor, pushed on the stick and sped across the field. This Spad, heavier than a Nieuport, required a longer distance to take off, but it rose without a flutter, climbed quickly and was more stable.

Circling the field, my thoughts tumbled from happiness.

I am really in a Spad! It is mine! We are going to the lines! A fighting pilot of the First Pursuit Group! Here at last . . . in a Spad . . . a member of the 95th. Adventure—combats—the Front—everything—Death, perhaps—what matter?

Here I am . . . here I am! At last.

A fighting institution was here to do its part in the war. The soft wind seemed to know, to respect the ground over which it blew.

The direction of the Front! Calling . . . with hidden things which beckoned me on. Soon I would know.

A few hangars and tents dotted the field in a new scene. Fresh sensations. The very air was different . . . quiet . . . still . . . yet it demanded action.

Heinricks and Gill in two Spads took off, reached my altitude and Heinricks headed for the lines.

Pulling up behind and above him on the left, Gill in the same position on the right, we climbed to 9000 feet. I valched the surrounding country.

Small wooded areas: a little lake, rolling land and the River Marne, like a silken cord—Chateau Tierry—in ruins. Bridges built to span the river proudly were in toppled, gray heaps.

Buildings were masses of debris, the earth a honeycomb of pitted shell ho. All was grey. All was desolate. All was devastation.

Flying in the air, to our left and in row, were large sausage balloo—the Allied balloon line, waiting for enemy movements. Also to the right, black puffs of smoke filled the air. Above the roar of the motor muffled sounds of explosions could be heard. Boof!

Black Smoke

The sound followed each black puff of smoke.

Woof! Woof! Woof!

A small area of air was filled with bursting shells.

What were they aimed at? Could possibly be us? If so the results were poor as the explosions were above and to the right.

Observation balloons at the left, floating shells at the right, warm country below, so much to see, my searching eyes hurt.

Watching, . watching, . afraid of missing something . . . when, in a flash, Heinricks turned and dove straight down. Gill turned and dropped and disappeared. What was I supposed to do—dive after Heinricks? Down—down—hell! how this Spad could dive. Where was he?

Against the earth's dark background he could not be found, so rushing to five thousand feet, still worriedly looking for Heinricks, I started for home and soon, far below, saw his plane sailing peacefully along.

Gliding down to position behind him, my body slumped with relaxation from a tense strain, hitherto unfelt. Reaching the aerodrome I asked Heinricks the reason for his sudden dive. His vague answer revealed that he had, purposely, tried to lose me. He never knew that, for a moment, he had been successful.

This taught me how suddenly a Spad could dive, disappear and how necessary it was to keep formation.

Mid-day.

Content with the knowledge that I had sailed through the mysterious veil which heretofore had so jealously hidden the Front from my eyes, it elated me to see my name with four others, posted for a patrol over the lines at two in the afternoon.

* * *

Before the patrol my Spad was put through her paces. Responsive—she had faith in me. Understanding—my faith in her was boundless.

She would play no tricks on me now.

First Patrol

A helmet, goggles, gloves and coveralls were given to me and with my plane inspected, refueled and the machine guns loaded with belts of ammunition I was ready—for my first patrol.

"You're No. 1 of the left," said the leader. "We'll assemble at 1000 feet over that adjoining field."

No words of advice or suggestions. No instructions.

Knowledge of aerial warfare is learned only in aerial warfare. A pilot is self-taught. This game cannot be learned on the ground.

* * *

The planes line up. We are ready. Fastening the safety belts, I signal to my mechanics, take off, climb to a thousand feet and wait for the others. One by one they appear. In tight formation, each in his position, we follow our leader who heads for the Front.

Planes are silhouetted against a large, white cloud. Enemy planes!

Safe, free, winged on high, we are sailing along when the leader, with motor trouble, drops from the formation.

Now we are four.

One of the remaining four assumes the lead.

Another plane drops away.

Now we are three.

I know nothing of the etiquette in such a case but as the other remaining plane flies behind to the right of the leader, I fly behind to the left and, still rapidly climbing, we go on.

Over the Marne.

The altimeter registers twelve thousand feet and still we climb. Surely we are over the lines—where are the enemy planes?

WOOF! WOOF!

Anti-aircraft explosions pull my eyes to the right where puffs of smoke, black bang in the air.

WOOF! WOOF!

More appear and more; closer now, above, to the right and the leader zigzags in his course to warn that we are targets for these enemy shells.

The smoke puffs and muffled explosions hold my attention as a great spectacle, void of danger. They break again, still above, but to the left this time.

So! we are being fired at! The thought thrills me, thrills me to thumb my nose at their vain attempts.

At fifteen thousand feet the leader levels out, continuing into Germany.

Suddenly, ahead and one thousand feet below, planes are silhouetted against a large, white cumulus cloud.

Not in formation but playing, diving, zooming and cavorting around this dense ball of whiteness.

Enemy planes!

Now for excitement!

Our leader turns and starts back. Why are we running away? Are they, perhaps, Allied planes?

The leader, turning again, starts after them.

Follow Leader

Following—maybe he planned an attack but first made certain there were no other planes about. Closer now . . . counting them . . . One, two, three, four, five, six—seven! Seven Boche—Seven, jet black against the white cloud.

Wagging his wings for close attention we follow our leader as he glides toward them.

Their topsy, turvy maneuvers cease. A wonderful example of perfect team work as, instantly, they assume formation with four in one group and three in another.

Nearer—white crosses on their black fuselages. Nearer—they invite us to dive on the smaller formation and so place ourselves in position for an attack from the other four.

Our leader opens fire.

Guns, from the Spad on my right, shoot out streams of smoke. This is my cue, so I, too, aim, pull both triggers and smoking tracer bullets speed in the direction of the Huns. They break formation, instantly become disorganized and, like black water snakes, squirm in a sea of air.

Pulling up, we circle above them. They twist, turn, and their maneuvers to reach our level remind me of slimy animals, hideous and poisonous to touch.

With such odds as seven to three our leader has no intention of seeking their level and keeps well above.

Beneath, one black, evil body, with its nose pointed directly at me, leaps straight into the air.

Good God! Can these German planes climb straight up?

If so, what chance have we?

With my eyes glued on him he falls off into a dive. So! . he zoomed and took a pot shot at me. But he missed. . Pooh! did he think he could get me and my Spad that way?

Again we circle—again we dive—this time I fire both guns at the mess in general. Down they go through a layer of clouds and one, in a deathlike spin is lost to view.

The air is clear. Only our planes soar above the clouds, and the leader starts for home. Crossing the lines, more anti-aircraft welcomes us warmly as we zig-zag a course to the Marne.

Across the Lines

Why go home? Surely we could find more Germans! Is it all over? Safe across the lines I take off my goggles and helmet. The fresh air streams through my hair and fans my hot face. Oh, for another whack at them!

Never have I felt more rested, alive or with more energy, but I settle down in the cockpit to enjoy the ride back. Wonder if we got the plane—the one that went down in a spin?

My little Spad sails smoothly on, humming, humming with contentment and as docile as a thoroughbred jogging toward his stable after a race.

The ever faithful mechanics are waiting, eagerly.

"Did you see any Germans?"

"Did you have a fight, Lieutenant?"

As it was my first experience I did not know if it was anything out of the ordinary or not but waited to read the leader's report.

It told of heavy anti-aircraft; sighting seven Fokkers; keeping altitude because of superior numbers; forcing them down through the clouds and of one plane falling in a spin.

No confirmation was asked for the latter because we could not be sure. Whether we "got" the plane or not, no one but the Germans ever knew.

The report, except for "heavy anti-aircraft" seemed perfect. Was that a great bombardment of the air?

Thought it would be fa. worse. So! I had been in this terrific anti-aircraft! Pooh! Then it was my least concern.

* * *

A pilot, missing for two days, returned to the aerodrome.

"Where have you been?"

"I have been in a hospital near the Front."

"What was the trouble?"

"I have been suffering from shell-shock from anti-aircraft," he stammered.

His story was taken with a grain of salt. He was ridiculed and laughed at. The medical officer, however, told us that he was really shell-shocked, quite ill, and we must recognize it. He was ordered back to Orly for a rest.

Shell-shocked by anti-aircraft? Good Lord! Ridiculous! He better stay in Orly and rest.

Copyright, 1935, Albert A. Chas. Boni, Inc. Distributed by King Features, Inc.

But we are to discover that shell-shock is not ridiculous, Don't miss tomorrow's American.

CHARLESTOWN Officer on Trial

Patrolman Timothy P. Cronin, of Charlestown station, will face a trial board tomorrow at police headquarters on a charge of neglect of duty, based on the report that he was discovered sitting in an automobile with a man and a woman while on duty.

THE HOUSE of LIEDERMAN INC
The Sign of Value
AT ALL OUR STORES
LADIES' PLAIN
COATS
EXCEPT VELVET OR WHITE
MEN'S TOPCOATS
Cleansed and Beautifully Finished
29c
Cash and Carry
EXPERT DYEING
Prize Garments Dyed Rosy Dye or Black, made to look like new.
$1.50
ANTHONY WHARTON'S
8 MT. VERNON ST., B.M. 1100
111 SUMMER STREET
NORTH STATION TERMINAL
Stores in Every Neighborhood
HIGHLANDS 4000

To relieve Eczema Itching and give skin comfort nurses use Resinol

Advertisement
PLEASANT RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Shoulders droop under weight of years. Young, yet beauty has fled. Cheeks are sallow and drawn. Unsightly pimples. Keep your system clean and you keep the beauty of youth. Its energy. Its irresistible charm. Then life is not a failure.

Sluggish bowels cause poisons to seep through the system. Health vanishes and with it beauty and energy. Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets will help save you from this dark hour. For 20 years they have been prescribed in place of calomel to men and women seeking health and relief from constipation. They act easily and smoothly. No dangerous griping. Take one or two Olive Tablets at bedtime. Results will amaze you.

Thousands of men and women would never be without Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, a vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c. All druggists.

ISOLATED

This little group, apparently so comfortable, so safe, so self-contained, is nevertheless ISOLATED and unprotected.

To be sure, there is a lock on the door, an insurance policy in the desk, and money in the savings bank — but there is no telephone in the house.

Suppose an emergency comes?

Must someone dash out to hunt the nearest fire alarm? Or to call the police? Or to get a doctor? Will precious minutes be wasted while somebody runs to the corner for a telephone, or tries to rouse a neighbor who has one?

See to it that a group like this one has the protection that only a telephone can give. Don't leave them isolated — cut off from everything — but give them an instantaneous link with those agencies whose help, if ever needed, is beyond price.

If you are at present without telephone protection, find out from your local telephone business office how little it will cost you to obtain it.

NEW ENGLAND TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY

Take your pick

When you have a rental problem, Barbara Holmes is the one to see.

Take the word of experienced advertisers. There is only one way to find tenants for rental vacancies . . . through the American-Advertiser.

THE Rental Columns of the American-Advertiser cover every section of Metropolitan Boston. Take your pick of the vacancy that appeals to you. Rental hunting through the American-Advertiser Rental Columns becomes a matter of easy selection rather than haphazard guess work.

"Now it's the American-Advertiser for best rentals"

Betty Alden on 'Beacon Hill'

Harper-Clark Wedding on Beacon Hill

By BETTY ALDEN

THE WEDDING BELLS which chimed and reverberated through the narrow byways of Beacon Hill late Saturday afternoon were calling a very select and chosen company to witness the nuptials of Frances Clark and John Harper in the little Church of the Advent on Brimmer street . . .

The beautiful sunshiny afternoon induced the fashionable guests to don their newest spring finery and trailing, sweeping gowns and prints which are synonomous of spring were conspicuous in the gowns of the fairest of the guests . . .

MRS. F. W. BUSK

As for the bridal party, sweet pea colors of pink and fuschia braided with the feathery greens which were banked at the altar for the ceremony . . . The bride dispensed with the traditionol white satin raiment and wore a delicate shell pink net gown made with a cape, and a wide brimmed chiffon hat of fuschia . . . She also dispensed with the customary bouquet . . .

* * *

Blue and Pink

PRECEDING THE BRIDE to the altar, her niece, Miss King Woodard of Framingham, was daintily gowned in ecru net with a large hat of a deep shade of pink and carrying an arm bouquet of deep pink lillies. . . .

All eyes were drawn to the bride's mother, Mrs. Homer B. Richardson, as she was escorted to her pew in the front of the church . . . Her navy blue dress was fashioned with a bodice of shell pink and roses of the same delicate shade wreathed her shiny straw hat . . . She wore a corsage of lilies of the valley . . . Mrs. A. Clark Woodard, the bride's sister, repeated in her ensemble the pink and fuschia hues of the bridal party . . .

Among the socialites who witnessed the ceremony were Mrs. F. Wadsworth Busk, whose navy blue cape suit of simple elegance revealed a crimson lining to the cape when she walked . . . She was with her aunt, Mrs. George S. Mumford, who also wore dark blue . . .

Mrs. Thomas C. Thacher, Jr., whose husband was an usher, was accompanied by her little daughter in a sunny yellow frock . . . Leaf green crepe fashioned the gown of Mrs. William Sheaf, and Mrs. Harrison Reynolds, who was escorted by Mr. Reynolds, wore black with a corsage of gardenias . . .

Mrs. Louis S. Curtis topped her costume with one of those new French hats, so flighty and irresistible, flaunting a huge blue plume to match the blue of her dress . . . Chic and individual was the gray and yellow ensemble of Mrs. Stanley Swaim, and the yellow of Mrs. Lothrop Motley's attire was easily noted in the gathering . . .

* * *

Reception at Home

MRS. RICHARD OLNEY arrived at the church swathed in silver foxes over her black suit . . . Mrs. Arthur L. Devens and Mrs. Robert Lovett also wore smart black suits . . .

After the ceremony the immediate families of the bridal couple gathered at Mrs. Richardson's home on West Cedar street to extend their best wishes to the bride and bridegroom, to view the wedding presents and to sample the wedding cake . . . Due to the fact that the reception was so small very few of the guests went from the church to the house, so Mrs. Edwin S. Dodge entertained most of them at a tea at her home on Chestnut street . . .

Mr. J. Henry Harper of New York was his brother's best man . . . and there were several out of town guests here for the ceremony . . . Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Elbridge Gerry Green of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Harper of Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. Stuyvesant Le Roy French, Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Rand, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Whitlock and Mr. and Mrs. Eliot Putnam, all of New York . . .

* * *

Party at Club on Waterfront

AFTER SEEING WHAT THE well dressed wedding guests will wear for the avalanche of weddings which dot the social calendar for the spring, society devoted its Saturday evening to the last performances of King Winter's Children . . . the skating carnival and the playoff for the Stanley Cup . . . Not content with staying up practically all night at the Balloon Ball on Friday, they lost plenty of sleep by going on from these skating events to the large dance at the Boston Yacht Club, which wound up the whirl of entertaining in honor of the champion skating stars of Europe who gave exhibition numbers in the Carnival . . .

From one to five yesterday morning Rowes Wharf presented a very different aspect from its usually drab and business like appearance . . . Nearly every one who had anything to do with the Carnival quickly changed into formal clothes after the last number and dashed in shiny cars down to the party on the waterfront . . .

Many were interested to see how the feminine skating queens looked in evening dresses, minus their costumes and make-up . . . Diminutive Bivi Ann Hulten of Sweden didn't disappoint one of her admirers as she appeared in a black velvet dress trimmed with tulle ruffles . . . Maxie Herber of Germany and Polly Blodgett, Boston's youthful skating star, who are both sub-sub-debs, attracted a great deal of attention . . . Maxie in a Yale blue crepe gown and Polly in green and white striped organdie . . .

* * *

Stars Entertain Guests

SUE DAVIS, WHO WAS CELEBRATING her last public appearance on the ice before she becomes a bride, was entertaining the crowd with the Mae West antics she performed earlier in the evening on the ice . . . She was dressed in a peacock blue dress trimmed with bands of ermine . . . Grace Madden and Maribel Vinson chosegowns of black, and Idi Papez, the blonde and graceful partner of Karl Zwack of Austria, clung to the white, which enhances her blondeness . . .

Among the many others at the party were Mrs. D. Codman Blodgett, who with Mr. Charles Rotch and James Burgess, were responsible for the success of the dance; Mrs. Charles B. Blanchard, Mrs. Charles Rotch, Mrs. Dexter Harris, Rebecca Norcross, Olivia Osborne, Olivia Stone, Peggy Hardwick and Carol Smith . . .

DEBUTANTE Flashes Smiles At Dance

(Picture by Boston Evening American Staff Photographer)

MISS ELLEN GRAY, popular member of this season's debutante group, was in a happy mood as the cameraman snapped her at a recent dance held to benefit the Ellis Memorial.

Musicale Benefit in April

THE PROGRAM for the spring musicale to be held for the benefit of the Harriet Tubman House, at the Hotel Somerset, on Tuesday evening April 9, is announced.

The announcement was made at a morning coffee party given today for the ladies' committee by Mrs. Oren Cheney Sanborn, chairman of the music committee, at 118 Hemenway street.

The Haydn Harp Duo, Madeleine Conant, contralto; Mr. George Brown and other artists will be heard on the concert program.

The ladies' committee has announced the following patrons and patronesses:

Dr. and Mrs. Clarke Staples, Mr. and Mrs. Willard F. Richards, Mrs. Horace Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hastings, Mrs. William Morton Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Heinrich Gebhard, Mr. Arthur Fiedler, Madam Venelle-Johnson, Mrs. Hollis H. Shaw, Mrs. David Little, Mrs. Stephen Perkins Hurd, Mr. William Mahoney and Miss Edith Robinson.

Mrs. Arthur P. Teele, Mrs. Ranna Welton, Mrs. John Montague, Mrs. Gertrude Funnewell, Mr. Charles Gibson, Mrs. Marie De Pass, Mrs. Bird Higginson, Major Frank Wilson, Mr. Reginald Boardman, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Wilson, Mrs. Albert Eno, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bishop, Mrs. John Armstrong Sanborn, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Sawyer and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lee.

Merry Groups

MANY OF THE YOUNGER social set repaired to the Barely Club to dine and make merry after attending the last performance of the skating carnival or the Bruins' play-off game, on Saturday evening.

Among those seen at the tables were Miss Jean Read, escorted by Whitney Stoddard; Miss Jeanne Sargeant in a spring-like green crepe dinner dress, escorted by her fiance, John Wiggins, and Miss Nancy Holdsworth with not one, but three escorts.

In a party with Miss Dorothy Thuringer, one of society's popular classic dancers, were Charles Hammett, Miss Jane Baxter and Robert Duffy. Mr. and Mrs. David Stone were at a nearby table.

Miss Harriet Shepard looked very feminine in a floating green chiffon creation as she danced with Louis Munroe. Miss Margaret Swift in a black dress trimmed with white ostrich feathers had a busy time with several dancing partners.

Miss Polly Cotter was with Robert Beattie, while Miss Mary Chipman danced with Edward Keville. Others who were present were Mr. and Mrs. George Proctor Ide, Miss Doris Benson and Alfred Ogden.

FORESTERS Plan Scholarships

Four-year scholarships to Boston College will be awarded by the Massachusetts Catholic Order of Foresters.

The scholarships will be financed by the institution of "Catholic Action Day" when the Foresters will present a special program at Alumni Field, Boston College, before the opening football game, September 28.

Clubs Calendar

TODAY

Dorchester Catholic Guild, at the Hotel Puritan, luncheon and bridge.

Women's City Club, 7:45 p. m., at the clubhouse, a lecture.

Ace of Clubs, Hotel Somerset, a lecture.

Bellermine Academy, Commonwealth Country Club, a lecture.

TUESDAY

Business and Professional Women's Republican Club of Mass., 6:00 p. m., Hotel Bradford, monthly supper.

Professional Women's Club, 7:00 p. m., Hotel Statler, a meeting.

WEDNESDAY

Allston's Women's Club, 7:30 p. m., Hotel Bradford, club birthday party.

Boston Women's Civic Club, 1:00 p. m., at Hotel Touraine, a meeting.

New England Women's Press Association, 1 p. m. until 5 p. m., Hotel Statler, meetings.

Women's Committee of the Boston Chapter of the American Institute of Banking, 6:15 p. m., at 16 West street, a meeting.

Women's Republican Club, 8:00 p. m., at the clubhouse, a concert.

Women's Educational and Industrial Union, 11:30 a. m., Perkins Hall, a lecture.

SATURDAY

Brookline Circle of the Florence Crittenton League, 2:00 p. m., Hotel Statler, bridge.

Italian Legion Auxiliary, 7:30 p. m., Hotel Vendome, a meeting.

Sylvia Grinnell Engaged

Vincent Club Member to Wed Mr. William Almy

MR. AND MRS. LAWRENCE GRINNELL of New Bedford announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Sylvia Grinnell, to Mr. William Almy, Jr., of Quansett Farm, South Westport, son of Mr. William Almy of Boston.

Miss Grennell attended the Ethel Walker school in Simsbury Conn. and made her debut in Boston in the 1929-30 season. She is a member of the Vincent Club and the Junior League.

Mr. Almy attended Noble and Greenough school and was a lieutenant in the Royal Flying Corps during the war. He was former master of the Quansett Hounds and of the Culpepper Fox hounds in Virginia and was also joint master of the Warrenton Hunt. He is a member of the United Hunts Racing Association in New York, and a governor of the Eastern Horse Club in Massachusetts.

Chatty Notes of Society

MRS. LOIE B. RANTOUL and Mrs. A. Julian Rowan are acting as co-chairmen of the committee which is planning the benefit which is to be given for the People's Symphony Orchestra on Thursday afternoon, April 4, at the Hotel Somerset. Bridge, fashions and tea will be on the afternoon's program, which will begin at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Prescott Warren is in charge of the bridge and the guest of honor is to be Mr. Oswald Jacoby, a member of "The Four Aces," the greatest bridge team in the world.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT L. BIGELOW of Boston are enjoying the spring season at the Casa de Manana Hotel in La Jolla, Cal.

* * *

MISS JEANNE FISHER, a debutante of last season, and Miss Jane Burgess sailed Saturday for a spring vacation in Bermuda.

* * *

MISS MARY ELIZABETH KEEVER, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Henry Keever of Auburndale, has returned from Penn Hall school in Chambersburg, Va., to enjoy her spring vacation with her parents.

Milton Man Weds

Elizabeth Parsons Is Bride

MR. AND MRS. FRANCIS PARSONS of Hartford, Conn., announce the marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth Hutchins Parsons, to Mr. William Skinner Warner, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Skinner Warner of Milton.

The Right Reverend Chauncey B. Brewster performed the ceremony Saturday afternoon in the chapel of the Christ Church Cathedral in Hartford.

Only the immediate families of the bride and bridegroom attended. Miss Parsons attended the Framingham school and Mr. Warner attended Milton Academy and was graduated from Harvard with the class of 1932.

After their wedding trip, Mr. Warner and his bride will live in Boston.

Belmont Meeting

Senior high school will be the scene of the Belmont town meeting, tomorrow night, the second time in history the town hall has not been used.

Junior Philomatheias

Bridge Tea Saturday

JUNIOR PHILOMATHEIAS will give their undivided attention to the "Art of Make-up" as the special feature of the bridge and tea to be held at the Club Chalet in Chestnut Hill on Saturday afternoon, March 30. A well known studio on Newbury street will divulge the secrets.

Miss Virginia Grimes has been appointed chairman of the day by Miss Mary Dowd, president of the club.

Committees are:

Tea: Hostess—Frances O'Halloran. Vice Chairmen—Ann Genter and Kathleen Moore assisted by Mary Guerin, Julia Slattery, Margaret Morrissey, Ellen Feeney, Helen Casey, Eleanor Field, Helen Fallon, Irene Rivers, Palmyra Aibre, Frances Gedrie, Mary E. Murphy, Mary Coogan.

Reservations: Chairman — Miss Mary Rita Fouhy assisted by Marguerite Macken, Lois McCarthy, Mary Rose Carven.

Tickets: Chairman — Rosemary O'Neill assisted by Ann Kelley, Isabel Maguire, Loretta Smith, Helen Slye, Rita Lavin, Kathleen Walsh, Dorothy Lannon, Clare O'Brien, Marion Cassidy and Mary Ryan.

Reception: Chairman—Catherine Curley assisted by Eleanor Kelley, Mary Guthrie, Harriet Lyons.

Prizes: Chairman—Mary Stuart assisted by Helen Sutherby, Grace Quinn, Betty Walsh, Agnes McDonald, Edith Horan, Florence Ring, Ann Messitt, Barbara Misselis, Mary Dunn, Genevieve Connore, Lillian Ford.

Guild Shower

ST. VINCENT'S Guild will conduct tomorrow its annual donation and clothing shower day in aid of the children of St. Vincent's Orphan's Home on Gayette road in Cambridge, at St. Rose hall, Worcester street, Boston.

Mrs. Frank Spang, president, will be assisted by club officers, Mrs. Robert Meffan, Mrs. C. Bradford White, and Mrs. Stephen A. Courtney.

Bridge and whist will be played with directors Mrs. James McDermott and Mrs. Thomas Hicks as hostesses.

Technology Prom

The Technology Junior Prom will be held on Friday night in the ballroom of the Hotel Statler.

Wedding Bells Ring For Her This Week

Bachrach Photo

CLARA NEALY

MR. AND MRS. RALPH NEALY of Medford announce the engagement of their daughter, Clara Nealy, to Mr. Richard Clinton Skinner of Malden.

Mr. Skinner is a graduate of Wentworth Institute and Boston University.

The marriage will take place at the home of Miss Nealy's parents, 97 Ravine street, on Friday of this week.

Books on Parade

By MILES ALDEN

MEMORY OF LOVE—By Bessie Breuer—Simon and Schuster.

Although many will probably be shocked by the frankness of this first novel by Bessie Breuer, there can be no doubt of the sincerity of the work.

With cruel realism, she tells the story of the affair between Alec, to whom all women have been fair game, and Julie, who brings to him the promise of a different life.

In her style, the author has skillfully blended the brutality and briskness of both Ernest Hemingway and James Cain.

Her treatment of sex is of deeper understanding than any author since D. H. Lawrence.

Her work has been acclaimed by the best of American writers and justly so.

The inevitable tragic plunge of the last part of the book approaches the same feeling produced by the ninth act of "Strange Interlude" and the closing chapters of "A Farewell to Arms."

Perhaps the author has reached her climax in this first work. If not, she is a writer to watch.

* * *

SALT OF THE EARTH—By Marguerite Mooers Marshall—Doubleday, Dorgan.

Miss Marshall's understanding of human nature is well known to her thousands of followers who read her daily column in the New York Evening Journal.

In this latest novel, she presents the same human characters of "None But the Brave."

As in that novel, the scene is laid in Belltown in New Hampshire's green hills, with David Dakin, the proprietor of the general store and beloved Aunt Cora once again using their mellow wisdom to antagonize the love affairs of a young couple.

All who enjoyed that earlier work should lose no time in reading "Salt of the Earth."

(Books on Parade is a daily feature of the Boston Evening American.)

Bellarmine Lecture

AT THE regular weekly meeting of the Bellarmine Academy of Boston, to be held Wednesday, at the Commonwealth Country Club, Chestnut Hill, Rev. T. H. Feeney, S. J., Weston College, will lecture on "Modern Poetry."

There will be the usual Round Table Group from 10 to 11 o'clock, under the direction of Mrs. Edward McLaughlin. Coffee will be served before the lecture to members and guests as usual.

Judge the value by these facts

Ordinarily the initialing alone on a dozen towels would be $3.50

The towels would sell without initialing at $10 a dozen

NRA

New INITIALED Bath Towels

"West Point" by Martex

$9.50 dozen

These towels are a better quality than we have hitherto been able to offer at this price in our annual Spring sale. They measure 24 by 46 inches. The initial is 3 inches high. The towel is good weight and absorbent, and may be selected in all-white or white with colored borders. Initial worked in green, blue, rose, gold or lavender to match the borders. White towels may also be embroidered in black or red in addition to the colors mentioned above. Fast colors. Face cloths to match, $2.25 a dozen. About 10 days delivery. On sale, third floor.

ORDER BLANK

Please send me .... initialed bath towels .....

Initial ..... Color of Initial .....

Name .....

Address ..... City .....

Cash ( ) Charge ( ) C.O.D. ( )

R. H. STEARNS CO.

For Tweeds

By Annice Brink

MONOGRAMS have swept the country—they pin scarves, buckle gloves, even go on shoe buckles—but one of the smartest ways of displaying your initials is on your wrist. Maggy Rouf, French couturiere, shows her complete approbation of the idea in the photograph above. She wears the bracelet with her own tweeds. And that is a good tip for you, because the slightly massive though not heavy effect of the gold bracelet with silver initials (or vice versa) is perfect with suit or coat. Around a dollar. From a Boston shop; for information phone Annice Brink, Fashion Editor, or write her at the Boston Evening American.

Describing an End Play

By Josephine Culbertson

The difference between the expert and average player was never shown more vividly than on the hand below.

The hand cropped up in a duplicate game and three no-trump was reached with South as the declarer all over the room.

In almost every instance the contract was defeated one or two tricks except at one table where a nationally known star brilliantly failed to adopt the normal line of play. As a result he found the proper finesse and subsequent end-play by which the contract could be fulfilled.

North, Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

	♠AQ108 ♡Q82 ◇K8 ♣Q1053
♠72 ♡K9643 ◇J74 ♣K86	North West East South	♠J543 ♡AJ ◇96532 ♣J9
	♠K96 ♡1075 ◇AQ10 ♣A742

At some tables North opened with a spade, South bid two no-trump and North three. At other tables North passed originally, South bid a club, North a spade, South one notrump and North three.

At every table the opening lead was the fourth best heart. This card was ducked in dummy, East played the Jack and then laid down the Ace.

The nine of clubs was now returned by some Easts—the best defense.

Many South players played low on this lead as their only hope of fulfulling the game contract. West, of course, won the trick with the King and ran three more heart tricks, setting the contract two tricks in all.

Other Souths on the club return were a little wiser. They realized East could not possibly lead away from the club King in such a situation up to the Queen in dummy.

These players were smart enough to go up with the club Ace. They still went down two tricks, however, failing to guess the spade situation and playing for the drop instead of finessing the Jack.

At one table, however, after holding the second heart trick, the East player decided not to return a club since South had opened the bidding with that suit.

He led the fourth best diamond which was won with the King in dummy. South realized he had to tackle the spade suit immediately.

The odds are against the suit breaking three and three and to take four spade tricks either the suit had to break three-three, or the Jack had to be dropped or finessed again.

Since West was marked with five cards in the heart suit originally and East with only two, it seemed likely to South that the East player would be longer in spades.

South consequently decided to take the spade finesse rather than play for the drop, reasoning that the finesse was slightly better than an even chance.

The matter of entries back and forth prevented South from first layinz down a spade from dummy. He led the eight-spot and finessed the first round.

When this card held, three more spade tricks were run, followed by two more diamonds. West had to bare down to two clubs and two hearts.

At the tenth trick South was in his own hand and deciding to play West, the opening leader, for at least one of the club honors, he threw that player in with a lead of the heart ten.

West won with the heart King and cashed another good heart, and then had to lead a club.

He led low to give the declarer a guess, but South correctly decided it was the King which West had guarded so zealously and not the Jack.

He went up with the Queen in dummy and won the last trick with the Ace in his own hand, thus fulfilling a difficult contract.

Menu for Tomorrow

BREAKFAST

Grapefruit
Cereal
Frizzled Ham
Cinnamon Toast
Coffee

LUNCH

Crisp Bacon
Celery and Turnips in Cheese Sauce
Bread and Butter
Cottage Pudding
Chocolate Sauce
Tea

DINNER

Veal Cutlet
Frech Fried Potatoes
Stewed Tomatoes
Lettuce — French Dressing
Bread and Butter
Norwegian Prune Pudding
Coffee

Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

CORRECT MANNERS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. What is the expense of the best man and bridegroom at a wedding?

2. Should the best man give any speeches at the dinner and, if so, what should he say?

3. With Tuxedo suits should the man wear patent leather shoes or will plain leather shoes do?

4. Should they wear gloves?

5. Should the maid of honor wear gloves with a long sleeved dress? READER.

1. The best man bears no expense of the wedding. Of course he sends a wedding present to the bride—but that is all.

These are the expenses of the bridegroom: the engagement ring, the wedding ring, a wedding present to the bride, the bride's bouquet, a bouquet to the bride's mother, and a bouquet to his mother, the marriage license, the fee to the clergyman, the gift to the best man, and to each of the ushers, besides their ties, gloves and boutonnieres.

He also provides the car in which he and his best man come to the ceremony, this car usually being used by the married couple when they leave the church for the reception and when they depart after the reception. He pays also the expenses of the wedding trip.

2. The best man may, if he wishes, propose a toast to the bride and groom. It isn't necessary for him to "make a speech."

3. Low patent leather shoes are worn with Tuxedo suits.

4. No. Gloves are not worn with dinner jackets at a wedding.

5. If the wedding is an informal one, the maid of honor would not wear gloves with her long-sleeved dress.

Spring Shopping With Priscilla Price

Dearest Anne:

What a busy week I've had! I have found some perfectly grand values as well as some very interesting beauty and fashion news! Isn't it exciting just to look in the shop windows and to think we'll be wearing all those lovely new clothes in a week or maybe tomorrow if only "ole" man weather will favor us with more of those balmy spring days. Let's get our spring outfit together right now so we'll be all ready for the next warm, sunshiny day! But here's for our weekly news—first of all if are you—

Worried About Those Grey Hairs?

Of course you are, because there's no getting away from it, grey, streaked hair does make one look years older. Let L. Max, Jr., an expert hair colorist restore the youthful coloring to your hair in one treatment. This master craftsman learned the secrets of hair coloring from his famous father. Ask about his Oil Permanent Machine or Machineless Wave. Consultation free. L. Max, Jr. is at 15 Tremont St., 3rd floor. Tel. Devonshire 7069.

Cleansing Bargains, 17c

Also 3-Hour Cleansing Service

This week is your chance to get all your sweaters, skirts, blouses and hats cleaned—just exactly 17c a piece! Certainly a bargain you can't often find! And if you need your clothes cleaned in a hurry try the Du Pont Tricolene process. It works quickly and excellently. Just 3 hours—and your clothes are ready for you—bright, fresh looking and completely free from "after-cleaning" odor; no removal of buttons; no belts or sashes lost. Original Cleaners and Dyers, 8 Winter St., 4th floor. Tel. Dev. 7398; 59 Temple Place, 7th floor.

And Now Harry Harvey, Who has set the whole town talking about his really different, individual bobs—tells me that he will continue giving his lovely, soft, Permanent Wave at only $3.50 for an 8 o'clock appointment — or $7 other times. You'll have deep natural waves and intriguing ringlet ends! He has the secret of clipping and moulding a girl's hair into a mass of sheer beauty! Harvey cuts you hair—designs an individual wave for you—and supervises all work done by his expert staff. And he charges only $1 for a cut and set! Harvey's Beauty Shop is in Room 804, Dexter Bldg., 453 Washington St. Tel. Devonshire 8032.

Your New Spring Clothes May Bring The Urge To Go Forth and Conquer

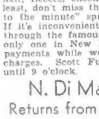
new worlds—and men. But just a word to the wise—men never lose their hearts to lost complexions! So take a good look in the mirror and see how your skin has withstood the final buffeting by March winds. If you find tiny lines around your eyes or mouth —if your skin is dry—then dash right up to Filene's and ask about Vita-Ray Vitamin Cream. With this Vita-Ray Vitamin cream you can bring out beauty you never knew you had by actually rubbing into your skin the healthgiving and beautifying effects of sun ray Vitamin D! Here's how to do it—pat Vita-Ray Vitamin Cream into your skin every night. This miraculous cream contains a minimum of 750 A. D. M. A. units —they are planted there by irradiation—and await to feed through the skin when applied. Then watch your skin come to life! Notice how fresh and glowing it feels and looks. Vita-Ray Vitamin Cream was the only cream admitted to the Basic Science Division of the "Hall of Science" at the great Century of Progress Exposition! Use it for cleansing, nourishing and as a powder base—it's only $1 for a good-sized jar. And if your lips are dry these days try their creamy Vita-Ray Lipstick—comes in grand shades—only $1. You'll find Vita-Ray Vitamin Cream and Lipstick in Filene's Toiletries Shop, street floor.

Watch the Heads Turn As You Pass!

Deep down in her heart every girl cherishes the idea of wearing clothes so smart—so swanky and so flattering that nary a person can resist a second glance. And so—when I saw Scott Furriers new collection of Spring clothes I just had to dash right back to my typewriter to tell you about them. For they're exciting clothes that will make you "proud as all get out." All as individual as the way you do your hair! I've sketched a two-piece frock, beglorified with Scott wolf. It's called the "Flower Song"—its of Matelasse crepe, fresh as a flower with its adorable jabot ripple collar. The individual coat of matelasse crepe with detachable cape of monkey fur is called "Monkey Business"—and very smart monkey business it is—worn with or without the cape. They are $25 each. See their dashing swagger suits priced from $16.75 to $29.75 and up. Sport coats in swagger or fitted models, imported Harris tweed, 100% camel's hair, fleeces, checks, $16.75 to $29.75 and up. And last, but not least, don't miss their stunning spring collection of "right up to the minute" spring fashions priced at $7.77—or two for $14. If it's inconvenient for you to pay cash open a charge account through the famous Scott Unique Payment Plan. Scott Furriers only one in New England—and enjoy small weekly or monthly payments while wearing your purchases. No extra or carrying charges. Scott Furriers Winter Street Store is open evenings until 9 o'clock.

N. Di Mauro Returns from Europe!

with the newest, most exciting coiffure styles of the European Fashion Centers! Di Mauro, you know, is the famed Beauty Artist, whose clever fingers work miracles with your hair, creating flattering, individual hair styles, just for you! Di Mauro's specials include Shampoo and wave, $1; individual hair cut, 50c. Di Mauro's lovely permanent wave, $6. Eugene wave, $5. Zotos machineless wave, $10. The Di Mauro Beauty Salon, Dexter Bldg., 453 Washington Street. Room 1010. Dev. 6717.



Let's Face It!

There's simply no other way, but Electrolysis, in the hands of an expert, such as the well-known Miss Roche, to safely remove your superfluous hair! Modern Multiple Needle Equipment in the gifted hands of Miss Roche works miracles in removing the embarrassing hairs, so that they never return. Miss Roche's prices are no higher than for tedious Single Needle Treatments. Physicians' References. No Consultation Fee. Miss Roche, 26 West Street, Salon 309. Han. 9418.

Mollie Rapport Experience Counts!

Let only an expert remove those superfluous hairs on your face, arms and legs! Mollie Raport is an expert with 17 years' experience in removing superfluous hair perfectly and painlessly. Her clever hands remove each hair, sterilizing the cell to prevent further growth! Mollie Raport knows the praise of former patients and the endorsement of physicians as proof of her exceptional skill. She is also a teacher of Electrolysis. Miss Mollie Rapport is at 125 Tremont St., Room 310. Tel. Hancock 7286.

The Perfect Spring Maternity Dress

is the chic wrap-around model sketched! Note the adorable detachable cape, and button-on Gilet, and slenderizing contour lines! Other specially designed dresses, $6.85 up. CAMP Maternity and After-Maternity Supports and Brassieres scientifically fitted. Recommended by Physicians. Sanders Maternity Shop, 171 Tremont St. Lib. 5684.

Dunn's 'Dizzy Flats' In Peasant Colors, $2

Better clear out your shoe closets, to make way for a flock of "Dizzy Flats," because they're out now, in those "rainbow" Peasant colors! They're daring, but they're darling and I for one simply can't resist the perfectly swell peasant color combinations and the cute squatty heels! Dunn's "Dizzy Flats" come in 15 different shades and several adorable styles, in all sizes! Mail Orders, the Extra. Dunn's is at 85 Summer Street, Boston.

That 'Salon-Cared For' Look

is yours—for a few patient moments each morning and night—and a mere $1 bill! For the grand 31 Dorothy Gray Salon Facial Package is back! If yours is a dry skin, ask for the package that has the special cleansing cream (it's double whipped); the special mixture cream (made up of muscle oil, suppling cream and extra rich cream) and the milder cream of Orange Flower Skin Lotion! For normal or oily skins the Salon Package contains Liquefying Cleansing Cream, Suppling Cream, and Skin texture Lotion, all for $1. A grand chance to become acquainted with the marvelous Dorothy Gray Creams and Lotions at a minimum of expense. Ask for the Salon Facial Package in the Walnut Room on the street floor of R. H. White's. Mail Orders.

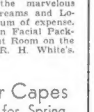
Yvonne Continues Amazing Special!

If you want a delightfully different wave jump at this grand opportunity. Yvonne is continuing this exciting special—her all steam Super-Curline Permanent — no electricity — no pads — it's a Croquignole wave. This steam Permanent actually re-vitalizes your hair! It's specially priced at $5. This price includes a Re-Conditioning Oil Scalp treatment before your permanent! Yvonne's Beauty Studio is at 127 Tremont St., 3rd floor, Opposite Park St. Tel. Dev. 7902.

Smart Fur Capes or Jackets, for Spring

Made From Your Old Fur Coats

are a specialty of Edward's Expert Furriers! Just imagine, they'll make a Fur Cape (any style you wish) for only $7.50. A Jacket for only $15. Edward's will completely remodel your old fur coat into a new 1936 style for $20 or reline it for $8, materials included, and these low prices include FREE summer storage. Edward's Furriers are at 168 Tremont Street. Tel. Dev. 8920.



Tired of Paying for Alterations?

If you have one of those "hard to fit" figures I've a find for you! A shop that really specializes in Little Women's—half, quarter and large sizes. And Mrs. Morse will help you select a dress coat or suit that will do wonders for you. She understands the lines needed for the different figures—and she has unusually good taste in selecting new and smart styles for every type. See 12 to 52. Mrs. Morse, Ideal Shop is on the 9th floor. Opposite elevator, 59 Temple Place.

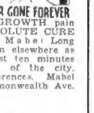
Beware of inexperienced operators removing disfiguring hair. Select only a specialist as expert as Mabel Long, one of Boston's most reliable specialists. She uses the self-tested multiple Needle method, which removes hair faster than any other HAIR GONE FOREVER method. NO REGROWTH, pain or blemish. ABSOLUTE CURE GUARANTEED. Mabel Long charges less elsewhere as her office is just ten minutes from the heart of the city. Physicians' references. Mabel Long, 1288 Commonwealth Ave. Beacon 3333.

Jean Tells Me

she tucks these addresses in her note book so they'll be handy when she needs them in shopping. It's a good idea for services such as I told you about are well worth looking into! Be sure to watch for my letter next week for I promise you even more thrilling fashion notes and values.



Devotedly,

Priscilla Price

Green Salad Called Best Spring Food

By MARTHA LEE

From Martha Lee's Monday Morning Broadcast Over Station WAAB

SPRING is officially here, but the month of March is so capricious we can't decide whether it is just around the corner or not.

One day the hot sun makes us shed our winter coats, but the next day we gladly grab them again. However, the feeling of spring is about. It makes a difference in our meals.

Try this mild salad—a molded egg salad, which was given to us by Miss Katherine Ebert and made at our cooking school last week. The recipe is over 100 years old and will serve 10 or 12 people generously. It is most attractive molded in a loaf pan, garnished with tomatoes and pickles and served as the main part of the meal. Or it can be surrounded by cold meats, such as ham or chicken, to make the piece de resistance of a buffet supper.

AULD SALAD

12 eggs
12 tablespoons cream
12 tablespoons butter
2 teaspoons salt
Small jar pimientos
Pinch red pepper

Boil the eggs gently, until hard-cooked. Put through a ricer. Add the other ingredients and blend well. Place in a bread pan, 3½x7½x2¼, which has been lined with wax paper. Place in ice box for several hours, until hard enough to slice. Slice and serve in individual salads or unmold the loaf on a bed of lettuce. Garnish with tomatoes and pickle slices. Serve with mayonnaise.

This Prune Salad is made of the simplest of ingredients, served attractively by the hostess at the table from the salad bowl will lend an air to any ordinary meal.

ARTILLERY Groups to Meet

Former members of Eighth and 23rd Companies, First Massachusetts Heavy Artillery, will hold a reunion April 4 at the South Armory, Irvington street, in an effort to form a veteran organization.

Members are requested to contact Edward L. Curtis at Boston hold a headquarters for rgservations.

Stories of the Opera

That readers of the Boston Evening American may know the stories of the operas to be presented by the Metropolitan Opera Company at the Boston Opera House during the week of April 1, Ann Almes of this newspaper has prepared and will publish a brief outline of each of the eight operas in the order in which they will be presented. This is the third of the series.

"Lohengrin"

By Richard Wagner

The ancient German epic, "Lohengrin," first engaged the attention of Wagner as operatic material during his residence in Paris in 1838, yet it was not until the spring of 1848 that the orchestration was finished.

Franz Liszt brought it to its first performance at Weimar in the summer of 1850, while the composer was in exile from Germany.

The medieval legend tells of Henry, King of Germany, surnamed the Fowler, and of his arrival at Brabant for the purpose of levying an army.

He finds Brabant in a state of anarchy. Godfrey, young son of the late ruling duke, has disappeared and his beautiful and innocent sister, Elsa, is accused of having drowned him in a forest pool.

Her accusers are her guardian, Frederick, count of Telramund, and his unscrupulous wife, Ortrud.

It is agreed that Elsa's guilt or innocence shall be determined in combat between Frederick and any champion who will defend her.

Judgment is about to be given against her when Lohengrin appears on the river Scheldt, his boat drawn by a single white swan. He undertakes Elsa's defense, on the condition that she never ask his name or origin, and that if he is victorious, she will marry him.

In the ensuing fray, Frederick is wounded, and subsequently deprived of his title and estate.

In the second act preparations are under way for the marriage of Elsa and Lohengrin, while Frederick and Ortrud are plotting their revenge and the recovery of their lost honor.

The scheming Ortrud at last moves Elsa to compassion. Frederick's pardon is promised, and Ortrud slyly suggests that it is unwise of Elsa not to inquire as to the name and origin of her future husband.

As the impressive nuptial procession nears the cathedral, the conspirators reveal themselves. Ortrud opposing Elsa at the door, and Frederick declaring the unknown knight to be a sorcerer.

The marriage takes place, but Elsa, unable to resist Ortrud's evil suggestion, asks her husband the forbidden questions.

While he is trying to allay her suspicions, Frederick enters with drawn sword, but as he is aiming his blow, Lohengrin strikes him dead.

On the following morning with nobles and knights assembled before the king, Lohengrin tells the secret of his origin and presence.

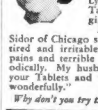
He is the son of Parzival, one of the company of holy knights, and to the Holy Grail he is indebted for his power. But now that his name is revealed, he must leave Brabant forever.

The swan appears to bear him away. The white dove of the Grail hovers over the boat, and when Lohengrin removes a slender golden chain from about the swan's neck, a youth in gleaming silver arises.

"Behold," says Lohengrin, "the Duke of Brabant, your leader!"

The pall of the sorceress, Ortrud, who had changed the youthful Gottfried to a man, is dispelled. The warriors bow before Gottfried in homage, and he is once more declared ruler of Brabant. The grief-stricken Elsa falls lifeless in her brother's arms, as borne by the swan, Lohengrin sorrowfully departs.

TIRED and IRRITABLE



WHO wouldn't be cross when periodic pain was dragging her down? Relieve the pain and discomforts by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Tablets. All druggists sell them.

Mrs. Marion Sidor of Chicago says: "I was very tired and irritable. I had severe pains and terrible headaches periodically. My husband bought me your Tablets and they helped me wonderfully."

Why don't you try them next month?

Lydia E. Pinkham's TABLETS

ADVICE on LOVE by BEATRICE FAIRFAX and NELL BRINKLEY

Find Out Husband's Views First

MEN ALWAYS think that women and servants have nothing to do.

It is absolutely proverbial. They really do think we just sleep and eat all day—while they slave at the office. The following letter is an example.

"DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

"Since I was 15 I have had to take care of myself. I got married when I was 19 and continued working until we had our home complete.

"About a month ago I gave up my job. My husband makes only four dollars a day and doesn't work steadily, but by doing all my own work I manage to get along.

"However, since I left my job my husband acts strangely. The other day he accused me of sleeping all day and loafing around. Also, he has been keeping some of his money to himself, when he knows I really need it. I gave up my job partly because the doctor told me my nerves would be shattered trying to do so much. I haven't any children, as my husband really doesn't want any—although I do.

"Please tell me if it would be advisable to get a divorce. I am only 21 and considered attractive.

MRS. J. B.

I would have it all out with your husband before taking any drastic steps. He probably feels you could have kept on longer with your job, as you need the money, and that there is plenty of time for you to settle down to keeping house and having children.

SIMPLE

By MARIAN MARTIN

Marian Martin convinces us that simplicity is an art.

The shoulder line in one with the soft sleeves which may puff or flare, the gently gathered bodice with the scalloped closing—these do much to make simplicity interesting.

The silk in which the dress, as sketched, was made is of gray enlivened by alternating dots of white and green.

Pattern 8328 may be ordered only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 36 requires 4 yards 60-inch fabric.

Send Fifteen Cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern.

Send your order to Boston American Pattern Department, 232 West 18th street, New York, N. Y.

USED BY MILLIONS FOR 40 YEARS TO end acid indigestion

Stuart's Tablets counteract the acids which make foods disagree. They neutralize chemically in 3 minutes. A blend of calcium carbonate (7 ½ times as efficient as soda) and magnesium, they are safe and harmless. They give positive relief from acidity, sour stomach, heartburn and gas. 25c and 60c—at all drug stores.

DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK

If Stuart's Tablets fail to relieve acidity, we will refund twice what you paid. Simply mail us the empty package. Offer good till March 1.—one package per customer.

A DOCTOR'S FORMULA FOR ACID STOMACH

STUARTS Dyspepsia TABLETS

HER Reason for Not Getting Married . . .

TOO POPULAR!

By Nell Brinkley

An appropriate caption for this lovely Nell Brinkley drawing would be:
"But, alas! alas! for the Woman's fate,
Who has from a mob to choose a mate;
'Tis a strange and painful mystery!
But the more the eggs, the worst the hatch;
The more the fish, the worse the catch;
The more the sparks, the worse the match;
Is a fact in Woman's history."
THOMAS HOOD.

HIGH SCHOOL TRAGEDY

By Maxine Canty

Julie Guards Big Secret

SYNOPSIS

Julie Martin, at 17, becomes an "inside" observer of the police investigation of the murder of her former French teacher, the pretty Constance Sinclair, who had been shot dead in her apartment by a party thus far unknown.

Julie is on the "inside" because after school hours she is office assistant to Principal Perkin. and the latter has detailed her as stenographer for Police Inspector O'Brien, who is busy examining suspects and others.

Among those questioned, or wanted for questioning, are Julie herself and her boy friend, Dicky Ward, who was with her when she returned a pen to "Connie" a few hours before the tragedy.

Also questioned are Mrs. Sardoni, manager of the apartment house in which "Connie" was killed; Principal Perkins, Melvin Wright, the school's "problem boy"; Hym, a Filipino janitor, who had been disch1rged for insolence to "Connie," and who was missing since her death; Bruce Lloyd, her former fiance, who refuses to say where he was on the murder night, and George Carrington, also reported to be a former suitor, who is now married.

The latter seems to have a perfect alibi for the fatal night, but he admits to the police that his wife has been missing since that evening.

Julie's father has become counsel for Lloyd.

The authorities are anxious to get in touch with Mrs. Carrington, as Julie proceeds with her "inside" story:

Mystery Discussed

CHAPTER VII

I smiled and got up to go. The phone on the desk rang. The Inspector talked to someone from his office. When he put up the receiver he said to me:

"Miss Julie, for your good evening's work I'll give you a little advance information. George Carrington has arrived at last. He seems to have a perfect alibi for Thursday night, but he says his wife left him the Sunday before, and he hasn't seen her since!"

Well, I must say that things looked rather bad for Mrs. Carrington the next morning. Even my mother pursed her lips when Dad read about her in the morning paper. Of course, I had said nothing about it to the family the night before as I couldn't betray the trust the Inspector seemed to have in me.

I do not know when anything has thrilled me so much as to think a big, important detective had confided in me, as it were.

I even resisted the impulse to tell the kids at school about it, although it was a struggle, especially when Helen assumed the "I-told-you-so" attitude about Mrs. Carrington.

Most of the girls thought her disappearance satisfied everything; they were ready right then to sentence her. But I had learned from my brief contact with the detective methods of the Inspector not to be sure on mere appearances.

"I don't think," I said, "that her disappearing shows she is guilty. It might be that she was just mad at George for being away all day Sunday."

"And mad at Connie for keeping him," added Helen. "Don't forget that she had a pretty good idea where he was after talking to Connie the week before."

"Maybe she even followed him to St. Joseph!" exclaimed Patsy.

"Well, if she were so murderous, why did she wait until Thursday night to kill her then?" As I asked the question I felt pretty triumphant.

Helen's Version

Helen spoiled it by saying, "Perhaps she's the kind of person who doesn't act impulsively, but broods over things until she gets kind of crazy about them. This is what I think happened: Mrs. Carrington was furious when she left Connie after their row, but she had a long way to drive since they live in Burlingames so by the time she reached home, she decided to see what effect her visit would have before she pounced on George.

"But Sunday he left her again for the whole day practically, and she made up her mind to find out about it. Of course, she probably had to take the train, as he had the car. She may not have arrived here until after dark.

"Perhaps she went to the cafe across the street from Connie's apartment and toyed with her food while she watched for George's car to appear."

As Helen related this her eyes glowed with the excitement of a story teller, and most of the girls listened breathlessly when she went on:

"Then Connie and Mrs. Carrington a husband drove up. You know Connie says something in her letter to him about a scene in the car. I'll bet he made love to her right there, and his wife saw it.

"So she sort of stumbled away in the dark and went somewhere to nurse her wounds. Only, instead of nursing them, she brooded over them until she came back late Thursday night and shot the other woman!"

Warning Bell Rings

"You make it sound like one of those old Biograph movies they drag out and show once in a while," I commented.

The other girls looked at me reproachfully; they had loved it. I must admit it was surprising how much of Helen's melodrama proved true later, though.

Before the could jump all over me for being catty, the warning bell rang. We had to scurry to make our classes. So it was lunch time before we talked again.

Mrs. Carrington was the only topic of conversation. I did not listen too much for I was wondering about the book, and what the Inspector had found out about it.

I did not have to wait long to know. As the five of us came across the street to the high school after lunch, the Inspector came out of the main door. He saw me and waited. Did my heart pound as he called to be in front of all the kids on the grounds! I was simply the cynosure of all eyes as I went to speak to him.

"Well, Miss Julie," he began, "I have talked to Miss Sass and Miss Whelton. They don't seem to know much about the book, except that Miss Sass thinks she remembers seeing it that afternoon just as you do."

He paused a minute. "You have kept all this to yourself?"

"Yes, sir."

"Keep it up, Julie. You may be able to help me. I have an appointment with Mr. Perkins this afternoon after school. If you can find anything to do in the office, you might stick around."

"Yes, sir."

"Perkins seems to be out now. I'll be back. And by the way, did you know that Perkins and Miss Sinclair were friends, outside of school, I mean?"

"No, sir."

"Hm. Miss Whelton says that he called to see her fairly often. Now mind that you are to show me you can keep your eyes open and your ears open and your mouth shut right!"

"Oh, I will, sir!"

He smiled. "Goodbye, Miss Julie."

Trust to Guard

I tried to look nonchalant as I joined the girls at the door, but my heart was pounding inside. To think that the Inspector trusted me enough to tell me the inside dope on the high school teachers! I felt almost solemn about my responsibilities, for I realized that I not only had to guard his trust, but that I might even stumble across the solution of the mystery!

The girls were simply ga-ga naturally and my first job was to throw them off the trail. I just told them he had questioned me some more about the call Dicky and I made on Miss Sinclair. They were quite impressed by my importance I could see; even Helen was respectful to me. We went on into the building, past the principal's office on our way to our lockers. The door burst open, and Mr. Perkins' pale face looked out.

"Miss Martin," he said to me, although he always called me Julie, "I would like to speak to you."

I'll tell anyone who asks that I was scared. For all I knew I might be walking into the murderer's den! It was certain I was walking into the principal's office, and that's enough to sober any high school student. He was very stern and whitar than usual.

"My secretary tells me that Inspector O'Brien was here to see me, and that he is returning this afternoon. As I entered my office from the rear door, I saw him talking to you. Did he say what he wanted?"

My experiences on the case taught me to think fast, although Mother said later she didn't think them very good training in truth telling. So now I just said, "No, sir."

Read in the next instalment how Julie is given title of Miss Watson—remember Sherlock Holmes?

Home Institute

A Room in Harmony

LEARN TO COMBINE FURNITURE STYLES

Choosing furniture to make a room lovely is a little like choosing guests for a successful party. You've got to be somewhat careful how you mix them!

Take that lovely Queen Anne settee your great-grandmother left you—or its modern adaptation that may be bought so inexpensively. What furniture would keep the best company with it? Say a sturdy Seventeenth Century oak chair and carved oak tables? Or would you select graceful adaptations of Eighteenth Century mahogany?

A DELIGHTFUL GROUP

Our picture gives you the answer—and what a charming answer it is! On one side of the settee, a darling little tripod table adapted from a Chippendale design; on the other side, a Federal American drop-leaf sewing-table—practical, yet lovely; and, in the foreground, a ladder-back Chippendale chair that is marvelously decorative. Notice that these three pieces are not in the same design as the Queen Anne love seat. Yet they harmonize perfectly because all have the same general feeling in design and all are in correct proportion. They are particularly effective against their background of scenic wallpaper.

Why would the Seventeenth Century carved oak furniture have been the wrong choice? Because it would have been too heavy and too far removed in its own nature, from the love seat. That modest little piece of furniture would have looked as forlorn as a shy young girl at a boisterous party!

Generally speaking, you can feel safe in combining late Eighteenth Century pieces with those of early Eighteenth or early Nineteenth. Say you want new dining-room chairs to harmonize with a Queen Anne walnut table. Queen Anne chairs of walnut would be perfect. But suppose you just happen on a bargain in ladder-back Chippendale chairs of brown mahogany? Snap them up—they'll be grand, too!

AN AUTHORITATIVE BOOKLET

You see, it gives you an enormous advantage to know the ins and outs of choosing and combining furniture. Our 60-page Home Institute booklet, FURNITURE STYLES, makes it all as clear as A B C. Besides it shows in word and picture suitable wall finishes and hangings for different designs. Here are some of the chapter headings:

Antiques Reproductions
Eighteenth Century Furniture
French Styles Early American
Furniture Terms
Present-day Designs

Our booklet is an authoritative guide when you buy single chairs as well as when you furnish a room, for it brings out the characteristics of important styles and tells how to combine them for beauty and distinction. To order it use the coupon below.

Boston Evening American Home Institute,
109 West 19th St., N. Y. C.

Enclosed find 15 cents for booklet
FURNITURE STYLES

Name .....
(Please print name and address plainly)

Street .....

City and State.....

VITALIZES HAIR TO NEW GROWTH AND BEAUTY

SULPHUR OINTMENT

By JULIET SHELBY

IF YOU WOULD be beautiful, concentrate on acquiring a lovely head of hair.

If, for some reason—illness, adverse climate or lack of attention—your hair is thin and lacking in vitality and lustre, then you must keep your coiffure nicely styled while you encourage the return of your hair to health.

A woman whose hair is alive and lovely with a rich sheen may lack perfect facial features, but still she will be called beautiful.

For a healthy scalp is usually accompanied by a clear, fresh-looking complexion, and these two alone arrest approving eyes.

Let us remember that hair beauty begins with a healthy scalp. For the abrasions, eczematous conditions and irritations that are so likely to accompany excess dandruff rob the hair of all its health.

Clean up that scalp with a simple medicated ointment which contains sulphur—long recognized for its effectiveness in allaying skin and scalp troubles. Full directions come on the jar, and it is a quick-acting efficacious preparation. It does not cost much and it is equally effective for men, women and children.

If you wish to know the name of this sulphur ointment for the scalp call Miss Shelby, Liberty 4000, or write to her at the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for a personal reply.

TECHNIQUE Of Applying MASCARA

Question: What is the proper way of applying mascara? I am not sure that there must be some kind of technique in putting it on, for my winkers always look heavily smeared and artificial when I apply it. Also please tell me if there is such a thing as a tearproof mascara?

DOLLY McV., Dorchester.

Answer: Nothing looks worse than a heavy smear of mascara on eye winkers. Here is the best way of application: Dip the small brush in water, pass over the cake of mascara, place the lashes over the side of the finger, touch them lightly with the brush. Brushing is out of the question. It is all right on the stage, but that is the only place for it. There is a new cream mascara which comes in a tube, and is as nearly tearproof as anything I have seen. Trade names are not mentioned here, so write to me again, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for the name of this product.

By Adele Garrison

Given in Marriage

Mother Graham Discovers a Burglar

CHAPTER 301

AS I MADE my way to the lower floor of the farm house, I found myself listening tensely for any indication that the searchers below had discovered some trace of Junior and Roderick.

At sight of me Lillian came swiftly forward and slipped her arm through mine.

"We're not loafing on the job," she said. "We've combed this lower floor thoroughly, and Katie and Jim are going through the cellar. Then later will take the barn, the garage and every other building, even the chicken coops. We're eliminating, you see, every spot, even the most fantastic, in and around the farm house. Then if we don't find them, it will be time to extend the search further."

"You haven't looked in the bedrooms upstairs?"

SEARCH UPSTAIRS ROOMS

"That's our next move," Lillian said briskly. "We're going to make sure that they haven't hidden in any closet, or perhaps under a bed, for some prank of their peculiar devising, and gone to sleep.

"There's only one person I hate to waken," Lillian went on, and I snapped into attention, for I well knew whom she meant.

"Mother Graham?" I queried, and, at Lillian's asserting nod, I found speech at the prospect of something definite to do.

"She never wakens as early as this," I said, "and as she is somewhat deaf, I am sure I can get into her room without waking her."

"Doesn't she always keep her door locked?" Lillian asked.

"Yes, but there's her closet, through which there's an exit to a similar closet in Mary's room," I said. "I'll slip through there."

"Good!" Lillian answered briskly. "Chief, will you tackle Sam Brixton for me? If I go back there—after what I pulled on him a little while ago—he'll think I'm persecuting him, and he'll shut up like a clam, even if he should have seen the boys. And Hugh, will you take Phil Verizen? I'll tackle the Braithwaites and Edith Fairfax, and that completes the roll."

"I'll go up to mother's room at once," I said, making for the door, vaguely encouraged by the chance to do anything, no matter what, in the search for the boys.

I caught my breath, with an emotion that had nothing to do with the boys, as I stepped into the deserted room which my husband's winsome niece had left as a bride but a few hours before.

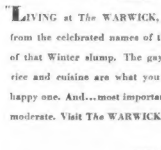
Noiselessly I entered the closet and as silently opened the door into the ample one, almost as large as a dressing room, in which Dicky's august mother keeps her wardrobe. Switching on the light, I looked in every cranny, finding, of course, no trace of the small boys.

I switched off the lamp and cautiously pushed open the door leading from the closet into the room. And then, from behind that door, there reached out an umbrella which gave me a well-directed, though not powerful, whack over the head, and I felt a hand seizing my hair in a tight grip while my mother-in-law's voice shrieked:

"Help! Murder! Police! In my room! Mother Graham!"

(Continued tomorrow)

"A Sure Cure for SPRING FEVER" ...says the Epicure



"is a trip to New York and a stay at THE WARWICK"

"LIVING at The WARWICK, among a clientele drawn from the celebrated names of the world, will pull you out of that Winter slump. The gay atmosphere, excellent service and cuisine are what you need to make your stay a happy one. And....most important...the rates are extremely moderate. Visit The WARWICK in New York this Spring."

ALBERT F. MILLER ... Manager

The Warwick

65 WEST FIFTY-FOURTH STREET...NEW YORK

HOOVER SLAP STARTS BOOM SPREADING

By Associated Press

San Francisco, March 25—Speculation which began to buzz a month ago, when former President Hoover broke a long silence to urge immediate stabilization of the dollar and return to the gold standard, flared high today at his recent outspoken attack on administration policies.

It was pointed out that Mr. Hoover's direct mention of "the administration" as a target of criticism was the first he has made since he left the White House.

Although the talk here quickly jumped to the 1936 presidential campaign, the former chief executive's silence on that point was as firm today as it has been for two years about his personal plans or ambitions.

The impression was obtained from sources close to Mr. Hoover, however, that for the present at least he is far more concerned over policies than over presidencies.

Intimates outline his attitude as being determined, while well aware of the inevitability of political talk attached to any stand he may take, to ignore political aspects as far as possible.

Honest Protest

They describe him as feeling not only qualified but even obligated, through his unique position and experience, to speak his protest against government practices he considers un-American, even dangerous, regardless of whether his views are derided or acclaimed by the majority.

They point to his painstaking preparation of the masses of material for his book, "The Challenge to Liberty," and quote William Allen White's characterization of it as not a political bid for power or restored prestige, but an honest man's patriotic protest against short cuts to economic security."

In his letter to the California Republican Assembly the former President called for rebirth of the Republican party and hurled pointed criticism at the administration.

The week-end political development took another tack when the California Republican assembly disavowed affiliation with the California Junior Republicans who Saturday proposed Governor Frank Merriam as a 1936 Presidential contender.

This action came while many members of the assembly were boosting Mr. Hoover as the 1936 choice.

DISTILLERY Plans Ad Drive

Plans for 1935 were outlined by officials of the American Distilling Company at a meeting of wholesale distributors and salesmen at the Parker House. The meeting was presided over by J. G. Terhebury, Boston district sales manager.

George Opilvie, general sales manager, spoke on the sales policies of the company and said the future never looked brighter than at the present time.

James D. Webb, advertising manager, told the gathering the American Distilling Company is about to launch a consistent newspaper advertising campaign.

Merchandising and sales cooperation were discussed by R. L. Hurst, of J. Stirling Getchell, Inc., advertising counsel.

ITALIANS BEAT Off Ethiopians

Rome, March 25 (INS)—Another clash on the Eastern Somaliland frontier between Italian and Ethiopian troops was reported today, resulting in a new protest by the Italian government.

The report said the Ethiopians were repulsed, leaving a number of dead and wounded. One Italian soldier was killed.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food don't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. At all drug stores. © 1935 C. M. Co.

LEARN to DANCE

Excellent schools listed in Classification 26 in Today's Want Ads.

This Is Life

by ROBERT E. ROGERS

Talking to the gentleman at my left at a public dinner the other evening.

He turned out to be a manager in charge of foreign branches of a great American industrial company, who had spent the last summer in northern Germany, places like Hamburg and Cologne, looking over the plants there.

He spoke rather guardedly but some of his information was rather interesting.

Robert E. Rogers

In one city he was interested to notice that in the public Platz each morning there gathered men to the number, he estimated, of a couple of regiments, who spent an hour before the whistles blew. (If whistles do blow in Germany) going through military exercises. He asked a business friend of his whether this was voluntary or whether it was a duty imposed from above.

The German friend replied that it was entirely voluntary. The city was full of patriotic enthusiasm and crazy over military preparedness. In fact, he said, all Germany is. In fact, he added, if any "incident" were to occur there would probably be an outburst of patriotic and warlike spirit which would be difficult for a government to cope with. Germany is in a bad state of nerves, ready to jump at the drop of a hat. It is not necessarily due to propaganda; it results from the deepest feelings of the German people.

In another city where my acquaintance's company had a big plant an American employe let out the information that the entire cellars of the plant had been made over for war emergencies.

This was done at the command of the Workmen's Council, which in such matters superseded even the ownership of the plant. The plant could be turned into a great underground refuge in case of air raids.

The cellars were fitted with series of air tight and gas tight partitions, places for food supplies, water supplies and all things necessary.

Many Gas Tests

Most interesting was the fact that the great lawns around the building were built in layers—grass on top, then loam, then gravel and charcoal and chemicals, in order that the refugees in the cellars, in case of a gas attack, might breathe filtered and purified air.

In another city he saw letter carriers going about with gas masks in an experimental effort to determine whether it was possible to carry on the ordinary business of life under threat of poison gas.

And in another city he witnessed a dress rehearsal for night protection under wartime conditions. At a prearranged signal all the street lights went out. At another the trandines and business stopped operation. Then all automobile headlights were extinguished.

Electric signs and finally all house lights went dark. Inspection was made and householders whose homes showed a gleam of light were visited and the defects remedied under order.

The impression given by my informant was that Germany was very wide awake, indeed, had made its plans very carefully and was training its people exactly what to do in an emergency to meet the exigencies of modern warfare.

Of the secret offensive preparations, naturally he knew nothing but if such defensive preparations existed it was a fair bet that others existed safely behind the scenes.

Superior

No one ever denied that the German intelligence is superior in matters of technology, in the application of brains to science and engineering, whether in peace or war.

Germany may be expected to have taken advantage of every last lesson taught by the great war and devised a methodical technical system of offence and defence to make use of that knowledge.

It is only in her reading of the psychology of her friends and enemies that Germany inclines to go astray. She has a fatal habit of misreading the motives of her friends and the thought processes of her enemies.

In this case, however, by coming out into the open and offering an accomplished fact to her enemies on the basis of which she seems inclined now to negotiate she seems, for once, to have acted wisely.

A Germany determined upon equality will have to be treated differently than one sulking under the consciousness of inferiority.

By her declaration of a week ago, therefore, Germany may not only have saved herself but actually may have kept the peace of Europe. However fantastic it may sound to those who believe she is aiming at Poland, or Austria, or Russia, it is not impossible.

At least, it seems that the government has a united people behind it, and that is as much a fact as the amount and perfection of its armaments. Neither England or France seems to have such a popular backing which will go the limit in defense of national "honor." Soviet papers please copy.

Multiply the few examples seen by our American business men by some thousands or hundreds of thousands and one realizes that Germany is not acting altogether rashly nor without practical and scientific forethought.

CHARGES Hit Taunton FOOD FIRM

Taunton, March 25—Charges that a Taunton food supply company was formed merely to supply food to the Bristol County Tuberculosis Hospital at Attleboro were made today by County Commissioner Timothy A. Lovett.

The charge came as a special committee investigating expenditures at the hospital, sent out letters to all municipalities of the county for a general meeting.

The commissioners also are trustees of the hospital and each municipality pays its share.

4 Die in Storms

Seattle, Wash., March 25 (AP)—Gales and blizzards swept the mountains of the Pacific Northwest today while residents checked a toll which included four deaths.

Million-Dollar Statler Baby to Fight Boston Will

By Associated Press

Buffalo, N. Y., March 25—Attorneys for the family refused to discuss details of the impending contest of the will of Mrs. Elva Statler Davidson, adopted daughter of the hotel founder who was found dead under mysterious circumstances at Pinehurst, N. C.

They conferred today on plans for the court action.

The will of Mrs. Davidson, filed recently at Carthage, N. C., left most of her estimated $500,000 personal estate to her husband of only two months, H. Bradley Davidson, Jr.

Reported en route to the conference was Mrs. Katherine M. Statler of Tucson, Ariz. She is the widow of Milton Statler and mother of three-year-old Joan Statler, who was made a millionairess by the death of her aunt.

Settlement of court action in January gave Joan $900,000 from a trust set up by the late E. M. Statler for his son, Milton, one of his adopted children. Mrs. Davidson's death increased the child's wealth to $1,275,000 through $125,000 of a trust fund set up in Boston by her and half of the $500,000 trust E. M. Statler created for his daughter.

Mrs. Davidson was found dead in the garage of her Pinehurst home February 27. A coroner's jury verdict was that she died from carbon monoxide poisoning under circumstances unknown.

GIRL INJURED

Miss Charlotte Heichman of 48 Pearl street, Winthrop, was slightly injured today while alighting from a Boston Elevated but at Summer and Arch streets.

BOSTON Jewry to Aid PALESTINE

Boston Jews will be asked to contribute $100,000 toward a national fund to be used in protecting and rehabilitating European Jewry, caught "between the two fires of Naziem and Bolshevism."

The total amount to be raised throughout the country is $3,250,000, and will be sought in a campaign sponsored by the United Jewish Appeal.

Mail Driver Freed

Providence, March 25 (AP)—Howard R. Stevens, of this city, who reported an attempted holdup of the mail truck he was driving in Smithfield, February 5, was given one year probation in federal district court today on a charge of retarding the mails.

SAN DIEGO Fete to Honor MISSIONARIES

By International News Service

San Diego, Cal. March 25—Triumphs of modern progress are to be featured at the California Pacific International Exposition, which opens in May at San Diego.

But those brave padres who penetrated the wilderness of Alta California to establish Christianity therein are not be forgotten.

A plaque honoring Father Junipero Serra, founder of the California Missions, was dedicated at the exposition grounds today by Father James, head of the San Diego Mission of the Franciscan Brotherhood, and will be displayed prominently during the fair.

THE HOUSE of LIEDERMAN INC

The Sign of Value

RUBBER HEELS

attached to

MEN'S — WOMEN'S CHILDREN'S SHOES

14c

- AT ALL OUR STORES
- Free Call and Delivery
- Store in Every Neighborhood

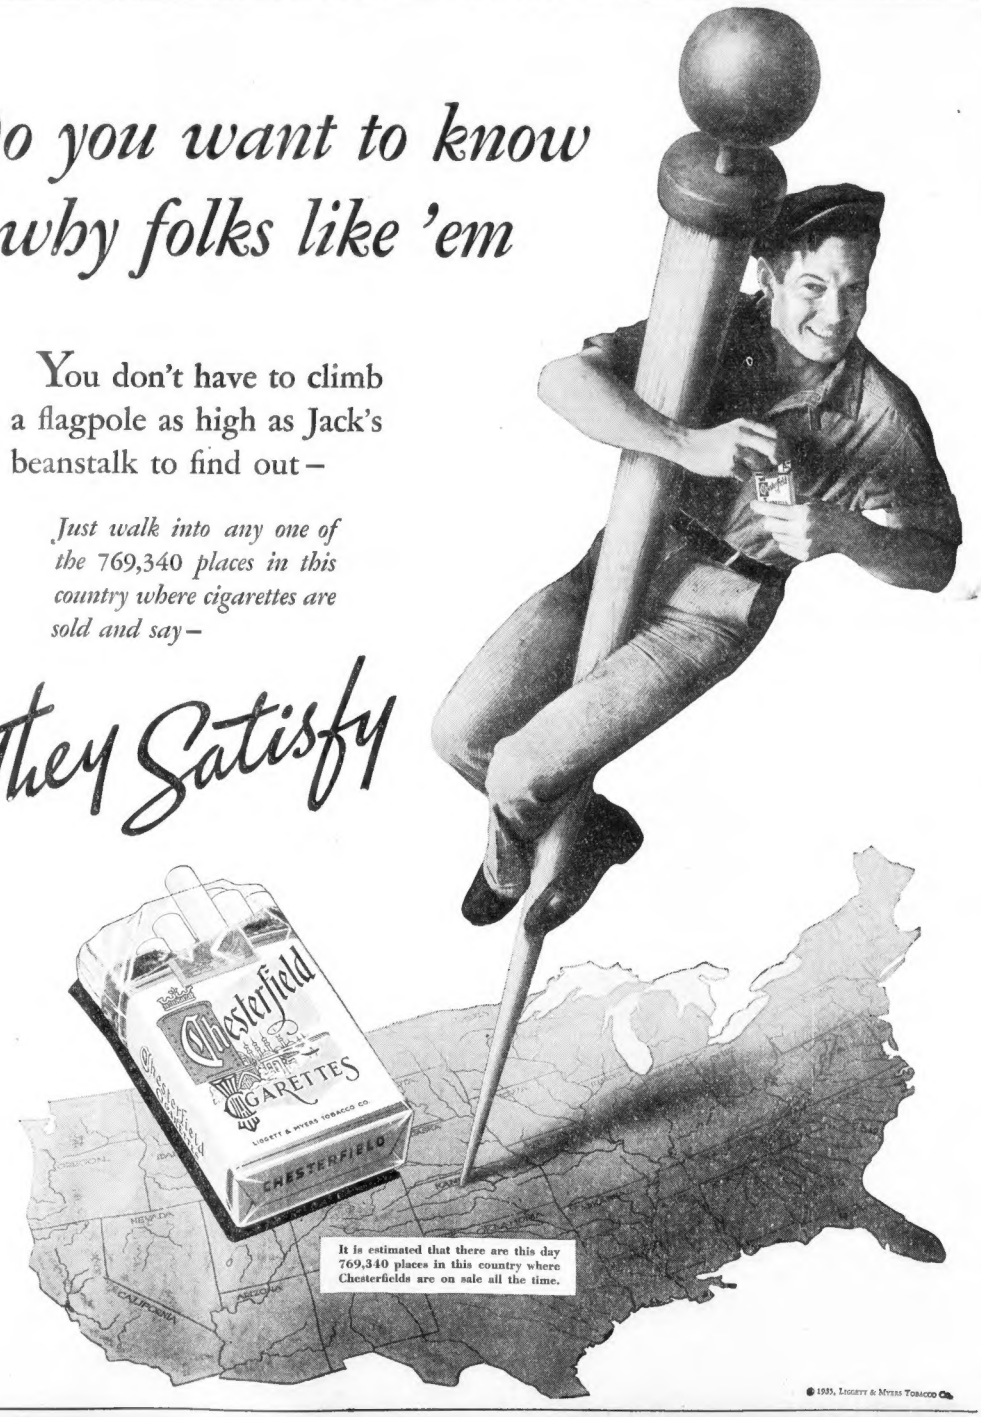
HIGHLANDS 4000

Do you want to know why folks like 'em

You don't have to climb a flagpole as high as Jack's beanstalk to find out—

Just walk into any one of the 769,340 places in this country where cigarettes are sold and say—

They Satisfy



It is estimated that there are this day 769,340 places in this country where Chesterfields are on sale all the time.

© 1935, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

COOK'S HEAD SPLIT IN ICE ROW

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS
NEW ENGLAND'S GREATEST EVENING NEWSPAPER
BOSTON, MONDAY, MARCH 25, 1 [illegible] 11

AUSTEN LAKE on

Boston Salutes Adopted Game Borrowed Players

WELL, MY MANY LOVING CLIENTS, the Boston Bruins charged up the slopes of glory, climbed the ramparts of bliss and all that sort of hallelujah language, which is a manner of reporting that they won the first game for hockey's highest titular bauble in the game's blue banner classic.

Austen Lake

And the Maple Leafs gulped a few quarts of wormwood, tumbled off the crags of despair and mired down in the bog of despond, which is a style of saying that they lost.

For this, Triumph is just a pale, empty word with an ominous sound of a knock to describe the hysterical let-go of the 17,000, scant, Bostonians who burned out so much emotional man-hours while whooping far into Saturday night.

It needs a word not yet invented to describe the home-town fever with which Boston people hailed this game adopted from the Canadians and played by players borrowed from the same source.

Though I suppose it detracts nothing from the charm of the Bruins that they are not natives or residents of the city which they represent, but are recruited from thither and yon in the Provinces to enjoy, as Mr. Art Ross puts it, the increased advantages of professional life

* * *

Much Beloved, Mercenary Artists

IT IS AN ODDITY of vocational sport that Boston fans have become just as devoted to Eddie Shore, the darling of the press coop who came out of Edmonton, Alberta, by way of Vancouver, Manitoba, as they are to Shanty Hogan, the Braves' red, heavy-duty catcher, who was born and raised right in Somerville.

It would be slander to call Shore a tramp athlete, and I would be receiving outraged screams by mail from local hockey bigots if I did, just as the baseball bigots posted me yells when I wrote the plain, nude facts about Babe Ruth's second coming to Boston, the creak of his flamingo legs and the pudding swells of his middle.

So I will not call Eddie Shore a tramp athlete, or imply that he and his journeymen teammates are any less than much beloved, mercenary artists, whose work may be admired as one admires the imported stage performances of George Arliss and Greta Garbo.

Yet the custom of using ringers is still considered a very deprayed custom in some sport circles, like the colleges, who could sue you for saying that they hire farm boys and lumbermen to submit to education for the sake of their crash-proof skulls and their line bucking spines

* * *

The National Stomach Ache

THERE IS A LESSON IN THIS, which the colleges are very loath to concede. That the public will pay to see nothing less than the best in any line of sport, while asking no questions about the origin or qualifications of the athletes.

It is the illusion that leads a fan to attach himself worshipfully to greatness and pinch his nostrils at failure, so that the locker room exits are always choked whenever Babe Ruth or Eddie Shore come out, with folk of all ages and both sexes who wish to receive samples of their penmanship to keep as relics

Your fan does not consecrate his affections to incompetence in sport figures, even though an athlete may be a right-living, earnest husband, loving father and pious ornament in the community.

But he will go into a transport over a hero who can flog, wallop, or grunt harder and louder than any other hero, and declare a holy war in his honor.

Thus Babe Ruth a stomach ache in St. Petersburg is a national stomach ache, and the tourist people who flock around his dressing room, to ask please to be hugged with the imperial arm for a snap shot photo, are from Mishawaka, Ill., or Snellsburg, Ark., and have no closer communion with the hero than that he is a common treasure shared by all the people.

* * *

Sad Saga of Ebony Hero

TWENTY YEARS AGO, a Negro with a barrel chest and dark velvet muscles that rippled under a chocolate skin that was lean as the flank of a Texas steer, was still making boxing history in the ring.

He was Sam Langford, a product of Boston, and one of the prize ring immortals before race prejudice made the Negro almost extinct in an industry that had its origin in the human jungles among the primitive apes.

Today Sam Langford is a pathetic martyr to his honest mistakes in the Neurological Hospital on Welfare Island, without funds, broken physically and blind.

The once incomparable fighting man with the mental equipment of a small, unschooled child, defeated the leading maulers of the world but won only a living death that comes from excessive hammering at the brain centers

* * *

Barnyard Virtuoso

WHEN THE WARM APRIL SUN arrives and nature spreads her grassy carpet, a slim, tawny young man will come drumming into Boston with a trunkful of shiny horse's footwear.

Jimmy Risk is no mere horse-shoe salesman, although he sells a full line of steed's steel slippers. He is the American horse-shoe pitching champion.

Recently at the Sunshine Recreation Center in St. Petersburg, Jimmy gave me a special demonstration of his skill.

Just behind the Braves training grounds, while a gallery of elders, men with sun-creased necks and angular, toiled warped bodies—the farm delegation among the winter tourists—stood around and gaped wonderment, Jimmy tossed ringer after ringer with an easy, negligent flourish.

There was no mystery in the simple ease with which he spun the steel shoes in a one-and-three-quarter turn and looped them over the iron pin, forty feet away. It looked "simple as scratching matches," as a nearby oldster said.

Yet Jimmy is not a farm-raised boy, to whom this barnyard sport inherently belongs. He is a city lad from Minneapolis, who accidentally discovered his gift and made it a profitable life's work.

BRUINS Wait 2d TEST

MEET LEAFS TOMORROW

By Walter Kiley

A feeling of at least temporary security pervaded the Bruins' camp today as the American Division champions anticipated tomorrow night's second and final Boston game with Toronto Maple Leafs at the Garden.

From a Boston standpoint, it is imperative that the Bruins add the second victory before sailing for the alien ice of Toronto for the third and succeeding games which may be necessary.

In contrast to the spirit of the Bruins, the Leafs were a grim determined lot.

They only thought as they rested at the University Club were of manufacturing an excuse for the defeat he sustained when Shore and Clapper combined after more than 40 minutes of actual play to tally a 1-0 victory.

MOTTER O. K.

The winning goal came like a shot from the blue. It was Shore the play maker and Clapper the opportunist who turned the trick.

The Bruins are now favorite to win the playoff series. Yet many followers of the Leafs are willing to wager even money on Toronto.

Manager Patrick's choice of opposing the Boston Bruins-Ace Kilrea-Mc-McKinnon-Ted Graham-Eddie Conacher-Primeau-Jackson combination was based out of well that he has committed himself to its use again tomorrow night.

Motter who on the past week graduated from the Cub league ranks, worked in a scoring role in the first game of the series.

The Bruins were to have one hour practice session at the Garden this afternoon. The new rules did not affect the Bruins.

The week-end rest allowed Eddie Shore and Charley Conacher to get well.

Red Horner Headache Hollett and Ray Thom of the Leafs were reported fit by Dr. Rash, but it is personal opinion.

BROOKLINE Girl Wins TWO MATCHES

Miss Kay Winthrop of Brookline, seeded No. 1 advanced to the semi-finals of the New England women's open tennis championship at the Longwood covered courts this afternoon by virtue of her victories by default over defeated Mrs. Preston by the score of 6-1, 6-2 and then in the afternoon she defeated Miss Frances Kelley by 6-0, 6-0.

Mrs. Rogers Griswold also advanced through the final quarter and rounds with little difficulty. She defeated Miss Nichols Bullen 6-1, 6-1 and then defeated Miss Madden, 6-4, 6-1.

FIRST ROUND

Kay Winthrop defeated Mrs. Preston 6—1, 6—2. Frances Curtis defeated by Frances Kelley, Mrs. Goodrich defeated Polly Morse 6—1, 6—0. Mrs. Rogers Griswold defeated Mrs. Nichols Bullen, 6—1, 6—3. Elsie Madden defeated Mrs. Clark Sidmore, 6—0, 6—0. Virginia Pitts defeated Betty Albers, 6—1, 6—2. Helen Jones defeated Dorthy Wightman, 6—3, 6—2. Mrs. Alfilin Gaertner defeated Mrs. Leighton Bryant, 6—0, 6—0. Mrs. J. F. Bryant defeated Katherine Hubbell, 6—3, 6—2.

SECOND ROUND

Kay Winthrop defeated Frances Kelley, 6—0, 6—0. Mrs. Rogers Griswold defeated Elsie Madden, 6—3, 6—3.

Can-Am League

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS

Boston 4, Quebec 3.
New Haven 3, Providence 0.

	Goals
	W	L	T	Pts	For	Ag
BOSTON....	29	13	6	64	185	125
Quebec	23	19	6	52	141	124
Providence..	19	17	12	50	134	144
New Haven	16	23	9	41	125	145
Philadelphia	15	30	3	33	123	160

JOE CRONIN — EDDIE COLLINS — TOM YAWKEY

Joe Cronin manager [illegible] tender congratulations of Eddie Collins [illegible] owner Tom Yawkey, [illegible] business manager of the

OLYMPICS To Cost U. S. $300,000

By Associated Press

[illegible]

Tribe Tackles Sox Again

[illegible]

B. U. PILOT

Captain Dick [illegible] of Boston [illegible] he [illegible] Terriers [illegible] he [illegible] workout at [illegible] practice now going on at Nickerson Field.

"I went right home and took a bottle (a bottle mind you), not a spoonful of castor oil. That'll fix all the pneumonia poisoning in the world."

[illegible]

XAVIER WINS Catholic Title

[illegible]

Baseball Results

[illegible]

Games Today

[illegible]

Boxing Result

London — Freddie Miller, Cincinnati world featherweight title claimant, knocked out Harry Brooks, London, six rounds,

BACK TODAY

BILL URBANSKI

Playoffs

[illegible]

Tickets on Sale at Noon Today

By Walter Kiley

Approximately 3800 tickets for tomorrow night's second game of the championship series between the Bruins and the Leafs go on sale at the Garden starting at noon today.

[illegible]

MAKO BIDS For Net Berth

[illegible]

HOOP ENTRIES Close April 1

[illegible]

Ten-Mile Run

[illegible]

RED SOX OWNER WELCOMED TO CAMP

HERO Of Rangers WIN

RETURNS TO ICE TO BEAT FOES

By Lewis Burton
Universal Service Staff Correspondent

New York, March 25—Badly gored during the wildest free-for-all in 20 years of Stanley Cup competition, the old master, Bill Cook, returned to the warfare and gave the Rangers a 2-1 lead over Les Canadiens in the first half of their play-off series at Madison Square Garden.

[illegible] Bill Cook [illegible] free-for-[illegible] [illegible] spread over [illegible]

[illegible] Crutchfield [illegible] captain [illegible] [illegible] Lowing [illegible] face [illegible] South [illegible] from the [illegible] the [illegible]

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [

RED ENSIGN TOP CHOICE

Mr. Boston Danno Hires Boxers

By Jack Conway

DAN O'Mahoney Jr., heavyweight wrestling champion, reversed the procedure of Jack Dempsey when he hired Freddie Morris to stick a couple of beers to help get him ambition for his fights best, best two falls out of three with George Zaharias at ... on Friday ...

When Dempsey ... over all opponents in the ring, he always had a few ...

Mr. Boston

I think Turner, Walker, Fred Carpenter, Gibbons and Wills will agree the Old Timer could always lean back on his cosh-up waltz ...

• • •

DANNO'S PUNCH

O'MAHONEY'S new ... partners will tell ... a wallop ... right hard ... Dempsey and Sharkey both have had to induce the youthful Celt to start wrestling for a living.

They argue that any body who can punch as hard as Danno would prove a sensation in the boxing game.

The Irish champion, however, intends to remain a wrestler until he has won the world title. He may then elect to go gunning for Max Baer.

O'Mahoney has given the order for boxers on account of George Zaharias' reputation as a rough type of grappler.

Zaharias was recently disqualified in his bout with Ed Don George for the alleged use of the strangle hold after he had secured a fall.

Zaharias is the king of the current bad men, and will give O'Mahoney serious opposition.

Danno opens ... Chicago tonight and Body ... in St. Louis ... tomorrow night. ... then comes here to ... with Zaharias.

• • •

LOU HOME

LOU Brouillard and Johnny Buckley, his ... home after a successful trip to California. Brouillard took ... best middleweight ... and was all ...

Buckley gave the ... in Madison Square ... Pittsburgh on April ...

"I am also prepared to match Brouillard with Al McCoy, provided the latter makes a reasonable weight," said Buckley.

McCoy has weighed in at 175 pounds in his recent bouts while Brouillard has been built ... 158 pounds.

• • •

McCoy will not be ... boxing ... for a month ... the operation he had ... his left arm following ... of Bob Godwin at the ...

Al also opened ... training for the ... a run down on the ... Pop intends to ... Al before sending ... Felix Wade.

McCoy has the ... a spankie of a ... gloves with each ... go a long way.

• • •

BASKETBALL

THE Snider ... another fling at ... Arena tonight. ... Renaissance ... world's colored champions, meeting the ... Malden ... League All-Stars. ... brings together some of the best ... basketball players in the East.

In another game ... City club will oppose the New York Violets. Bill Green of the ... New York University ... in the lineup of the New York Violets.

Basketball has drawn exceptionally large crowds in the New York Garden this season, but has not clicked properly in this city.

Tonight's game may start an upward trend.

• • •

RANDOM SHOTS

Dan Carroll says Tony Shucco will be prepared to step into action with Al McCoy the middle of next month . . . Dan says the horses didn't run to form at the Florida tracks . . . Sammy Fuller will resume training in a few days and will be prepared to box in ... as with the best of the 158-pounders . . .

The official ... court ... Joe Louis ... Primo Carnera for a Milk Fund ... in New York on July 13 ... is to be published ... Wednesday . . . signing of Pa... scheduled for a June ... but ... in this country in May . . . The Ambers-Rose bout is ... set up for June 5, with a New York setting, as revealed in ... column . . . With Rose and McLarnin to meet in September.

CONQUERING HEROES COME HOME

ELEANOR BUCKLEY MRS. LOU BROUILLARD LOU BROUILLARD

MRS. JOHN BUCKLEY JOHN BUCKLEY JACKIE BUCKLEY JOE BESTON

... Major ... Buckley and Boston ... arrived ... by the courtesy of the ... Packard ... factory ...

WILSON'S Bet in 1st at TROPICAL

DARK VIVE CONTENDER

By Dave Wilson

BEST—RED ENSIGN

Tropical Park, Fla., March 25—If Red Ensign is ever going to win a race it should happen in the six furlongs of the opening number here tomorrow afternoon.

FIRST RACE

Red Ensign, Dark Vive, Bo Shy

RED ENSIGN is a highly regarded maiden and a right at the top. The first son of Cycle will be opposed by an indifferent lot of maidens and needs only little urging in order to earn brackets. DARK VIVE and BE SHY are the main dangers. They are rated as named.

SECOND RACE

Flight of Gold, Chicle Ship, Dandy Jay

FLIGHT OF GOLD seems all over a winner under the weight allowance. CHICLE SHIP has shown excellent seconds to recommend him to the money in front. DANDY JAY was a short priced favorite last time out.

THIRD RACE

Judge Schilling, Knights Hope, Squeeze Out

JUDGE SCHILLING has gone back a long ways in the betting, but he still retains enough of his former class to head a cheap field. KNIGHTS HOPE is a vanity improved. SQUEEZE OUT ... a chance ...

FOURTH RACE

TRAINED LADY, PLAYFUL TOUR, TWO EDGED

... Lad ... a good one ... the ... but ... possesses ... TRAINED LADY and TWO EDGED ... a chance ...

FIFTH RACE

DANISH FEAR, RECOVERY, CHULGA

... Danish Fear ... a good one ... the ... Pride of Wild ... over this same route. RECOVERY is an erratic sort, but on best form she shapes up dangerous. Chiuga is a stronger possibility.

SIXTH RACE

CHIEF A, MEROVECH, ALKALI

CHIEF A, off general form, figures to experience little difficulty in handling a field of this caliber. MEROVECH is dropping down. ALKALI was a "red hot" ... up last trip.

SEVENTH RACE

KIBITZER, CABACHON, SLEEPY JOE

KIBITZER is strictly ... of this ... for ... question of ... CHON may ... the entire pot if the top one fails to run his race. SLEEPY JOE may ... a ...

RABBIT PLAYS RINGMASTER

DIZZY DEAN RABBIT MARANVILLE

Until Rabbit's leg injury took him out of National League games a last year Dizzy had the luck against the Tribe. Rab takes him out of beating the Braves time after time. Now Rab's back in action and here he shows his stuff to master. Maybe he may wear a ... of the great Carolina ... year.

HOOP Treat TONIGHT

By Bob Ahearn

It's the Renaissance, world's colored champions, against the pick of the American Pro League, and the Malden City Club against Sid Gross and his N. Y. U. Violets.

That's the attractive basketball doubleheader listed for this ... Arena court.

... will be Clarence ... Pinow Dicks, Tarzan Cooper, Jimmy Hill, Willie Smith, Bill Yancey and Eugene ... Smith.

In the All Star setup will be Carl Johnson, Brooklyn Visitations, Chif Anderson, Jersey City Reds, ... Begovich, New York Jewels, Al Kellett, Boston Trojans, Harry ... Saint, George Senft, ... Jewels, and Moe ...

... will be ... N.Y.U.'s ...

... Tufts captain last season, Johnny Messina, Bud Buckley, Frank Lucas, Bob Smith.

Vic Karlson will officiate. Announcer-All Star coach, while ... Coach Howard ...

Lineups at Arena

RENAISSANCE ALL-STARS

Ricks, rf ... lg, Frankel
Yancey or Holt, lf ... rg, Russell (Capt.)
Cooper, c ... c, Begovich or Kellett
Jenkins (Capt.) lg ... rf, Johnson or Slott
Hill or Smith, rg ... lf, Anderson

Officials, Will Barlow, Jerry ... (Union permit).

Preliminary game — Malden City Club vs. N. Y. U. Violets.

SCRATCHES

AT HOT SPRINGS

3—Singing River, Double Nugget.
5—Mary Francine, Proud Princess, Hey Flirt, Marcella Agnes.
6—Lady Oldham.
7—The Trainer.
8—Declared Off.

AT TROPICAL PARK

1—Inlet, Befitting, Little Argo, Lady Laura, Masked Revue, True Charm.
2—Some Boy, Krona, Some Scout, Abaseboard, Woodway, Engelle Monk.
4—Amusing.
6—Scotch Queen, Masked Queen.
7—Cudgeldoe, Morning Fair, Kibitzer.

Weather clear, Track fast.

120 Start Football At Heights

Boston College opens its spring football practice this afternoon at ... with a squad ... candidates ... the first day of ... last year when 86 hopefuls greeted Joe McKenney now assistant physical director of the Boston public schools.

Despite the fact that eleven men will be lost by graduation, McNamara is confident he can mould a powerful eleven for next fall's campaign.

Fordham and Michigan State face the Eagles early in the season, and five Eastern games with B. C., Western Maryland and Holy Cross will give the new coach ample competition next fall.

One great difficulty confronts Denny, and that is the fact that he, the most part he will be forced to handle the lines vacated by ... of Boston ... Ed Healey ... Ed Connolly, Casey ... Owen ... and Tom ... at Boston ...

FALL RIVER OUT Of Soccer Play

... March 25 ... Fall River ... Rangers ... Pawtucket ... Providence ... Bedford ... Boston ... Worcester ... Hartford ... Brooklyn ... Newark ... Philadelphia ... Baltimore ... Buffalo ... New York ...

Soccer Results

NATIONAL CUP SEMI-FINAL

New England League
... Rangers 2, Brooklyn F. C. 1

NATIONAL AMATEUR CUP

Eastern Semi-Finals
... Rovers 2, St. Mathews 1
Lindsay and District League ... Bower Hill Comets 0
... Bog Irish 5, Bird & Son 2.

LANCASHIRE LEAGUE

Second Division
... Caernarvon 6, Nelson 3.

NATIONAL CUP

Western Final
... Rovers 3, Burnley 1.

CENTRAL MASSACHUSETTS LEAGUE

Division Semi-Finals
... Worcester Wanderers 3, South Worcester ...

OTHER GAMES

... Boston 5, Newark German Americans ...
... Union 3, New York Americans 1.
... Brooklyn Hispanos 2, Fellers 0.

N. U. WRESTLING To Be Held Thursday

Northeastern grapplers will hold ... four-man ... of ... Thursday ...

MIDSHIPMEN ON LEAVE

... International News Photograph Service ... Navy's ... stars working out at Annapolis for ... preparation for a busy season.

$10,000 RACE At Bay Meadows SATURDAY

Bay Meadows, Cal., March 25 (AP)—The $25,000 Bay Meadows Handicap over ... top money stowed away by the champion ... muddler, Red Pool, ... the spring meeting ... carried today ... the $10,000 Calif... Derby next ... Saturday.

Pool ... been nominated for the ... Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Mason's Demon ... has shown high among the first ... nine.

The temperamental Head Play, winner of the Preakness, also ... named by Mr. and Mrs. Mason's favorite role Saturday, when he pounded through mud to win by three ... a bid ... Entry was 2 over a nine ... card.

The Supply ... Bay Meadows Handicap ... was scratched and Gaelic ...

Women's Tennis Starts Today

Dorothy Wishon ... to clash with Helen ... and Orrie ... amateur ... Mattie ... in the opening round of the ... New England ... Club ... Boston ... Katherine ... was ... No. 1 ... Margaret ... No. 2 ... Lois ... No. 3 and Hilda ... No. 4 ...

OUTDOOR TRACK Starts at B. C.

The outdoor track season of Boston College gets under way today with Coach Jack Ryder's Eagle runners due to start their first workout on the cinder track at University Heights.

The B. C. trackmen have had a special track to set up after the ... rains ... the ... season ... and ... Ryder ... supplied ... Alex ... Boston ... on the ... oval.

FIGURE SKATING FIXTURE HERE

DRAWS 18,000 IN 2 NIGHTS

By Bill Connell

Skyrocketing from minor rating to headline importance in a few years, figure skating in Boston has anchored itself among major sports.

The Skating Club of Boston ... carnival at the Arena last Friday and Saturday nights again proved this point. Close to 18,000 fans, two runaway crowds with standing room at a premium, attended.

A ... of the Country ... Boston ... box office ... Most ... among the first ... the ... and ... with ... of its ...

HOCKEY ON, TOO

Some 36,000 ... to the statistical mind ... been seeing as ... of the ... to hockey ... of ... Arena ... Friday ... Saturday ... Tuesday ... with ... Boston ... Garden ... Arena ... two ... to the ... without ... a ... Arena ...

The ... as a whole ... a tribute to the ... efforts of the Skating Club ...

WORLD GLORY

As always ... foreigners with ... their ... to ... finish ... performances ... the large share of the ... American ... professional ... Mr. and Mrs. Willy ... Frank ... the ... Lucy ... and ... Rogers ... Jacques ... Arthur ... Rogers ... Jane ... Rogers ... Jane ... Rogers ... Jane

SOX TICKLE COLLINS

CHIEF Lauds CRONIN

GROVE KEY MAN OF CLUB

By Joe Cashman

Sarasota, Fla., March 25—Tom Yawkey and Eddie Collins came, saw and are content. So, after the second Red Sox-Braves game this afternoon, the Fenway executives head back northward.

In other words, it has taken Manager Joe Cronin only five days to convince his bosses that all's well with the Sox.

"Joe has exceeded our fondest expectations," Collins told us, "I felt he was a manager in a million when he was at Washington I find since coming here that I underrated his ability.

"In all my years in baseball I've never found a more ideal atmosphere around a training camp or more harmony, confidence and haste in the playing ranks than I've encountered here.

"Joe has performed miracles I didn't believe possible.

"Take the case of 'Dusty' Cooke for instance. I became so 'hot' watching him waste so much natural ability either because of an inferiority complex or sheer indifference, that I had him on the carpet more than once trying to snap him out of it.

"It was merely a waste of breath I couldn't wake him up.

"Look at him now. He gallops all over the outfield, laces the ball to all corners of the lot, knocks down everybody who gets in his way going around the bases."

MAX BISHOP

"I don't know how Joe does it I don't care, either. I'm interested in results, and he's certainly producing. If there's anything wrong with the Red Sox this year, it won't be the managing."

It's the improvement in the morale of the club that's tickled Joe most but he's quite elated at the showing [illegible] cripples and castoffs of the new talent.

"Bishop, to my mind, is now the best second baseman in the league outside of Gehringer. I've seen him pull off plays down here that he hasn't been able to make in five years. I wouldn't trade him today for Melillo and my pick of any other Brown.

"Dahlgren is second to none as a defensive first baseman. I'm not concerned over his hitting. If he hits well and good; if not, we have enough other offensive strength to carry him along.

"Our infield, outfield, and catching will leave nothing to be desired. Our only problem, as Cronin has frequently stated, is pitching.

MEET BRAVES

"That, of course, means Grove Ferrell is great. So is Walberg Rhodes, Welch and Ostermueller should have their best season under Cronin.

"Johnson and Pigeras can't be of less help than last season and may be more helpful. Old Mose is the problem. It's up to him whether we have a good or a great staff.

"I've watched him closely and I'm greatly encouraged. He's far from being his old self yet, but I'm sure he's on the way.

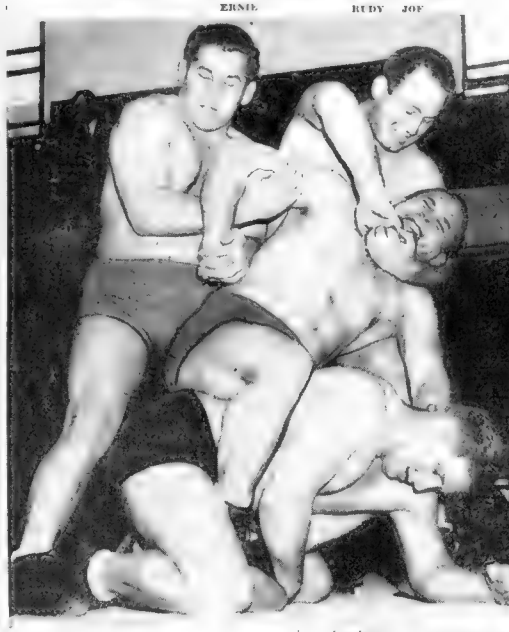
"He's anxious to throw, a sure sign his arm is strong, loose and free of any soreness. He's happy, I'm confident he'll come through.

"And if he does, don't bet against the Red Sox being in the next World's Series."

In an effort to start the Boston end of the exhibition series two games up, Cronin planned to toss Lefty Ostermueller and Johnny Welch against the Braves today.

DUSEKS' SONG AT TWILIGHT

ERNIE RUDY JOE



EMIL

Dusek [illegible] Braves. That's Ernie on bottom of pile. He means [illegible] Kenworthy [illegible] Manager Dannie's pal Rudy, can't be decent even at home. Sees [illegible] Joe has a surf board role on Pacific coast. Emil was a Cincy star in Rudy. The curse is Duseks aren't home very often and when they are Mrs. Dusek comes they weren't. Imagine her cropping weeds and [illegible] the furniture to pieces.

TODAY'S RADIO TIMETABLE OF PROGRAMS—MONDAY, MARCH 25

5:00	Radio Theatre Guild		Baseball School	Adventure Hour	Melodrama	Variety Musicale	5:00
5:15	Tom Mix	N. E. Agriculture	Dixie Revelers	Skippo	Ann Donovan, songs	Variety Musicale	5:15
5:30	Alice in Orchestralia	Singing Lady	Jack Armstrong	Alabama Aces	Melody Moser		5:30
5:45	Stamp Club	Orphan Annie	Tanker Singers	Dick Tracy	American Legion, talk	Robbins Music	5:45
6:00	Tattler" Whitman	Ray Jones, songs		Buck Rogers	Dance Gems	Variety Fiddle Band	6:00
6:15	Tattler" Whitman	Air Adventures	Melody Limited	Bobby Benson	Al Pinsotti talk	Ralph Noland songs	6:15
6:30	Health Talk	Press Radio News	Lum and Abner	The Shadow"	Italian Radio Revue	"State House Today"	6:30
6:45	Desert Kid	Lowell Thomas	Dale Wimbrow, songs	The Shadow"	Italian Radio Revue	To Be Announced	6:45
7:00	Studio Chorus	Amos n Andy	Meet and Mingle		Adventure in Music	Melody Music	7:00
7:15	The Black Chamber	Plantation Echoes	Just Plain Bill	Fisher's Music	Adventures in Music	Radio Theatre	7:15
7:30	Vitex Dinner Revue	Red Davis	Francine Whalers	Musket Ballbook	Jimmie Buckner comedy	Sonata Music	7:30
7:45	Uncle Ezra	Jamesious Paradise	Rouke Carter	Williams' Music	Jimmie Buckner comedy	Dramatization	7:45
8:00	Jumbers a Music	Jan Garber Music	Diane's Life Saver	Baker Mixed Quartet	Irish Minstrels
8:15	Hombes's Music	Jan Garber Music	Edwin C. Hill	College Home Series	Stewart Tea
8:30	Nelson Eddy	Carefree Caravan	Kate Smith's Revue	Discovery Night	Detective Mysteries
8:45	Nelson Eddy	Carefree Carnival	Kate Smith's Revue	Discovery Night	Detective Mysteries
9:00	Horlick's Gypsies	Minstrel Show	Lucrezia Bori	Discovery Night	Penn Concert Band
9:15	Horlick's Gypsies	Minstrel Show	Lucrezia Bori	Discovery Night	Penn Concert Band
9:30	Music at Haydns	Dramatic Players	Lud Gluskin's Music	Davis Music	Voice and the Violin
9:45	Music at Haydns	Dramatic Players	Lud Gluskin's Music		Voice and the Violin
10:00	Lullaby Lady	Jackie Heller songs	Corn Cob Pipe Club	Wayne King Music	Masonic Music
10:15	Lullaby Lady	Clark's Serenaders	Corn Cob Pipe Club	Wayne King Music	Masonic Music
10:30	Beauty Program	Rosa Music	Artists Bureau Show	Kennard's Music	Fessenden Music
10:45	Hawaiian Music	Greek Program	Artists Bureau Show	Kennard's Music	Fessenden Music
11:00	Weather Reports	Weather Reports		Contract Bridge	Musicana
11:15	Organ Tones	Hutton's Music	Davis Music	Gray's Music	Musicana
11:30	Myer's Music	Ink Spots, quartet	Imperial Valley	Arnheim's Music	Schumann's Music
11:45	Myer's Music	Coburn's Music	Murphy's Music	Arnheim's Music	Schumann's Music
12:00	Bryant's Music	Shandor, violinist	Pansen's Music		Miller's Music
12:15	Bryant's Music	Jarrett's Music	Pansen's Music		Miller's Music
12:30	Kassell's Music	Dance Music	Kaye's Music		Day's End organ

590 K—WEEI—508 M 990 K—WBZ—303 M 1230 K—WNAC—244 M 1410 K—WAAB—213 E. 1500 K—WMEX—199.9 M 830 K—WHDH—361 M

Selected Radio Short Wave Slate

Time E S M	Location	Meters
1 00 5 30	GSA—London	31.55
1 30 6 00	2RO—Rome	25.40
2 00 2 15	HJY—Vatican	50.21
2 00 6 00	HAS—Berlin	31.38
3 00 5 00	RV15—Moscow	50.00
1 00 5 00	FYA—Paris	25.64
5 30 7 00	EAQ—Madrid	30.43

Time Slants for Europe

TOMORROW'S TIMETABLE OF PROGRAMS—TUESDAY, MARCH 26

590 K—WEEI—508 M. 990 K—WBZ—303 M 1230 K—WNAC—244M 1410 K—WAAB—213 M 1500 K—WMEX—199.9 M 820 K WHDH—361 M

8:30	Musical Interlude	Farmer's Almanac	The Panama Club	Organ Music		Slim Bradford songs	8:30
8:45	Musical Interlude	Landt Trio White	John Metcalf, hymns	Phantom Fingers		Mert-Van Harmony	8:45
9:00	Clothes Institute	Breakfast Club	Coffee Daughnuts	Recordings	Morning Melodies	Musical Review	9:00
9:15	Home Maker's Council	Breakfast Club	Happy Days Revue	Recordings	Morning Melodies	Organ Tones	9:15
9:30	Home Maker's Council	Breakfast Club	Happy Days Revue	Recordings	Daily Inspirations	Press Radio News	9:30
9:45	The Wife Saver	Breakfast Club	Happy Days Revue	Recordings	Italian Radio Review	Dorcas Talk	9:45
10:00	Press Radio News	Smackout, comedy	Cooking School	The Mac Masters	Orchestral Hall	Uncle Pete Junior	10:00
10:15	Clara Lu and Em	Ed McHugh, songs	Cooking School	Song A bum	Orchestral Hall	Dorie Alvarez songs	10:15
10:30	Morning Parade	Today's Children	Francine Bachelors	Fulton's Music	Record ups	Fishermen's Broadcast	10:30
10:45	Morning Parade	Press Radio News	Dental Chats	Health Talk	Recordings	Down to the Sea	10:45
11:00	Friendly Arthen	Honeymooners	Rhythm Bandbox	Annie Brink Fashions	Bridge Talk	Ital. Radio Program	11:00
11:15	Toni Child	Jerry Wen	Current Questions	Recordings	Danny Cavanaugh	Ital. Radio Program	11:15
11:30	Organ Music	U S Marine Band	U S. Navy Band	Recordings	Cooking Club	Ensemble Music	11:30
11:45	U can Music	U S Marine Band	Real Life Stories	Recordings	Luncheon Music	Farm-Garden Chat	11:45
12:00	Marie Marbo Drama	Weather Reports	Voice of Experience	Organ Music	Mountain Music	Robbins Music	12:00
12:15	Honeyboy-Sassafras	Farmer's Almanac	The Gumps	Lenten Service	The Melodeers	Press Music	12:15
12:30	Stock Quotations	Farm-Home Hour	Five Star Jones	Lenten Service	Music-Nonsense	Vincent's Music	12:30
12:45	Cabot and Castillo	Farm Home Hour	Recordings	Romance Trail	Music-Nonsense	Ferry Boat Dan	12:45
1:00	Cabot and Castillo	Farm Home Hour	Recordings	La Rosa Program	Organ Tones	Luncheon Ensemble	1:00
1:15	Duffy's Music	Farm Home Hour	Radio Gossip Club	La Rosa Program	John Ford Lecture	Meehan's Music	1:15
1:30	Health Review	N E Agriculture		Farm Garden Chat	Sid Shaw, songs	Manhattan Band	1:30
1:45	Music Guild	Ray Jones songs	Pat Kennedy Songs	String Ensemble	Organ Tones	Manhattan Band	1:45
2:00	Food Institute	Boston Hour Show	French Princess	Yankee Quartet	Chelsea ERA Band	Jane Junker's Music	2:00
2:15	Music Guild	Paradise Islanders	Helen Trent Romance	Carmen's Music	Chelsea ERA Band	Humbert's Music	2:15
2:30	Golden Melodies	Cooking School	School of the Air	Don Van Wart piano	Lone Star Texans	Range Riders	2:30
2:45	Meddens Cook	Cooking School	School of the Air		Lone Star Texans	Church of the Air	2:45
3:00	Vic and Sade	Rhymes Cadences	Variety Hour	ERA Musical Program	"Burning Pages"	Helen Sullivan, piano	3:00
3:15	Ma Perkins	Parent Teacher	Variety Hour	ERA Musical Program	"I Investigate"	Norma Scott, songs	3:15

RULES REVIEWED IN RUTH TEST

By BILL CONNELL

A review of the Braves Babe Ruth Identity Test features is unfurled for the thousands of contestants today.

With so large a field competing for the 250 pairs of free tickets for opening day at Braves Field on April 16, when Braves tackle Giants, many questions have come up regarding the Test.

A number of contestants asked if the names of players in the Test be repeated. So here they are:

Outfielders: Babe Ruth, Joe Mowry, Walter Berger, Randy Moore.

Infielders: Elbiri Fletcher, Buck Jordan, Rabbit Maranville, Bill Urbanski, Pinky Whitney.

Pitchers: Huck Betts, Ed Brandt, Bobby Brown, Ben Cantwell, Fred Frankhouse, Leo Mangum, Flint Rhem, Bobby Smith.

Catchers: Frank Hogan, Al Spohrer, Frank Garrity.

Many have asked whether Ruth for example, should be identified as a pitcher or outfielder. Or whether Randy Moore should be identified as outfielder, infielder, or utility.

In the case of Ruth, "outfielder" is right for 1935. As for Moore, the [illegible] fielder or "outfielder" would be correct. So with other players who worked at two or more positions.

Rules are simple and a rule of thumb was to appear a pair of the reserved tickets for the Braves-Giants N. L. how at the Tepee.

All are eligible, excepting employes of the Boston American and Sunday Advertiser and their relatives.

Read the rules carefully and follow this contest daily in these pages.

The rules:

No. 1—Identify a partially masked picture of a Braves player, starting March 11, each weekday for 20 days. The 14th picture appears in these pages today. Print name of player position, and whether he bats and throws right or left-handed, on form printed with picture. SAVE these identified pictures until the 20th has appeared.

No. 2—Write a letter of 50 words or less on the topic, "What Babe Ruth Will Do for the Braves." Ideas expressed, rather than English style, will count.

No. 3—Send 20 identified pictures with 50-word letter to Braves Identity Contest Editor, Boston American, 5 Winthrop square, Boston, not later than midnight, April 7. Awards will be made shortly afterward.

Emil Dusek Shows Here Wednesday

Emil Dusek will make his first Boston appearance when he meets Jim Kendrick in one of the special bouts on Alex MacLean's wrestling card at the Arena Wednesday night.

Emil youngest of the Dusek [illegible] better than Joe Dusek [illegible] touch and tone [illegible] of his fists and with the [illegible] vantage of youth.

Both are pound for pound [illegible] Dusek. Emil [illegible] bout in his Arena debut [illegible] Leo refused wanted [illegible] action for.

The two boys will [illegible] Boo Rabbit Meredith [illegible] in a three fall go with Cowboy New Era and heavyweight championship and Earl Bell [illegible] stake.

Matt Mann wants the [illegible] to get a hold [illegible] with straight falls if [illegible]

LAUDS TEUTON

STEVE HAMAS

Boston by Max Schmeling [illegible] German, asserts Hamas says the ex-navy champ is a much improved fighter.

Der Max Hot---Hamas

THINKS HE HAS GOOD CHANCE TO WIN TITLE

Universal Service Special Cable.

Paris, March 25—After the way he beat me, Schmeling has a chance to beat anybody in the world, Steve Hamas told Universal Service today when asked what he thought of Max Schmeling's chances against Max Baer.

Hamas, who, according to experts at the ringside took one of the worst beatings a man could take in the ring, added:

"Schmeling is a lot smarter and better fighter than when we met in Philadelphia.

"Champions are always hard to beat on points because judges always give them a slight edge, but if Schmeling goes out for a knockout I think he will succeed. It's the only way to beat Baer, take it from me.

"Schmeling is staging a most successful comeback. I hope he succeeds."

Asked about [illegible] Hamas said [illegible] He said:

"My eye was hurt and my left leg, in which I tore a tendon when I fell in the ring, is still limp, but I don't think it will interfere with my fighting future.

"I expect to fight in England shortly. I do not know yet whether anything has been fixed or against whom."

Hamas is going to London next week for three weeks and then back to the United States.

LOCAL AIR ARTISTS STAGE ROUNDUP

By N. E. T.

Boston broadcasting spirits are budding with the spring. No slipping into the proverbial doldrums of inactivity around here, it seems.

Tonight, when the 10:30 to 11 spread on clocks shall come to pass, a gala "Yankee Network Artist Roundup" takes place, drifting down the WNAC lines locally and to be heard through affiliated air outlets in other New England cities.

[illegible]

Best Tomorrow

8:30 A. M.—WNAC—[illegible]
10:15 A. M.—WBZ—[illegible]
11:00 A. M.—WAAB—[illegible]

Sex Lecture

[illegible]

ABOUT FACES by ART MOGER

TO-MORROW AT THE MAJESTIC THEATRE
WHAT STAR PICTURED HERE FIRST APPEARED IN THE AMERICAN STAGE IN NIFE IN VIRGINIA LETTER
17
©1935

Radio Answers

Q—How [illegible] T. L. W.—[illegible] people to go to WAAB every morning at 7 A. M. for a half hour [illegible] 8 o'clock he leaves [illegible] program on WNAC [illegible] enough [illegible] He can't be [illegible] time?

Pawtucket, R. I.

A—It so happens that WAAB and WNAC studios are housed in the same building and under the same management. Studio rooms are adjoining, so it's a cinch.

[illegible]

Q—Both leaders are [illegible] plans for the summer? They are not [illegible] at present writing. [illegible] new regime shortly.

[illegible]

A—It is Mrs. Gertrude Ber[illegible] next effort is to be a setting [illegible] "House of Glass" and starts April 18. Watch newspaper listings for station and time. This [illegible] answers L. G. of Dorchester. Thanks to listener "Mrs. J. A. B." of Manchester for above information.

Q—Can you tell me where [illegible] Willard Alexander and Larry [illegible] orchestras have gone? Where can we hear them? T. L. S. of Boston.

A—They are Mark Smith and Helene Human, stage and screen folk.

Lady Bird of Malden

RADIO TESTS

[illegible]

BEST BETS ON THE AIR TONIGHT

[illegible]

WNAC Tonight 7:30 AND FRANCINE SOAPINE WHALERS A Whale of a Show

FLOYD GIBBONS' PAGE OF THRILLS AND MYSTERY

'The Walking 'Ghost'"

Malden Man Frozen by Terror as Shuffling Form Advances

By FLOYD GIBBONS

FLOYD GIBBONS

HELLO, EVERYBODY!

Did you ever run across something that you knew right down in your heart wasn't going to hurt you, but which, at the same time, was just so doggone woozy and unnatural that you couldn't help being scared to death of it?

Well, of course you have. I don't think there's a man, a woman or a child in the country that hasn't had some such experience.

Well sir, Paul Lunt, of 18 Everett street, Malden, had a scare like that—a scare that just about froze him stiff.

And although Paul wasn't in any great danger himself, he had to do a bit of fast thinking to keep the old death specter from knocking at another lad's door. And curiously enough, the lad he saved was the very one who was giving him the scare of his young life-time.

[illegible] another [illegible] in the world outside of Paul Lunt and myself [illegible] what I am driving at.

I guess the only way out of this mix-up we are in is to tell you the story, and as I [illegible] and [illegible] you go back to the first paragraph, and [illegible] for yourself, you hold on to your [illegible] yarn.

In the summer of 1[illegible] a C.C.C. camp located near Savoy, in Northern [illegible] of the rules of that camp was that each [illegible] his turn at night guard duty.

Paul's name was down [illegible] turn on August 15 from 2 to 4 a. m., and about 2 o'clock that morning he was awakened by the lad who had the watch just before his—told to snap out of it—to get up for duty.

Paul got up and [illegible] the lantern the other lad had left him, and went out.

The night was [illegible] and there were a few clouds scattered here and there about the sky, but all in all it was a pleasant night, all in all, and not [illegible] one who's used to sleeping in a sleeping camp.

He went to the kitchen and threw some wood on the fires—sat down a minute to warm himself beside the stove before venturing out again into the cold morning air. And as he sat there, the loneliness began to get him—right smack in the pit of the stomach.

Paul was used to see that camp by day, when it was teeming with life—literally swarming with exuberant young lads his own age.

Now, dead and lifeless, in the grey hours of the morning, there was something ghastly and sepulchral about it. And that something was beginning to get under Paul's skin.

As he sat there, breathing in the eerie feeling of this dark, deserted camp, he heard a screen door squeak open and slam shut again.

"What was that?" he said to himself and, picking up his lantern, he went outside to investigate.

Though it might have been just Paul's imagination, it seemed to him that there had been something unnatural about the sound of that slamming door.

Outside, it had grown darker. The moon had vanished behind a cloud, shrouding the camp in a black, inky mantle.

Paul paused to listen, and out of the darkness over by Barracks No. 3 he heard soft, shuffling sounds, as if someone were walking cautiously down the stairs that led from the barracks building to the ground.

Who could it be, [illegible] around the camp at such an hour? Paul peered into [illegible] but he could see nothing. Then realizing it was [illegible] that [illegible] what was [illegible] forward.

The light of the [illegible] around him—[illegible] head [illegible] off to the right. Paul heard the [illegible] of [illegible] moving quietly over the ground.

Then, suddenly, Paul stopped—stood stock still, transfixed with a sudden, heart-gripping terror. Unexpectedly the moon had come out from behind its cloud, disclosing an awesome scene.

Straight ahead of him—straight toward him—came a terrifying figure—the figure of a naked man, all white and gleaming in the moonlight, walking toward him with hands outstretched, and mumbling incoherently in a hollow, unearthly tone.

Paul stood frozen with terror, unable to move—unable even to step aside out of the path of [illegible]

As it came [illegible] seemed to [illegible] Never before in his [illegible]

They stared at him—seemed to stare right through him. And as it came up to Paul the thing began mumbling in a dull, flat voice. Something about blood, it was saying—or at least, that's the way it seemed to Paul.

The thing came [illegible] by the lantern and then, in a flash, Paul recognized [illegible] It was one of Paul's buddies of the camp—a lad who, Paul had heard, had a habit of walking in his sleep.

Even so, that [illegible] thing was, Paul's fear did not abate. To him a sleepwalker was an awesome thing—every bit as terrifying as the spectre [illegible] had conjured up just a few minutes before.

He had heard, too, that if you woke a sleepwalker suddenly he might die from the shock. He stood transfixed as the sleeping lad came toward him, [illegible] on the shoulder with one of his outstretched hands and pushed him.

Automatically Paul started walking backward. The sleepwalking boy followed.

And then an idea came to Paul. Backing away slowly, he led the sleeper toward Number Three Barracks—led him up to the door and down past the long aisle of bunks.

And as they reached an empty bunk, the sleeping lad did what Paul thought he'd do. He stopped, got into bed, and lay still. Paul heard him breathing heavily as he tip-toed out of the barracks and back to his spell of guard duty.

If any of you lads and lassies have had an experience as scary as Paul Lunt's—why, send it in and collect your 10 berries. I know darned well you've had some sort of adventure. Tomorrow I'm going to give you "The Crack of Doom." Gather around!

$10.00 EVERY DAY and $100.00 EVERY MONTH is what Floyd Gibbons will pay American readers to prove that more thrilling and interesting TRUE adventures happen in YOUR life and in the lives of your friends than anything fiction writers can invent. And Floyd will prove it every day on this page. The famous war correspondent's own life is filled with adventure. He was wounded in "No Man's Land," torpedoed in mid-Atlantic and rode with Death in the Sahara, but he wants to write YOUR story now. Send it in to him today. There are no conditions. Everyone is eligible.

HOW TO WIN

$100.00

And Membership in the Floyd Gibbons Adventurers' Club

Floyd Gibbons, headline hunter and world famous adventurer, invites YOU to send in YOUR true adventure story to his column. He will pay $10.00 every day for every story printed and an extra prize of $100.00 for the best adventure of the month. You don't have to worry about how well you can write—just send in the facts and Floyd will whip your story into shape for publication. Put the biggest thrill in YOUR life down on paper and mail it to FLOYD GIBBONS, care of the Boston Evening American, and Floyd will do the rest.

SECRET AGENT X-9 — The Man Who Came Back

THE GUY LEARNS
A FINE MESS—THEY PUT A BULLET INTO THE UNDERTAKER, BUT LET THIS SNAKE, DEXTER, GO RIGHT TO WHERE WE HAD MR LEE'S WE READY FOR A RIDE—SHE KNOWS PLENTY. I'LL GO OVER AND SETTLE HER RIGHT NOW!
OKE
MEANWHILE, X-9 HAS REMOVED THE GAG AND HEAVY ROPES FROM PRETTY MRS. MILLER
WHO ARE YOU? WHAT DO YOU WANT?
A FRIEND—I WANT TO GET YOU OUT OF HERE—WHO'S THERE?
IT'S ME—I GAVE THOSE FELLOWS UNDER THE ICEBOX A LIGHT WHACK ON THE HEAD—DO YOU MIND?
GOOD WORK, CARP—BUT WE'D BETTER BE GETTING OUT OF HERE—
I MUST GO UPSTAIRS—THE ADDRESS I'VE FORGOTTEN IT—THE GANG HEADQUARTERS—MY HUSBAND MUST BE THERE—THEY'LL KILL HIM!
OH, YOU'LL REMEMBER IT—LET'S GET OUT OF HERE!
TAKE HER DOWN THE PRESS CAFE—I'LL GET IT

TIM TYLER'S FLYING LUCK (Follow Tim Tyler in the Big Comic Section of the Sunday Advertiser) — Lady Has Her Way

AND THE LADY YOU SAW ON THE THRONE WAS QUEEN ANTONA WHO'S BEEN LIVIN ALMOST A 1000 YEARS, MR CLAUDET?
SHE MUST BE WRINKLED AND VERY FEEBLE BY NOW!
NO—SHE IS EXTREMELY BEAUTIFUL. BUT HER SOFT VOICE IS TEMPERED WITH STEEL—
"SHE EXPLAINED I WAS THE FIRST STRANGER EVER PERMITTED ENTRANCE TO HER UNKNOWN KINGDOM—"
I MUST CONTINUE ON MY JOURNEY, HIGHNESS, I HAVE AN IMPORTANT MISSION TO PERFORM—
FATE HAS BROUGHT YOU TO ME, MONSIEUR CLAUDET, AND HERE YOU SHALL REMAIN!
IT IS ORDERED THAT YOU DON THESE GARMENTS
BUT I AM AN OFFICER OF THE FRENCH FOREIGN LEGION! I REFUSE—
"FORCIBLY I WAS COSTUMED AS A 10TH CENTURY WARRIOR AND MARCHED BACK TO THE THRONE-ROOM—"
DISOBEDIENCE TO HER HIGHNESS' COMMAND IS PUNISHABLE BY DEATH!
SHE RULES OUR PEOPLE WITH A HAND OF IRON—

RED BARRY — The Little Gray Door

THE CONDEMNED YOUTH, NOW FULLY AWAKENED TO HIS FATE, NEARS THE BREAKING POINT—
ANOTHER PARADE WENT BY HERE LAST NIGHT—ALL I CAN HEAR IS SHUFFLING FEET AND MUMBLED PRAYERS!!
THEN THE DOOR CLOSES AND SOMETHING HAPPENS TO THE LIGHTS—I CAN'T STAND IT—I CAN'T STAND IT!!
355
YA SHOULDA THOUGHT A THAT BEFORE YA GUNNED THE MOUTHPIECE!!
HUSH YO' MOUF, WHITE BOY, YO'I WAN' US ALL T' GIT KICKED OUT O' HEAH?
LAY OFF THE KID, CONGO!!
I'M NOT AFRAID TO DIE—WHY DON'T THEY GET IT OVER WITH?!
LEAVE 'EM HESITATE, WHITE BOY—D-D-DEATH IS SO PERMANENT—YEAH, MAN!!
EASY, KO, EASY!
SHUT UP!

MANDRAKE, THE MAGICIAN — As the Story Goes

PROFESSOR SORCIN AND HIS GIANT PET GORILLA, TOTO, HAVE BEEN ATTACKED BY AN UNKNOWN ENEMY. MANDRAKE FINDS SORCIN UNCONSCIOUS. TOTO, THE GORILLA, IS DEAD. THE ASSASSIN HAS ESCAPED THROUGH THE WINDOW. SORCIN, RECOVERING, DECLARES THAT IT WAS KLAGE, THE MONSTER THAT HE HIMSELF HAD MADE IN HIS LABORATORIES.
SORCIN, TELL ME ABOUT THIS MONSTER, KLAGE.
IT HAS BEEN A SECRET ALL THESE YEARS, MANDRAKE, BUT I SUPPOSE I MUST TELL YOU.
"IN MY YOUNGER DAYS, I TRAVELED WIDELY AS A SHIP DOCTOR. ON THE AFRICAN GOLD COAST, A NATIVE BROUGHT ME TWO BABY GORILLAS ONE DAY."
"I KILLED THEM TOTO AND KLAGE, AND BOMB ATTACHED TO THEM. ONE DAY, WISHING THEM AT PLAY, I SUDDENLY WONDERED WHAT DIFFERENCE A HUMAN BRAIN IN ONE OF THEM WOULD MAKE."
TYRROW—SORCIN PICKS KLAGE—

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY — Rich Little Poor Girl

I'VE BEEN THINKING OF THE BEAUTIFUL FRIENDSHIP BETWEEN LITTLE ANNIE AND MR. MOAR - THEY BOTH SHUT UP LIKE CLAMS IF YOU TALK ABOUT HOW THEIR FRIENDSHIP BEGAN
AFTER ALL, THERE IS NO REASON WHY THEY SHOULD BROADCAST THEIR PRIVATE AFFAIRS - I KNOW THEY ARE BOTH THOROBREDS - AND-
PLEASE DON'T MISUNDERSTAND - I THINK THEY'RE THE SALT OF THE EARTH
I'VE GROWN FOND OF THEM - THEY DON'T SEEM TO BE OVERBURDENED WITH WORLDLY GOODS - SO I THOUGHT
I KNOW YOU WISH TO HELP THEM - BUT - SSH - HERE COMES ANNIE GLORYOSKY, ROSEMARY - WILLYA LOOK AT ALL THE NICE FLOWERS I GOT? HONEST, EVERYWHERE YOU GO ITS JUST LIKE A GARDEN - ALL KINDS AN THEY'RE ALL SWELL - AIN'T IT GRAND?
DARRELL McCLURE

JIMMY AND THE TIGER — What's Coming Off Now?

KNOCKING ONE OF THE CROOKED GAMBLERS DOWN A FLIGHT OF STAIRS HASN'T MADE THE GANG STOP TRYING TO GET AT THE TIGER IN SOME OTHER WAY —
GO ON - TELL ME - WHAT ABOUT THE 'PHONE CALL YOU GOT LAST NIGHT?
WELL - THE 'PHONE RANG AT 12:30, AND A TOUGH VOICE SAID — "IF YOU DON'T LOSE THIS FIGHT WITH ORVIL RUFF YOU'LL BLANKETY BLANK WISH YOU HAD! JUST MANAGE TO LOSE IT - THAT'S ALL I GOT TO SAY" —
MY GOSH! WHAT'LL WE DO ABOUT THIS HORRIBLE STATE OF AFFAIRS?
I'LL KNOCK RUFF AS STIFF AS A MUMMY — THAT'S WHAT WE'LL DO!
ALL SET? YOU GRAB TH' TIGER AN' I'LL GRAB HIS MANAGER!
LE'S GO—!!
FORSYTHE

THIMBLE THEATRE, Starring POPEYE

A Full Page Page of "Popeye" in Colors in the Sunday Advertiser

LEGGO OF OLIVE OYL, YA IDIOT, OR I'LL BUST YA UP!
WHO YOU TALK AT, LITTLE MAN! COME HERE, I KILL YOU!
ULP!
THAT BRUTE WILL HURT SOMEBODY YET!
HEY, POPEYE! YOU CAN'T HANDLE HIM! YOU'VE GOT A BROKEN NECK! LOOK OUT! DON'T LET HIM GET HOLD OF YOU!!
DECK ALL DIRTY — ME SWEEP

BRINGING UP FATHER

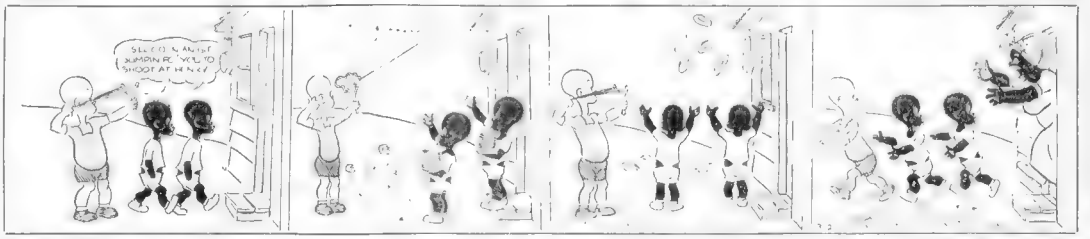
(Follow Jiggs and Maggie in the Big C omic Section of the Sunday Advertiser)

Maggie's No Help

FATHER-DON'T TALK SO SILLY: THERE IS NO HARM IN SMOKING A CIGARETTE. ALL MY FRIENDS SMOKE.
I DONT CARE WHAT ANYBODY ELSE DOES I'LL NOT STAND FER YOU SMOKIN'EM DO YOU HEAR?
I DON'T KNOW WHAT THE NEW GENERATION IS COMIN TO! THEY WON'T PAY ANY ATTENTION TO US OLDER FOLKS.
DAUGHTER WON'T MIND ME, SO I'LL GIT MAGGIE TO TALK TO HER-
YES- THIS IS MRS. JIGGS- I WANT TO ORDER A THOUSAND CIGARETTES. HAVE MY NAME - MARGUERITE PRINTED ON THEM.

HENRY

Forbidden Targets



JUST KIDS

It's the Actor in Him

MUSH'S COUSIN— LITTLE WHEELTREE O'GORMAN HAS JUST ARRIVED FROM HOLLYWOOD
MY COUSIN WHEELTREE O'GORMAN IS COMIN TO VISIT US TONIGHT WE'D METER GIT RO BI HELLO COUSIN WHEELTREE I'M COUSIN MUSH!
DON'T SPEAK TO ME NOW! I AIN'T IN THE MOOD! BESIDES I'M TEMPER-MENTAL!

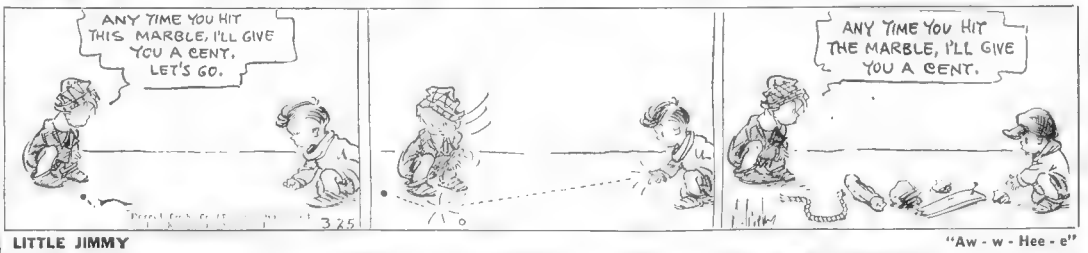
POLLY AND HER PALS

Off the Family Tree

YOU HOLDA DA BOX A WAN A SEC. MUS MAK A DA 'PHONE CALL
HAW, HAW! THIS IS RICH!
W WHY A-ALL YUH NEEDS TO GO IN FUSINESS NOW IS A MONKEY!
OK, SMP! GET Y'SELF A TIN CUP AN START - T WORK!

SKIPPY

Obstacles



LITTLE JIMMY

"Aw - w - Hee - e"

BEANS HITCHED ON TO THE QUICKSAND MAN WHEN HE THREATENED TO STRIKE THE OLD WAR CHIEF. THE QUICKSAND MAN IS HEADED FOR THE QUICKSAND POOL & MMY WARNED BEANS TO LET GO BEFORE HE GOT THERE.
AW-W HEE-E

BLONDIE

(Follow Blondie in the Big Comic Section of the Sunday Advertiser)

The Briny Deep

IF YOU CAN'T REMEMBER WHAT ELSE YOUR WIFE TOLD YOU TO GET, WHY NOT PHONE HER?
I'D RATHER CHOKE THAN DO THAT! SHE TOLD ME TO WRITE IT DOWN, BUT I TOLD HER I COULD REMEMBER!
LISTEN, DEAR, WHAT ELSE DID YOU WANT, BESIDES BREAD, SUGAR AND TOMATOES
I KNEW IT! I TOLD YOU TO WRITE IT DOWN, BUT NO...
SH-H-H, DEAR, NOT SO LOUD, THE OTHER PEOPLE IN THE STORE CAN HEAR YOU AND YOU'RE EMBARRASSING ME!
DONT SHUSH ME! YOU ALWAYS THINK YOU'RE SO MUCH SMARTER THAN EVERYBODY ELSE
FRESH DILL PICKLES
I WAS AFRAID OF THAT!
FRESH DILL PICKLES

Cross-Word Puzzle -:- By EUGENE SHEFFER

HORIZONTAL

1—Bound volumes
4—Long narrow strip of leather
11—Bird
12—Cured
14—The heart (Egypt. myth.)
15—Stimulating
17—Musical note
18—Negative reply
20—Vendace (
21—Through
22—Lacerated
24—Nothing
25—Turn partly about
26—Trap
28—Peculiarity
30—Kingdom of Persia
32—In the near future
34—Bones out
35—A firm hold
39—Covered with sleet
40—Unite in matrimony
42—Reason ruler
43—Inflamed, as with jealousy
44—Concede
46—Insulate
47—Suffix to form nouns
48—A cloth woven in Brussels
50—North Carolina (abbr.)
51—Narrow passage of water connecting two larger bodies of water
53—Flower
55—Falconoid bird
56—Bordered

VERTICAL

1—Monkey
2—Correlative of either
3—Native compound
4—Small genus of tropical African trees
5—Stretch
6—Debris
7—To look after
8—A hitting stag
9—Short for A tired
10—A king of Thessaly (Class. myth.)
11—Paris
13—Deities
16—A musical composition for three 19—Traced
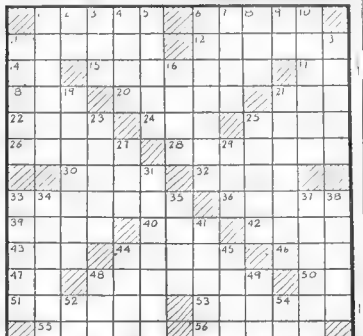
21—Full up
23—Went astray
25—Force air through the nostrils
27—Consume
29—Mongrel
31—English prison demolished in 1902
33—United States coins
34—Game of cards
36—European native
37—Tormented
38—Establish
41—Bewilder with noise
44—An accessory covering of a seed
45—Feminine name
48—Touch
49—Article of clothing
52—The Memphite god of the mid day sun (Egypt. myth.)
54—Chinese measure

SATURDAY'S ANSWERS

L	O	A	F		P	A	R	K		L	A	M
E	L	I	A		O	P	E	N	A	G	E
A		B	O	S	P	H	O	O	R
L	A	B	E	L		A	G	E	S
		A	R	I	S	E	N		T	R	O	T
A	S	S		F	E	E		T		E	N	A
L	A	I	T	E	N		E	R	E	N	U	M
A	N	E	W		L	I	T	U	A	S	P
S	A	R	I		S	A	L	A	D	E		L
A		P	E		A		S	O	O	L	E	R
A	M	A		P	L	A		S	O	D	E	R
W	O	N		N	A	R	D		E	N	D	S
W	A	N	T		A	M		S	O		S	H	E	T



HOLLAND

RAPID Rise to Stage Fame

By GEORGE HOLLAND

From stage-manager to director of hits in three years tells part of Robert Sinclair's story. A meagre part of it, however

George Holland

Louella Parsons

News of Hollywood

Little Jane Withers Given Role

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor Universal Service

Los Angeles, March 25—The only serious competition Shirley Temple ever had was when Jane Withers played the role of the young heavy in "Bright Eyes." Jane was so convincing as the hateful youngster that all the critics gave her a good notice. Now Jane and Jackie Searle, the other kid "meanie" in the movies, are to be co-featured by Fox in a picture called "Ginger."

Louella Parsons

Snapshots of Hollywood
The cafe Chateau Rouge, I

YOUNG STAR From the Vienna Stage

Greta Maren, who came to America from Austria a few months ago, will have the leading role in the Saubert production, "A Journey by Night," which comes to the Saubert Theater next Monday night.

MUSIC

Sullo in Piano Recital

By JOYCE DANA

Salvatore Sullo, a young pianist of Italian and Boston parentage, gave his first recital here before a comfortably large and friendly audience last evening at Jordan Hall.

In a program ranging from the Bach Busoni Chaconne, to Ravel and Castelnuovo-Tedesco, the young artist revealed an admirable technical equipment, and a warm and vigorous "big" tone. Almost without exception his choice of musical material brought these fine qualities to the fore, yet despite the interesting diversity in composers, it would have been interesting to have placed on the program something in a quieter mood.

Only in the Schubert Variations on an Andante theme and occasionally in the Scarlatti numbers were we permitted to judge what Mr. Sullo can accomplish with a simple musical phrase. The two scarlatti sonatas (F minor and C major) were charmingly played, although the pianist displayed here, as elsewhere in his program, a tendency to a far too hurried pace.

"Aufschwung" and "Traumeswirren," from Schumann's "Phantasiestucke," were played in fine arrangements by Sauer, which while disproving once more Mr. Sullo's amazing keyboard proficiency, seem hardly an improvement on the original compositions.

The colorful Respighi Prelude in C sharp minor was followed by Ravel's "Jeux d'eau," which the artist could have improved, for some listeners, had he played a piano more in keeping with his subject matter.

The variety of the program was the striking and unstinted and interesting Rox Trot Tracy-Monaco Mori from Castelnuovo-Tedesco pianoforte, "All When," played with ardor and spirit.

The shows and technique different Liszt-Busoni, Rhapsodie Espagnole concluded the program.

Were his splendid equipment and technical lines coupled with restraint in regard to tempo, and the development of a more restful tone quality, his playing would more nearly approach the goal which he can so easily attain. Mr. Sullo was cordially received and warmly applauded throughout the evening.

From the Chorus To Stardom

Anna Neagle, young and lovely English screen star, rose from the chorus to the leading role in "The Runaway Bride," English film which comes to the Majestic tomorrow.

Movie Clock

STATE—"West Point of the Air"; 1, 4, 7, 10.
KEITH MEMORIAL—"Roberta"; 10, 12, 2, 4, 6, 8, 10.
METROPOLITAN—"Mississippi"; 11, 1:21, 3:42, 6:03, 8:24, 10:45.
GAYETY—"Peck's Bad Boy"; 9:40, 1:50, 5:15, 8:40.
UPTOWN—"Devil Dogs of the Air"; 1:10, 4:09, 7:08, 10:07.
PARAMOUNT—"Ruggles of Red Gap", 10:13, 12:53, 3:47, 6:30, 9:13.
LOEWS ORPHEUM — "Folies Bergere", 9:55, 12:40, 3:45, 6:50, 9:35.
MAJESTIC—"Three Songs About Lenin"; 11:10, 12:56, 2:42, 4:28, 6:14, 8, 9:48.
BOWDOIN—"Rumba"; 9, 12:56, 4:55, 8:40.
FINE ARTS—"Little Friend"; 1:20, 3:50, 5:40, 7:50, 10.
BOSTON—"It Happened In New York", 10:05, 1:21, 4:12, 7:05, 10:15.
MODERN—"Living On Velvet"; 10:00, 1:20, 4:05, 6:55, 9:45.
FENWAY—"Ruggles of Red Gap," 1:05, 4:10, 7:02, 10.
SCOLLAY—"Ruggles of Red Gap"; 12, 3:10, 6:15, 9:25.
TREMONT—"Marie Galante", "Gridiron Flash", continuous 9 a.m. to 11 p.m.
HOWARD—"Fashions of 1934"; 10:30, 6:41.

Burlesque

New Bills at Park, Howard

Boston's burlesque programs for the week are the "Kute Kuties" at Minsky's Park, with the Lee Sisters and Gladys McCormack, and the "Messin' Around" Burlesquers, with the versatile Fred Binder as chief comedian, at the Old Howard.

Binder heads his own company of fifty, and is one of the leading shows of its kind. In addition to the usual burlesque features of beauty and merriment, Binder has engaged the Howard [illegible]

Jewel Southern

Jewel Sothern, Sally O'Neil and Vilma Jones are the [illegible] who are featured [illegible] them [illegible] Howard [illegible]

[illegible] Howard [illegible] Lee [illegible]

[illegible] Park [illegible] Minsky [illegible] Lee [illegible] Gladys McCormack [illegible] Ginger Britton [illegible] Dorothy Ahearn [illegible] Lee Sisters [illegible] Black Cobra girl [illegible] 50 others.

Burlesque Beauty

Gayety's Bill

Attractions at the Gayety include Peck's Bad Boy, with Jackie Searle, Jr., and Mary O'Brien, heading the Gaiety forty-nine revue, "Parade." Jackie was seen in the screen version of the picture. Other acts billed [illegible] has been held up for [illegible] Paramount. Dick [illegible] my is great. Harry [illegible] ony Ratoff's act [illegible] throughout a [illegible] even the Hedyes [illegible] cannot understand.

Met Opera

[illegible] ing tickets for the season of Metropol[illegible] in [illegible] be held at the Boston Opera House during the week of April 1 are on sale at the Opera House box office.

[illegible] Mr. Gatti-Casazza [illegible] Mme. Rethberg, Sandor Konyot, Marinuch, Thelma Votipka, [illegible] Lauri-Volpi, Giovanni Martinelli, Ezio Pinza, Nicola Moscona, Ina Bourskaya, Louis D'Angelo, Gaetano Tommasini, Wilfred Pelletier, Gennaro Papi, Vincenzo Bellezza, Giuseppe Bamboschek, Carlo Edwards, Giuseppe Antinori, Arnold Gamson, Paolo Gallico, Max Rudolf, Karin Dayas, Mme. Rethberg, Sandor Konyot, Marinuch, Thelma Votipka, Lauri-Volpi, Martinelli, Pinza, Moscona, Bourskaya, D'Angelo, Tommasini, Pelletier, Papi, Bamboschek, Edwards, Antinori, Gamson, Gallico, Rudolf, Dayas, Donizetti's [illegible] Mr. Pelletier with Mme. Pons, Mme. Muzio, De Luca, Vagel[illegible]

Amusements

MAJESTIC THEATRE

Amusements

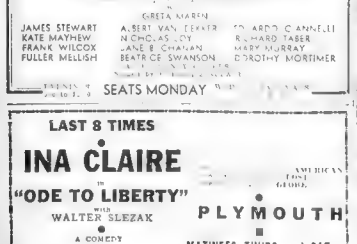
METROPOLITAN STAGE
The ONE BIG EVENT of a DECADE
SING CROSBY
W. C. FIELDS
JOAN BENNETT
MISSISSIPPI
BIG STAR REVUE with FRANK GABY SYLVIA FROOS and Stellar Cast
A Paramount Picture with John Millton—Queen of South

Amusements

Amusements

Amusements

Amusements



Amusements

BOWDOIN 5 VAUDEVILLE ACTS IN PERSON
"RUMBA" with CAPT. EDWARD GEO. RAFT
NEW GAYETY
JACKIE COOPER • PECK'S BAD BOY
5 VAUDEVILLE ACTS 5
VIRGINIA BRUCE • DANGEROUS CONVICTS

Amusements

Amusements

Seein' Stars

By Feg Murray

Hurley Backs Oath Bill

Close Door on Reds, Plea of U. S. Attorney

Joseph J. Hurley, member of the Boston school committee and also a former chairman of that group, today endorsed the teachers' oath bill.

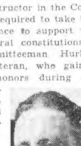
The bill now pending before the Legislature demands that every teacher and instructor in the Commonwealth be required to take the oath of allegiance to support the state and federal constitutions.

School Committeeman Hurley, World War veteran, who gained distinguished honors during his two years overseas, is also assistant United States attorney.

Hurley said:

"I believe that every teacher and instructor in this Commonwealth should be willing to subscribe to the oath of allegiance.

"I cannot conceive any reason for not wanting to abide with such a demand.



Joseph J. Hurley

"Granting that our school system in the city of Boston is free from any un-American propaganda or red activity—which I believe it is—teachers should be glad to take the oath just to show their loyalty and patriotism.

"Let us close the door against any who may seek a teaching position for the purpose of teaching American children un-American or subversive propaganda. Let us have men and women who know and understand and believe in the principles upon which the American form of government is based."

CRIPPLE FACES New Death Trial

Auburn, Me., March 25—Aided by an autopsy on the body of Joan Asselin, performed by Dr. George Burgess Magrath of Boston, the second trial of Willie Bouthilette started today.

Bouthilette, a cripple, was tried in January charged with the murder of his sweetheart, the 17-year-old Joan. The first trial was set aside when it was brought out that the first indictment carried the girl's name as "Joan." It was further alleged that jurors heard the case discussed.

Buy Through The Merchandise Mart

And save on daily needs every Sunday, Monday, Wednesday, Friday in The American-Advertiser.

JUNIOR BIRDMEN OF AMERICA

LAWRENCE SHAW — NATIONAL DIRECTOR

DEVOTED TO THE INTEREST OF THE YOUTH OF THE AMERICAS IN AVIATION

The beautiful wing honor banner to be awarded every three months to the squadron participating in most activities, has arrived from New York and is now mounted at headquarters, 130 Summer street.

It will be awarded on April 1 to the unit which has scored the most points since January 1. It will remain in the possession of the winning squadron for three months and will then be given to another unit unless the first winner repeats.

The honor banner is awarded on the basis of points for members becoming Eagles and Aces, meetings, new members, attendance at wing meetings, airport trips, participation in outdoor and indoor flying meets and other activities.

On April 1 all squadrons will start even in the second race which will end on July 1.

Like all Junior Birdmen awards, the banner is a "swanky" piece of art. It is made of thick blue satin, with yellow edge trimmed with fringe and cords and attached to a brass rod. Every squadron will be proud to win it.

AIR TALES
Thrill Squadron

The time for getting in non-members' votes is growing short. Each non-member's vote counts your squadron one point. That's how the leading squadrons are getting out in front!

SQUADRON NO. 108

"Blackhawks," of Watertown. Commander, Francis McDonald. Banner points, 64.

Thomas McShane and James Smith thrilled the members with their readings of aviation stories, on which they later had questions. A campaign to secure nautical pictures is on, five points being given for each five brought in. A trip to East Boston Airport is paid for by squadron funds.

SQUADRON NO. 333

"Yankee Division," of South Armory, Boston. Commander, William Forbes. Banner points, 35.

New members admitted are Donald Fox, George Woods, John Rockwood, Ted Parsons and James Hazelton. Three sponsors were chosen: Major M. Carney of Watertown Arsenal; Captain Brown, the Boston Junior Y. D. Drum and Bugle Corps drill instructor, and C. Wood, father of one of the members. Eight of the boys paraded on March 17.

SQUADRON NO. 378

"Beacon Flight Squadron," of West Roxbury. Commander, Arthur V. Fraher. Banner points, 31.

Two new members have been admitted. They are Allan Yates and John Dempsey. The former is known for placing in scale model contests. All members, after the meeting worked on their planes. Negotiations are being made with Squadron No. 408, of Jamaica Plain, for a contest between the two clubs. A 20-cent model plane has become a squadron project.

SQUADRON NO. 25

"Cyclone Patrol" of Roxbury. Commander, Herbert Siegal. Banner points, 30.

The commander gave a pep talk on getting more non-member ballots turned in and it was agreed this should be done for the good of the squadron. A ballot was elected aviation director to have charge of all airport trips, theater parties, model building, etc. A bulletin board was made for all Birdmen news.

JUNIOR BIRDMEN OF AMERICA

(Membership is open to all boys and girls 10 to 21 years of age, inclusive.)

I wish to join the Junior Birdmen of America. I enclose a ten-cent coin (well wrapped) for my membership materials.

Print name .....

My address .....

My city ..... State.....

My age now is .....GIVE YOUR CORRECT AGE

Mail to Junior Birdmen of America, Boston Evening American Wing, 100 Summer St., Boston, Mass.

MAN, 70, NAMES 2 as Bandits

Identified from the witness stand by their alleged victim, two men were held in $10,000 each in Quincy district court today on a charge of a $50 holdup.

They are Lawrence Peters of Woodward avenue, Quincy, and William F. Ellis of St. Johnsbury street, Boston. They are charged with robbing Thomas O'Neil, 70, Quincy chain store manager, on March 16.

They were arrested two days later in an automobile chase after a Dorchester chain store robbery. During the chase Peters was shot by police.

DOROTHY GISH Seeking Divorce

Bridgeport, Ct., March 25—On the heels of the collapse of the Mary Pickford-Douglas Fairbanks romance came the news of the break-up of Hollywood's other "perfect marriage" today.

With Mary and Doug, Dorothy Gish and James Rennie were long pointed to as proof that actors and actresses really could "make a go of it" if they wanted to.

But Dorothy has filed suit for divorce here after 15 years of married life.

Rennie, at the Lambs in New York, admitted knowledge of the action. He declined to comment on it. No alimony is asked, no contest anticipated.

New York Curb Market

	High	Low	Last
Teck-Hugh G (.20e)	4¾	4¾	4¾
Tex Gulf Prod	33¾	33¼	33¼
Texon Oil (1.60)	5⅞	5⅞	5⅞
Tonopah Min	1	1	1
Tung-Sol Lamp	4	3¾	3¾
Unexcelled Tob	3-16	3-16	3-16
Unit Founders	1	1	1
Unit Gas Imp	11⅞	11⅝	11⅝
Unit Gas pf	40½	40½	40½
U S Foil B (.60)	7	7	7
U S Rail & Ref (.60)	10½	10½	10½
Utd Shoe Mach (3)	70	70	70
VENEZUELA MEX OIL	7⅞	7⅞	7⅞
Vess Mfg	4	4	4
WENDEN COP	3-16	3-16	3-16
Wright Harg (.15g)	9¾	9¾	9¾

XD—Ex-dividend. EX—First sale since ex-dividend date or dates. XR—Ex-rights. x—Plus extra or extras. b—Including extra or extras. d—Payable in scrip. e—Paid last year. f—Payable in stock. g—Paid this year, no dividend. r—Declared or paid in preceding 12 months. Accumulative div. paid this year. wi—When issued. wd—When distributed. ww—Without warrants. xw—Without warrants.

CURB BONDS

	High	Low	Last
Ala Pow 5's ser B	77⅞	77⅞	77⅞
Alumin Co 6's	106	106	106
Alumn E Lig 5's	98¼	98¼	98¼
Am G&E 6's	98¼	98¼	98¼
Am G&E 5's ctfs	24	24	24
Am Gas & El 5's	104	104	104
Am Superpower 6's	104	104¼	104¼
Ark P & L 5's	37	37	37
Ark P & L 6's	37	37	37
As G & E 6's ctfs	37	37	37
Assoc Gas & El 5's	37	37	37
Baldw Loc 4s '38 ww	37	37	37
Bell Tel Pa 5s '48	106	106	106
Birm. El 4½'s '68	79	79	79
Bklyn Edison 5's '49	104	104	104
Cairo B & L 5s '56	93	93	93
Cent Pr & L 5s '57	93	93	93
Cent Pr & L 5s '57	93	93	93
Cen Ill P & Ltg 5's	79¼	79¼	79¼
Cen Me P 5s '52	103¼	103¼	103¼
Cen P & L 5s '56	73¼	73¼	73¼
Cen Pr & L 5s '57	73¼	73¼	73¼
Cen St El 5's '54	27	27	27
Cen St El 7's '54	27	27	27
Cen St P & L 5's '53	73¼	73¼	73¼
Cent Ind Pow 5s '53	100	100	100
Cent St Ry 5's '52	103½	103½	103½
Cities Ser 6's '66	60	60	60
Cit S Gas 5½'s '42	85¾	85¾	85¾
Cit Ser 6's '66	60	60	60
Cit Ser Gas 5's '56	60	60	60
Cit Ser Gas 6's '43	60	60	60
Cit Ser Gas 6's '48	60	60	60
Cit Ser Gas 6's '51	60	60	60
Cit Ser Gas 6's '52	60	60	60
Cit Ser Gas 6's '57	60	60	60
Cit Ser Gas 6's '62	60	60	60
Cit Ser Gas 6's '62	60	60	60
Cit Ser Gas 6's '62	60	60	60
Cit Ser Gas 6's '62	60	60	60
Conn Ry P 5s '48	105½	105½	105½
Con Gas (U) 4½'s '57	60	60	60
Cont G & E 5s '48 A	51	50	50
Cuban Tel 7's '41	100	100	100
Del C Gas 5's '52 B	98¾	98¾	98¾
Duq Lt 4½'s '67	98¾	98¾	98¾
Elec P & L 5s '2030	33½	33½	33½
Empire G & F 5½'s	83	83	83
Fed Water 5's '54	84	84	84
Fla P & L 5's '54	79	79	79
Fla P & L 6's '54	79	79	79
Gatin 5's '49	74	74	74
Gen Pub Ser 5's '48	74	74	74
Gen Pub Ser 6's '48	74	74	74
Gen Pub Ser 6's '48	92	92	92
Gen Pub Ser 6's '48	92	92	92
Gen W Wk 5s '43 A	61	61	61
Geo P & L 5s '57	63¾	63¾	63¾
Geo P & L 6s '78	63¾	63¾	63¾
Gobel 5's '58	88¾	88¾	88¾
Grank Trunk 5s '50	88¾	88¾	88¾
Gulf Oil 5's '47	93	93	93
Gulf St Ut 4½'s '61	93	93	93
Gulf St Ut 5's '56	93	93	93
Hous Gulf G 6½'s '43	83¾	83¾	83¾
Hud Coal 5's '62	77	77	77
Hunt L & P 1st's '38 D	104	104	104
Hunt L & P 4½'s '56	104	104	104
Ill Nor Ut 5s '57	106	106	106
Ill Pr & L 5's '57	63¾	63¾	63¾
Ill Pr & L 5½'s '57	63¾	63¾	63¾
Ill P & L 6's '57	63¾	63¾	63¾
Ill P & L 6½'s '54 B	88	87	87
Ind Gas & Wat 5s '52	77	77	77
Ind Nat Gas 6's '40	77¾	77¾	77¾
Ind Pr & L 5s '57 A	102	102	102
Ind Pr & L 5s '57 A	102	102	102
Int P Ser 5½'s '57	67	67	67
Int P Ser 6's '57	67	67	67
Interb Pr & L 6's '57	68	67½	67½
Interb Pr & L 6½'s '57	68	67½	67½
Ia Pub Ser 5s '57	90	90	90
Jer Cen P & L 5's '47	99½	99½	99½
Jer Cen P & L 4½'s '61	99½	99½	99½
Kan G&E 6's 2022	100½	100½	100½
Ky Util 5s 49 I	71¾	71¾	71¾
Ky Util 6s '48 I	72	72	72
Kop Gas & C 5½s '50	104¼	104¼	104¼
Kop Gas&C 5s '47	103½	103½	103½
Kresge Se 4½ ctf	102½	102½	102½
Lacled Pr 5s '57	60	60	60
Lehigh P& 6s 2024A	95	95	95
Lone Star G 5s 42	103¾	103¾	103¾
Los P&L 5s 2037	87	86	86
Mass Gas 5s '55	87	86	86
Mass Gas 5½'s '50	87	86	86
Minn P&L 5½s '78	88¾	88¾	88¾
Minn P&L 5s '78	88¾	88¾	88¾
Miss P&L 5½ Se 57	79¼	79¼	79¼
Miss Pow 5's '57	79	79	79
Miss Riv P 5s 51	107	107	107
Mo Pub Ser 5s '57	103	103	103
Monong WP 5½s '53	94¼	94¼	94¼
Mont L&P 5s '42	99	99	99
Nat P&L 6s 2026A	82	82	82
Nat P&L 6s 2030B	82	82	82
Nevada Cal E 5s 56	77¾	77¾	77¾
New Amst Gas 5s 48	103½	103½	103½
N Eng G&E 5s 56	50	50	50
N Eng G&E 5s 47	50	50	50
N Eng G&E 5s 47	50	50	50
N Eng Pow 5s '57	84¼	84¼	84¼
N Ont Pr S 4½'s	85	85	85
NY Penn&Ot 4½s 50	105½	105½	105½
NY Penn&Ot 4½s 77	99½	99½	99½
NY St E&G 4½s 80	95¾	96¼	96¼
Niag Falls P 5s '75	103½	103½	103½
Nor Am L&P 5½s '46	45½	45½	45½
Nor Am Ut 5½s '57	45½	45½	45½
Nor Ind G&E 6s '52	90	90	90
Nor Ind Pub S 5s '57	90¾	90¾	90¾
Nor Ind Pub S 5s 600	93¾	93¾	93¾
Nor Ind Pub S 6s '57	93¾	93¾	93¾
Ogden Gas 5s 45	81	81	81
Ohio Edison 5's '47	103¾	103¾	103¾
Ohio Pub S 5s 2030	103¾	103¾	103¾
Okla G&E 5s '57	98¾	98¾	98¾
Oswego Falls 5s '43	60	60	60
Pac Gas 4½s '57	105½	105½	105½
Pac G&E 5's '42	105½	105½	105½
Pac Pow & L 5s '57	81	81	81
Pac Wes Ut 5½s '42	103½	103½	103½
Pac Wes Ut 5½s '57	103½	103½	103½
Penn-Ohio Ed 5's '47	81	81	81
Penn Pub S 6s 47C	103½	103½	103½
Penn Pub S 6s 57D	103½	103½	103½
Pen Gas L&C 6s '57	103½	103½	103½
Pied N Ry 5s 54A	97¾	97¾	97¾
Pied N Ry 5½s 54D	99	99	99
Pub Sv N Ill 5s 56	103½	103½	103½
Pub S N Ill 5½s '57	103½	103½	103½
Pub S N Ill 4½s '57	103½	103½	103½
Pub S N Ill 6s 52H	103½	103½	103½
Pub S Okla 5s 57C	100½	100½	100½
Pub S Okla 5s 57D	100½	100½	100½
Pub Sv N Ill 6s '56	103½	103½	103½
Pur Ser P&L 5½s 49	67	67	67
Pur Ser P&L 5s 49	67	67	67
Rep Gas 6s 47A ctf	41	41	41
Rep Gas 6s 2022 A	41	41	41
San Joaq L&P 5s '57	105½	105½	105½
Scripps Est 6's '43	90	90	90
Shaw W&P 4½s 67A	90½	90½	90½
Shaw W&P 5½s 2025	90½	90½	90½
S E P&L 6s 2025A	82¾	84½	84½
So Cal Ed 5s 47	104¾	104¾	104¾
So Cal Ed 5s 54	104¾	104¾	104¾
So Cal Gas 5½s '47	104¾	104¾	104¾
So Ohio G Cal 6½s 48	103½	103½	103½
Southwest Nat G 6s 44	82	82	82
Southwest Nat G 6s 45	82	82	82
Southwest P&L 6s 2022	82	82	82
Stahly Mfg 6s 42	103½	103½	103½
Stand Gas 6's '66	82	82	82
Std G & E 6s 51	56	56	56
Std G & E 6s 57	56	56	56
Std P & L 6s 57	102	102	102
Swift & Co 5s '44	103½	103½	103½
Swift & Co 5s 44	103½	103½	103½
Tenn Pub S 5s '57	103½	103½	103½
Tex El S 5s 60	104	104	104
Tex El S 5½s 60	104	104	104
Tex P & L 6s 2022 A	92½	92½	92½
Tex P & L 6s '57	92½	92½	92½
Thermoid 6's '48	104	104	104
Tide-Wat P 5s '79 A	83¾	83¾	83¾
Tide-Wat P 6s '79 A	83¾	83¾	83¾
Tol Ed 5s '57	104¾	104¾	104¾
Tom G El 5s 44	104¾	104¾	104¾
Tri-City Ry 5's '57	104¾	104¾	104¾
Util El Pr 5½s '57	91	91	91
Util El Pr 6s '57	91	91	91
Ut L & P 5s '57	91	91	91
Ut L & P 5½s '57	91	91	91
Ut L & Rv 5½s '57	91	91	91
Ut Pr & L 5s '57	91	91	91
Ut Pr & L 6s '57	91	91	91
Wash Wat P 5s '57	104¾	104¾	104¾
West Tex Ut 5s 57	72	72	72
W Un G & S 5½s '42	102	102	102

New York Bond Market

	High	Low	Last
U. S. GOVERNMENT ISSUES
Lib 3½'s 32-47	101.8	101.8	101.8
Lib 1st 4¼s 32-47 reg	101.12	101.12	101.12
Lib 1st 4¼s 32-47 reg	101.12	101.12	101.12
Lib 4th 4¼s 33-38	101.12	101.12	101.12
Lib 4¼s 44-38 coll	100.27	100.18	100.23
Treas 4¼s 47-52	107.16	107.12	107.14
Treas 3¼s 43-45	105.4	105.2	105.2
Treas 3¼s 46 June	107.8	107.6	107.6
Treas 3¼s 43-47	106.18	106.17	106.18
Treas 3¼s reg 43-47	106.18	106.17	106.18
Treas 3¼s 41	107.11	107.11	107.11
Treas 3¼s 46	107.11	107.10	107.10
Treas 3¼s 46-49	103.31	103.31	103.31
Treas 3¼s 49-52	103.31	103.30	103.31
Treas 3¼ 51-55	103.5	102.30	103.5
Treas 3¼s 54-56	103.5	102.30	103.5
Fed Farm 3¼ 47	101.25	101.23	101.25
Fed Farm 3¼ 49	101.25	101.23	101.25
Home On Ln 3s & 52	101.16	101.13	101.16
Tm On Ln 2¼s 49-44	100.4	100.1	100.1
BONDS
Ash & Straus 5½s 47	103½	103½	103½
Ala & Atl 6s '43	10	10	10
Alleghany 5s 44	66¾	66¾	66¾
Alleghany 5s '49	66¾	66¾	66¾
Alleghany 5s '50	114¼	114¼	114¼
Am Ch'n 5½s '49	55	55	55
Am & For P 5s 2030	56	55	55
Am Rad 5½s '47	104¾	104¾	104¾
Am Roll M 5s '38	104¾	104	104
Am Sm & R 5s '47	104¾	104¾	104¾
Am T & T 5½s 43	112½	112½	112½
Am T & T 5s 46	110¾	110¾	110¾
Am T & T 5s 60	112	111¾	111¾
Am T & T 5½s 65	112¾	112¾	112¾
Am Wat Pap 6s 47	20½	20½	20½
Am Wat Wks 6s '75	89¾	89¾	89¾
Armstrong 5s 49	104	104	104
A T & S F 4s 1995	101.12	101.12	101.12
A T & S F 4s 1995-55	102	102	102
A T & S F 4s 1995-55	102	102	102
At Coast L 4½s 52	116¼	116¼	116¼
A C Line 4½s 52	83½	83½	83½
At Ref 5s 45	83½	83½	83½
Atl Ref 5s 47	83½	83½	83½
Atl & Dan 2d 4s 48	27	27	27
Atl & Dan 4s 48	27	27	27
B & O 5s 95	66	66	66
B & O 5s 2000	66	66	66
B & O cv 5s 95	57½	57½	57½
B & O cv 4½s 95	57½	57½	57½
B & O 4s 48	99¾	99¾	99¾
B & O 4s ser B&W'Y' 41	99¾	99¾	99¾
Beng&Lroo cv 4s 51 sta	104½	104½	104½
Bell Tel Pa 5s 48	106	106	106
Bell Tel Pa 5s 60 C	122½	122½	122½
Beth Ind L 6s 47	104¾	104¾	104¾
Beth Steel p m 5s 56	103¾	103¾	103¾
Boston Edison 5s 39	104¾	104¾	104¾
Bklyn Man Tran 5s 68	106½	106½	106½
Bklyn Ed Gas 5s 45	104¾	104¾	104¾
Bklyn Un Gas 5s 47	123	123	123
Buf R&P 4½s 57	104¾	104¾	104¾
Cal Pack 5s 40	104¼	104¼	104¼
Can Nat Ry 4½s 51	112¾	112¾	112¾
Can Nat Ry 4½s 56	112¾	112¾	112¾
Can Nor Pw 5s 53	104¾	104¾	104¾
Can Nor 7s 40	106½	106½	106½
Can Pac 4½s 60	104¾	104¾	104¾
Can Pac 4½s 60	104¾	104¾	104¾
Can Pac 4s perp	83¾	83¾	83¾
Can Sti E & U 5s 51	83¾	83¾	83¾
Cen Pac 5s 60	83¾	83¾	83¾
Cen R R N J 5s 87	103½	103½	103½
Certain-teed 6s 48	104¾	104¾	104¾
Cheap Corp 5s 47	104¼	104¼	104¼
Chi & Alton 3s 49	104¼	104¼	104¼
Chi & Alton 3s 49	104¼	104¼	104¼
Chi & W Ind 5s 62	104¾	104¾	104¾
Chi & W Ind 5s 62	104¾	104¾	104¾
Chi & W Ind 5s 62	104¾	104¾	104¾
CM&SP 4½s 89	24	24	24
CM&SP 4½s 89	24	24	24
CM&SP & Pac 5s	24	24	24
CMSP&P 5s ser A 2000	24	24	24
Chi & NW cv 4½s 49	24	24	24
Chi & NW cv 4½s 2037	18	18	18
CR&IP cv 4½s 60	11	11	11
CR&IP rfg 4s 34	11	11	11
CR&IP rfg 4s 34 ctf	11	11	11
CR&IP rfg 5s 34 ctf	11	11	11
ChkW Ind 4s 52	54¾	54¾	54¾
Chile Cop 5s 47	113¼	113¼	113¼
Chile Cop 5s 47	113¼	113¼	113¼
Chile Exp 5½s 42	57½	57½	57½
Clev Un Term 5½s 72	99	98¾	98¾
Clev Un Term 5½s 72	99	98¾	98¾
Col Indus 5s 34	94¾	94¾	94¾
Colomb G 4½ 35	94¾	94¾	94¾
Colomb G 5s 52 A	94¾	94¾	94¾
Colomb G 5s 52 Stev	94¾	94¾	94¾
Colomb G 5s 1961	94¾	94¾	94¾
Con Cons 5s 57	94¾	94¾	94¾
Con Gas NY 5½s 45	106	106	106
Con Gas NY 5s 57	106	106	106
Con Gas NY 4½s 51	104	104	104
Container 5s 40	104¾	104¾	104¾
Crown Will 6s 51	104¾	104¾	104¾
Crown Zell 4s 40	104¾	104¾	104¾
Cuba No Ry 5½s 42	45	45	45
Cuba Cane Pr 6s 50	45	45	45
Del&Hud rfg 4s 43	79	78¾	78¾
Del P&L 4½s 69	104¾	104¾	104¾
Det Ed 5s 52	104¾	104¾	104¾
Dodge Bros 6s 40	104¾	104¾	104¾
East Cuba Sug 7½s 37	7¾	7¼	7¼
Erie rf 5s 75	79¾	79¾	79¾
Erie gen lien 4s 96	54¾	54¾	54¾
Fla E Cst 4½s 59	55	55	55
Fla E Cst 4½s 59 ctfs	55	55	55
Fond J&G 4s 52 fld	4	4	4
Gamett 6s 43	104¾	104¾	104¾
Gen Cable 5½s 47	88¾	88¾	88¾
Gen Cable 5½s 47	88¾	88¾	88¾
Goodyr T&R 5s 57	105¾	104¾	104¾
Goodyr T&R 5s 57	105¾	104¾	104¾
Gt Nor Ry 7s 36	86¾	85	85
Gt Nor 6s 77	72	72	72
Gt Nor 4½s 76 D	71	71	71
Hudson Coal 5s '62 A	90	90	90
Hous GulTex 5½s 40	90	90	90
Hud & Man rfg 5s 57	90¾	90¾	90¾
Hud&Man inc 5s 57	34¾	34¾	34¾
Ill Cent 4s 52	92¾	92¾	92¾
Ill Cen 4½s 66	86¾	85½	85½
Ill Cent 4½s 66	86¾	85½	85½
I&GCRANO 3s 63 A	57½	56¾	57
I&GCRANO 3s 63 A	57½	56¾	57
Inland St 4½s 78 A	104¾	104¾	104¾
Inland St 4½s 78 A	104¾	104¾	104¾
Interb R T 5s 55	53	52	52
Int Cement 5s 48	99	99	99
Int Cement 5s 48	99	99	99
Int G Nor 1st 6s 52	26	26	26
Int G Nor 1st 6s 52	26	26	26
Int Hydro El 6s 44	35	34½	35
Int Mer Mar 6s 41	35	34½	35
Int Paper 5s 47	63	63¾	63¾
Int Paper 5s 55	63¾	63¾	63¾
Int T&T 4½s 52	54	54	54
Int T&T 4½s 52	54	54	54
Invest Eq 5s 48 B xw	101¾	101¾	101¾
Iron Fir 5s 49	90	90	90
Jones&Lgh 5s 57 B	105½	105½	105½
K C Southn 5s 50	60	60	60
K C Term 4s 60	107¾	107¾	107¾
Kansas City Pr 5s	102	102	102
Kendall 5½s 48 A	102½	102½	102½
Kendall 5½s 48 A	102½	102½	102½
Lac Gas 5½s 53	90	89¾	89¾
Lehigh C 5s 54	59	59	59
Leh Val NY 4½s 40	95	95	95
Leh Val NY 4½s 40	95	95	95
Leh Val 6s 2003	34¼	33½	33½
Leh Val 6s 2003	34¼	33½	33½
Liq Carb 5s 49	62	62	62
Loew's 6s 41	99¾	99¾	99¾
Lou & N 4½s 2003	103¾	103¾	103¾
Louis & N 5s 57	103¾	103¾	103¾
Manati Sug 6s 57	88	88	88
Marion St Shov 6s 47	88	88	88
McCrory Stores 5½s 41	102	102	102
McCrory Stores 5½s 41	102	102	102
Mead Corp 6s 45 A	84¾	84¾	84¾
Met Ed 5s 53	104¾	104¾	104¾
Midvale 5½ 36 xw	103½	103½	103½
Mid Ut Pr & L 5s 61 B	103½	103½	103½
M S P &SSMarie 4s 46	19	19	19
M S P &SSMarie 4s 46	19	19	19
M K Tex 5s 62 A	51	51	51
M K T rfg 4s 57	76¾	76¾	76¾
M K Tex 1st 4s 90	76¾	76¾	76¾
Mo Pac 5s 42 B	76¾	76¾	76¾
Mo Pac gen 5s 75	22	22	22
Mo Pac 5s 81	22	22	22
Mont Pr Ser 5s 52	78	78	78
Mont Pr Ser 5s 52	78	78	78
Mur & Essex 4½s 55	88	88	88
Nat Dairy 5½s 48	103½	103½	103½
Nat Dairy 5½s 48	103½	103½	103½
Nat Pr&L 5s 30	103½	103½	103½
Nat Pr&L 5s 30	103½	103½	103½
Nat Steel 5s 56	104¾	104¾	104¾
NYC 4s 2013 A	79¾	79¾	79¾
NYC 4s 2013 A	79¾	79¾	79¾
NYC con 4s 98	79¾	79¾	79¾
NYC&StL 4½s 78	79¾	79¾	79¾
NYC&StL 4½s 78	79¾	79¾	79¾
NY Chic&St 4½s 78	79¾	79¾	79¾
NY Chic&St 4½s 78	79¾	79¾	79¾
NY Edis 5s 31	79¾	79¾	79¾
NY Edis 5s 31	79¾	79¾	79¾
NY Lack & W 4½s 73	100½	100½	100½
NY Lack & W 4½s 73	100½	100½	100½
NYNH&H 4½s 67	29¾	29¾	29¾
NYNH&H 4½s 67	29¾	29¾	29¾
NYNH&H 5s 48	29¾	29¾	29¾
NY Ont & W 4s 92	29¾	29¾	29¾
NY Ry inc 6s 60

LEGISLATION

Public GOOD SMALL Matter

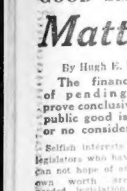
By Hugh E. Bradshaw

The financial aspects of pending legislation prove conclusively that the public good is given little or no consideration.

Selfish interests come first, and legislators who have programs that can not hope of adoption for their own worth are manipulating needed legislation in every way to sneak their pants over as riders or as provisions in some other necessary legislation. The relief bill and the bonus bill are two glaring examples.



The relief bill, of as a starting session with the promising wage crowd finally emerged from the Senate bill it had a tail. This took the form of a rider tacked on by Senator Byrd, Democrat, Virginia. Byrd was gone out that the administration will be able to filibuster, if necessary, to keep it there. The rider, in a nut shell, whose passage we now fear

Elmer Thomas ... December, ... running afoul of a crowd that will cost true bonus advocates friends among the general public. That is because they would pay with their money. With billions in bonds for relief a few billions in bonds for the bonus is the logical procedure.

Notebook: At the same time payment of the bonus is in itself an intelligent form of relief ... It is a logical subsidization for a good many of the wasteful programs now under consideration ... Its payment will circumvent graft and inefficiency and assure satisfaction and speedy use of the money ... The larger issues must soon be rescued or the hope of a full free will withers away before a wave of pessimism ... And we used to talk of playing politics with human misery.

* * *

A personal service compiled and charted by the writer in seeking in a manner calculated to discourage too heavily views, even if it is not as yet offering real reason to become very bullish. A double bottom with the November of last August developed last week. The fact the chart area would hold over a wide by separated occasions when blackest pessimism pervaded the financial district is notable. Granting that it is not yet conclusive, we call attention to it because of the probable worth as cautionary signal for bears. . . .

Briefs: Personally, we find it harder to turn from the bear to the bull side than vice versa. There is something about catching the trend down that encourages skepticism hard to throw off . . . Others may find this is true. That is why, after a slide of fair proportions, we keep questioning the outlook for continued declines . . . And, after all, the market has headed lower consistently since the early part of January . . . Nearly three months.

COAL MEN See Strike LOOMING

A strike of miners is currently expected by the bituminous coal industry on April 1 according to the coal trade. Wage development is responsible.

Industrial consumers are laying 50 days supply on the ground, and the railroads generally are building up 50 to 60 days stocks.

One coal man said he expected a 40,000-car increase in coal loadings over the corresponding bituminous production running around 9,000,000 tons.

Most bituminous mines are operating at 100 per cent of capacity.

PENN. R. R. Earnings Lower

Pennsylvania Railroad interim report for year ended December 31, 1934, shows surplus of $2,316,636,896 on December 31, 1933, and profit and loss surplus $190,248,756, against $208,620,765.

SHIPMENT OF Casings Larger

Shipments of pneumatic casings during January amounted to 3,672,615 against 3,108,352 in December and 3,222,788 in January, 1934, the Rubber Manufacturers' Association reported today. Production for the month was 4,626,473 units compared with 3,778,418 in December and 3,921,557 last year.

Stocks in the hands of manufacturers on Jan. 31 totaled 10,397,687 units against 8,454,985 in the previous month and 9,684,389 at the same date last year.

NEW YORK STOCKS

QUOTATIONS TO 2:30 P. M.

NET CHANGES

—A—

High	Low		Sales in 100s	High	Low	Last	Net Chg.
7¾	4¼	Adams Express	4	5¾	5¾	5¾	+ ⅛
29½	25	Adams Millis	2	29	29	29
20½	11¾	Alaska Juneau(75b)	2	16¾	16¾	16¾	+ ⅛
1⅛	⅛	Allegheny Corp	3	⅜	⅜	⅜	+ ⅛
		Allied Chem(6)	1	125½	125½	125½	+ ½
147	135	Allied Chem(6)	1	145½	145½	145½
12¾	7¾	Am Chain(½)	1	8	8	8
1¾	¾	Amal Leath Sr	1	¾	¾	¾
54	41	Am Bank Note	1	54½	54½	54½	+ ½
23¼	20¼	Am Can 6(8)	1	22	22	22	+ ¼
116	114	Am Can 7(8)	1	114½	114½	114½
8¾	6¾	Am Car & Fy	1	7¾	7¾	7¾
44	39	Am Com'l Alc	2	43½	43½	43½
6¾	5¾	Am Crystal Sug	1	6¾	6¾	6¾
37¾	33	Am Crystal S 6	1	37¾	37¾	37¾	+ ⅜
7¾	6¾	Am Encaus	1	7¾	7¾	7¾
2	⅞	Am & For'n P	2	1⅞	1⅞	1⅞	+ ⅛
18¾	17¾	Am&FPP 6 of	1	17¾	17¾	17¾	+ ⅛
18¾	18¾	Am&FPP 6 of	1	18¾	18¾	18¾	+ ⅛
25¾	12	Am H & L pf	1	18¼	18¼	18¼	+ ⅛
37¾	31¾	Am Home Pr(2.40)	1	35¾	35¾	35¾	+ ⅜
35	35	Am Ice pf(6)	1	35	35	35
5⅛	4⅝	Am Internat'l	1	5⅛	5⅛	5⅛
9	8	Am Locomotive	2	8⅝	8⅝	8⅝
19¾	18¾	Am Mach&Fdry	1	19¾	19¾	19¾	+ ⅜
7⅛	6¾	Am Metals	1	6¾	6¾	6¾
3⅛	2¾	Am Power & L	1	2¾	2¾	2¾
14¾	13¾	Am Pwl&Lt(1.20)	1	13¾	13¾	13¾
14¾	14¾	Am P&L 1st(1.25)	1	14¾	14¾	14¾
4¾	4¼	Am Rad 8(8)	1	4¼	4¼	4¼
16¾	15¾	Am Rolling Mill	4	16¼	16¼	16¼
3¾	3¾	Am Shipbuild	2	3¾	3¾	3¾
10¾	9¾	Am Smelting	2	10¼	10¼	10¼
107¾	103¾	Am Smelting pf	3	105	105	105	+ ¾
9¾	9¾	Am Snuff pf(3)	1	9¾	9¾	9¾
17¾	16¾	Am Steel Fdy	1	17¼	17¼	17¼	+ ⅛
19¾	19¾	Am Tobacco(6b)	1	19¾	19¾	19¾	+ ⅛
55¾	54¾	Am Tobacco B	2	55¼	55¼	55¼	+ ¼
16¾	15¾	Am Type Fdrs	1	16¼	16¼	16¼	+ ⅛
3¾	3¾	Am Sumatra(4)	1	3¾	3¾	3¾
10¾	10¾	Am Water Wks	2	10¾	10¾	10¾
9¾	9¾	Am Woolen	1	9¾	9¾	9¾
28¾	28¾	Am Woolen pf(2.50)	1	28¾	28¾	28¾
4¾	4¾	Anaconda	2	4¾	4¾	4¾
39¾	39¾	Arch Dan Int'l(2)	1	39¾	39¾	39¾
4¾	4¾	Armour Ill	4	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Armour Ill pf(6)	2	4¾	4¾	4¾
10¾	10¾	Armour Leather	1	10¾	10¾	10¾
26	26	Atchison(2a)	1	26	26	26
74	74	Atchison pf(5)	1	74	74	74
20	20	Atlantic Coast	1	20	20	20
25¾	25¼	Atlantic Refin(1½)	2	25¼	25¼	25¼
16¾	16¾	Auburn(3)	2	16¾	16¾	16¾	+ ¾
		Avis Const Del	1			1⅜

—B—

6¾	1½	Baldwin Loco	4	2	1⅞	1⅞
8¾	2	Balt & Ohio	12	8⅜	8⅛	8⅛
10¾	6¾	Balt & Ohio pf	1	10¾	10¾	10¾	+ ⅜
5¾	5¾	Barnsdall A	1	5¾	5¾	5¾
12	11¾	Bendix Aviat(.30)	2	12	12	12
11¾	11¾	Bendix Aviat	4	13¾	13	13
17¾	15¾	Beneficial Ln(1.50)	1	17¾	17¾	17¾
25¾	25¾	Bethlehem St	1	25	25	25
57¾	55¾	Bath Steel pf	1	10¾	10¾	10¾
3¾	3¾	Blaw Knox Co	1	3¾	3¾	3¾
18	18	Bloom dale(.60)	1	21	21	21
109¾	109¾	Bloom'g Bro 7pf	4	109¾	109¾	109¾
6¾	6¾	Boeing Aircraft	2	6¾	6¾	6¾	+ ⅛
10¾	9¾	Bohn Alumin(.50)	1	10¾	10¾	10¾
9¾	9¾	Bon Ami A(2.50)	1	9¾	9¾	9¾
21¾	21¾	Borden Co(1.60)	14	22	22	22	+ ¼
34¾	29¾	Borg-Warner(1.50)	19	29¾	29¾	29¾
25¾	25¾	Bosch Magneto	1	25¾	25¾	25¾
17¾	17¾	Brit Am Tob(Bd)	1	17¾	17¾	17¾
17¾	17¾	Brit&Am Tob(Ord)	1	17¾	17¾	17¾
4¾	4¾	Budd Mfg Co	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
23¾	23¾	Budd Mfg Co pf	1	23¾	23¾	23¾
7¾	7¾	Budd Wheel	1	7¾	7¾	7¾
90	90	Bullard(4)	1	90	90	90
4¾	4¾	Burma Corp(.60)	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
12¾	12¾	Byers A M	3	12¾	12¾	12¾	+ ⅛

—C—

38¾	36¾	Cal Packing(.75)	3	38¾	38¾	38¾
7¾	7¾	Calahan Zinc	1	7¾	7¾	7¾
7¾	7¾	Calamba Sug	1	7¾	7¾	7¾
10¾	10¾	Canada Dry(1.40)	1	10¾	10¾	10¾
13¾	13¾	Canadian Pac(1)	1	13¾	13¾	13¾
32¾	32¾	Cannon Mills(2)	1	32¾	32¾	32¾	+ ¼
4¾	4¾	Capital Ad	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
48¾	46¾	Case J I	1	48¾	48¾	48¾	+ ¾
44	40½	Caterpillar Tr(1.50b)	5	39¾	38	38	- ¾
39¾	39¾	Celanese Corp	1	39¾	39¾	39¾	+ ¾
2¾	2¾	Celotex(.60)	2	2¾	2¾	2¾
27¾	27¾	Cent Aguirre(1.50)	1	27¾	27¾	27¾
37¾	34	Cent Hud G N	1	37	37	37
47¾	47¾	Cerro de Pas(2m)	23	42¾	42¼	42¼
4¾	4¾	Certain-teed	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
39¾	39¾	Chesa & O Corp(3)	1	39¾	39¾	39¾
7¾	7¾	Chic & Ohio(2.80)	1	7¾	7¾	7¾
15¾	15¾	Chic G W(1.50)	1	15¾	15¾	15¾
3¾	3¾	Chic Great West	2	3¾	3¾	3¾
3¾	3¾	Chic Ind W pf	1	3¾	3¾	3¾
15¾	15¾	Chi Ind Lou pf	1	15¾	15¾	15¾
1¼	1¼	C M St P&P	1	1¼	1¼	1¼
2¾	2¾	C M St P&P pf	4	2¾	2¾	2¾
29¾	28¾	Chic & N W	1	29¾	29¾	29¾
29¾	29¾	Chic & N W pf	1	29¾	29¾	29¾
21¾	20¾	Chi Pneu tr pf	2	21¾	21¾	21¾	+ ¾
4¾	4¾	Chi Rock Isl	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	1¾	CRI & P 7 pf	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
54	53	Chrysler(3)	27	54	53	53¾	+ ¾
7¾	7¾	City Stores	1	7¾	7¾	7¾
6¾	6¾	City Stores pf	1	6¾	6¾	6¾
113½	112¾	Cluett Phe pf(7)	1	118½	118½	118½	+ ¾
100½	100½	Coca Cola(4)	1	100½	100½	100½
36¾	36¾	Coca Cola A(3)	1	36¾	36¾	36¾
16¾	16¾	Colgate P P(1.80)	1	16¾	16¾	16¾
10¾	10¾	Col P & P pf(6.60)	1	10¾	10¾	10¾
4¾	4¾	Collins & Aik	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Col Fuel & Iron	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
5¾	5¾	Col Pict(rts)(.1)	1	5¾	5¾	5¾
39¾	39¾	Columbia Gas	1	39¾	39¾	39¾
40¾	40¾	Comm Gas of A(6)	1	40¾	40¾	40¾
41¾	41¾	Col Pictures(1.40)	2	41¾	41¾	41¾
42¾	42¾	Col Carbon(4)	1	42¾	42¾	42¾
42¾	42¾	Comm Credit(2m)	16	42	41¾	42	+ ¼
59¾	59¾	Com Cred pf(4.75)	1	59¾	59¾	59¾
59¾	59¾	Com Credit pf(5)	1	59¾	59¾	59¾
59¾	59¾	Com Inv Tr(2.50)	1	59¾	59¾	59¾
3¾	3¾	Com Solv(.80a)	1	3¾	3¾	3¾
3¾	3¾	Com Wth&Sou	1	3¾	3¾	3¾
42¾	39¾	Con & Bo fd(2.25a)	17	39¾	36¾	36¾
4¾	4¾	Consol Aircraft	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Con Coal Md	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
7¾	4¾	Con R&L pf(1.75)	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Cons Film	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Cons Film pf(1r)	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
10¾	10¾	Consol Gas(3a)	15	10¾	10¾	10¾
10¾	10¾	Consol Gas pf(6)	1	10¾	10¾	10¾
7¾	7¾	Consol Textile	1	7¾	7¾	7¾
6¾	6¾	Cont Bak of A(4)	1	6¾	6¾	6¾
63¾	63¾	Cont Can(2.40)	1	63¾	63¾	63¾
29¾	29¾	Cont Diamond	1	29¾	29¾	29¾
29¾	29¾	Cont Ins(1.20)	1	29¾	29¾	29¾
41¾	41¾	Cont Motors	1	41¾	41¾	41¾
43¾	43¾	Cont Oil(1.40)	1	43¾	43¾	43¾
4¾	4¾	Cont Oil(rts)	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Cont Product(.40)	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Cont Sec	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Cream of Wheat(3)	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Crown Cork Int'l	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Crown Zellerb	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Cuban-Am Sug	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Cuban Am S pf	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Curtis Publish	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Curtis Wright	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Curtiss Wright A	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Cushman s Inf(1)	1	4¾	4¾	4¾

—D—

4¾	4¾	Deere & Co	7	25	24¾	24¾	- ¾
4¾	4¾	Del & Hudson	1	25¾	25	25¾	- ⅛
4¾	4¾	Del Lac & W	1	12	12	12
4¾	4¾	Detroit Edison(4)	2	68½	68	68
4¾	4¾	Diamd Match(3)	3	28¾	28	28
4¾	4¾	Dia Match pf(3)	1	30	30	30
4¾	4¾	Dome Mines (2)	3	39	38½	38
4¾	4¾	Dom Stores Ltd(1.20)	2	19½	19½	19½
4¾	4¾	Dominion Tar	1	20	19½	19½
4¾	4¾	Donald Line	1
4¾	4¾	Douglas Aircraft(2)	5	90	85¾	89
4¾	4¾	DuPont de(6)	7	129	129	129
4¾	4¾	Dup Dis Inc(.15)	1	104¼	104¼	104¼

—E—

4¾	4¾	Eastn Roll'g Mills	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Eastman Kod(3)	4	118	117	117¾	- ¾
4¾	4¾	Eaton Mfg(1)	2	17¾	17½	17½	- ¼
4¾	4¾	Elttington Schild	3	3¾	3¾	3¾
4¾	4¾	Elec Auto-Lite	15	21	20	20	- ⅛
4¾	4¾	E Auto Lt pf(7)	1	110	110	110
4¾	4¾	Electric Boat	3	4¾	4¾	4¾	+ ⅛
4¾	4¾	Electric P&L	13	2¾	2¾	2¾	+ ⅛
4¾	4¾	Elec P&L 7 pf	1	5¾	5¾	5¾	- ⅛

—E—

4¾	4¾	Endicott J pf(7)	1	130½	125¾	Endicott J pf(7)	1	130½	125¾	125¾
4¾	4¾	Equit Off Bldg	1	5	5	5
4¾	4¾	Erie	1	9	9	9
4¾	4¾	Erie 1st pf	1	19	19	19

—F—

4¾	4¾	Fairbks Morse	1	21¾	21	21	- ¾
4¾	4¾	Fairbks M pf(3)	1	87	86	86¾	- ¼
4¾	4¾	Fed Lt & Trac	1	4	4	4
4¾	4¾	Fed Water Serv	1	14	13¾	14
4¾	4¾	Firestone T R(1.40)	1	47	47	47
4¾	4¾	Firestone T R pf(6)	1	113	113	113
4¾	4¾	Foster Wheeler(3)	1	22½	22½	22½	- ¼
4¾	4¾	Fourth Nat'l(4)	1	39	39	39
4¾	4¾	Fox Film	1	22¾	22	22	- ¾
4¾	4¾	Freeport Tex (1)	6	23¾	22	22	- ¾

—G—

4¾	4¾	GenAmTrans(1.75)	3	34½	34½	34½	- ½
4¾	4¾	Gen Asphalt	1	13½	13½	13½	- ¾
4¾	4¾	Gen Baking(.30)	1	7¾	7¾	7¾
4¾	4¾	Gen Baking pf(8)	1	123½	123½	123½
4¾	4¾	Gen Bronze	1	7¾	7¾	7¾
4¾	4¾	General Cigar(3a)	1	50½	50½	50½	+ ¼
4¾	4¾	Gen'l Electric(.60)	20	21¾	21¾	21¾
4¾	4¾	Gen Elec Secs(.60)	2	11¾	11¾	11¾
4¾	4¾	Gen Foods(1.40)	5	33	32¾	32¾
4¾	4¾	General Gas A	1
4¾	4¾	General Gas pf(6)	1	62¾	62¾	62¾
4¾	4¾	Gen Motors(1)	40	28¾	27¾	27¾	- ¼
4¾	4¾	Gen Motor pf	1	107¾	107¾	107¾	+ ¾
4¾	4¾	Goodrich Rub	1	17¾	17¾	17¾
4¾	4¾	Goodyear Tire	2	27¾	27¾	27¾
4¾	4¾	Granby Consol	1	7¾	7¾	7¾
4¾	4¾	Grand Un Int'l(.50)	1	7¾	7¾	7¾
4¾	4¾	Grant W T(.20)	1	17¾	17¾	17¾
4¾	4¾	Gt Nor Ore Sub	1	9¾	9¾	9¾
4¾	4¾	Gt N Ore ctf(.502)	1	9¾	9¾	9¾
4¾	4¾	Gt West Sug(2.40)	1	26¾	26¾	26¾
4¾	4¾	Guantanamo S	1

—H—

4¾	4¾	Hack of A	6	30½	30½	30½
4¾	4¾	Hahn Dept St	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Hall S R(1.50)	1	67¾	67¾	67¾
4¾	4¾	Hanna M(2)	1	39	37¾	38½
4¾	4¾	Hat Corp Am	2	6¾	6¾	6¾
4¾	4¾	Hercules Pwd(3.50)	1	76	76	76
4¾	4¾	Hercules Pwd pf(7)	1	76	76	76
4¾	4¾	Hollander&Sn(.50)	1	7¾	7¾	7¾
4¾	4¾	Hood Rub Co(2)	1	24	24	24
4¾	4¾	Houd-Hers vA(2.50)	4	32½	32½	32½
4¾	4¾	Houston Oil	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Houston Oil new	1	23¾	23¾	23¾
4¾	4¾	Howe Sound(3)	2	46	46	46	+ ¼
4¾	4¾	Hudson & Manh	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Hud & Man pf	2	7¾	7¾	7¾
4¾	4¾	Hudson Motor	60	2	2	2
4¾	4¾	Hupp Motors	1

—I—

4¾	4¾	Illinois Cent	1
4¾	4¾	Illinois Cent pf	1
4¾	4¾	Indust Rayon(1.60)	13	26¾	25	25¾	+ ¾
4¾	4¾	Inspiration Cop	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Insull Utility Inv	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Int Business M(4)	2	153½	153½	153½
4¾	4¾	Int Cigar Mch	1	6¾	6¾	6¾
4¾	4¾	Inter Cement(.25)	2	24	23½	23½	- ¼
4¾	4¾	Int Harvester(.60)	2	43¾	43¾	43¾	+ ¾
4¾	4¾	Int Harvester pf	1	109	109	109
4¾	4¾	Int Mer Mar	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Int Mer Mar pf	20	23¾	23¾	23¾
4¾	4¾	Int Nickel(1.50)	1	39¾	39¾	39¾
4¾	4¾	Int Paper pf	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Int Pr 1 6% pf(6)	1	12	12	12
4¾	4¾	Int Pr 7% pf(7)	12	65¾	64¾	65¾	+ ¾
4¾	4¾	Interstate Dept	1	2	2	2

—J—

4¾	4¾	Jewel Tea(1.50a)	1	57	49	Jewel Tea(1.50a)	1	57	49	49
4¾	4¾	Johns Manville	1	39¾	39¾	Johns Manville	1	39¾	39¾	39¾
4¾	4¾	Johns&J(1.40)	1	54	54	Johns&J(1.40)	1	54	54	54
4¾	4¾	Jones & L pf	10	52½	52¼	Jones & L pf	10	52½	52¼	52¼
4¾	4¾	Kaufm D S(1.20)	1			Kaufm D S(1.20)	1

—K—

4¾	4¾	Kayser Jul's(.25)	2	16¾	16¾	16¾	+ ¼
4¾	4¾	Kelly Sp Tire	2	7¾	7¾	7¾
4¾	4¾	Kelsey Hayes	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Kelvinator(.20)	1	15¾	15¾	15¾
4¾	4¾	Kn neecott(.15m)	1	8¾	8¾	8¾
4¾	4¾	Kresge S S(.50)	1	20¾	20¾	20¾
4¾	4¾	Kress & Co(1)	1	59¾	59¾	59¾	+ ¾
4¾	4¾	Kroger Gro(1.60)	4	24¾	24	24

—L—

4¾	4¾	Lambert Co(3)	1	28¾	28¾	28¾
4¾	4¾	Leh Val Coal	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Lehman Corp(2.85b)	1	69	69	69	+ ¾
4¾	4¾	Lehn&Fink(1.20)	1	24¾	23¾	23¾	- ¾
4¾	4¾	Lib McNeil(.60)	1	24	23¾	23¾	- ¼
4¾	4¾	Life Savers(1.60)	1	21¾	21¾	21¾
4¾	4¾	Liggett&M(3)	1	88	87½	88	+ ¾
4¾	4¾	Liggett&M B(5b)	1	181	181	181
4¾	4¾	Lig&M pf(6.25)	1	154½	154½	154½
4¾	4¾	Loew's Inc(2)	1	34¾	34¾	34¾
4¾	4¾	Loft Inc	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Long Bell L A	1
4¾	4¾	Louis Wilson(3)	1	53	53	53
4¾	4¾	Louisville G(2.20b)	1	33¾	33¾	33¾
4¾	4¾	Louis Gas A(1.50)	1	33¾	33¾	33¾

—M—

4¾	4¾	Mack Trucks(1)	2	21¾	21¾	21¾
4¾	4¾	Macy&Co(2)	2	36	35¾	35¾
4¾	4¾	Madison Sq	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Magma Cop(.50)	1	21	21	21
4¾	4¾	Magma Cop(.50)	1	21¾	21¾	21¾
4¾	4¾	Manh Rv m g	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Manh Rv&L(.80)	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Marshall Field	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Mathieson Alk(1.50)	1	32¾	32¾	32¾
4¾	4¾	Mathieson pfd(7)	1	147	147	147
4¾	4¾	Mavtag Co	1	7¾	7¾	7¾
4¾	4¾	Maytag pf ww(.75)	1	42¾	41¾	42¾	+ ¾
4¾	4¾	McCall Corp(2)	1	28¾	28¾	28¾
4¾	4¾	McCrory Str	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	McIn Pr Mines	1	44	44	44
4¾	4¾	McKees Tin Pf(4)	1	100½	99½	99½
4¾	4¾	McKesson&R(1)	1	22¾	22¾	22¾
4¾	4¾	McLellan Stores	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Mel Shoe(2.50b)	1	45¾	45¾	45¾
4¾	4¾	Mengel Co	1	5¾	5¾	5¾
4¾	4¾	Mesta Mach(1.30)	1	4	4	4
4¾	4¾	Miami Cop(.50)	1	20¾	20¾	20¾
4¾	4¾	Mid St Pd Int(2r)	1	63	63	63
4¾	4¾	Minn Moline Pw	1	4¾	4¾	4¾
4¾	4¾	Minneapolis Pac	2	4¾	4¾	4¾

HERE'S A HELPFUL MEANS OF SELECTING YOUR NEXT CAR

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Death Notices

CASWELL—At Cambridge, March 22d, Margaret L. Caswell, 12 Maynard place. May be seen at Wyeth Chapel, 1695 Mass. Ave., Cambridge, Sunday afternoon. Notice of funeral later.

GILMORE—In this city, March 23, Frederick A. Gilmore, of 794 Shawmut Ave. Funeral from the Graham Funeral Home, 1170 Washington St., Tuesday, March 26, at 8:45 a. m. High mass of requiem at St. Philip's Church at 9:15 a. m. Relatives and friends are respectfully invited.

LEONARD—In Roslindale, March 21, William J., beloved husband of Margaret Leonard (nee Brotherton). Funeral from his late residence, 104 Colborne Ave., Sunday, March 24, at 2:15 p. m. Services at the Church of the Holy Name at 3 o'clock. Requiem high mass Tuesday, March 26, at 7:45 a. m. Interment at St. Mary's Cemetery. Kindly omit flowers. Late member of Jamaica Plain Council No. 126, K. of C., and Bishop Cheverus General Assembly.

10 Funeral Directors

J. S. WATERMAN & SONS — Established 1833 — FUNERAL SERVICE — Local and Suburban

Graham Funeral Service
1170 WASHINGTON ST.
Special Funeral $125 Non-Sect. Special Funeral Metal Casket, Auto Service available anywhere in N. E.

11A Monuments

MONUMENTS OF QUALITY — WRITE FOR DESIGNS AND PRICES — Thos. E. Craig — QUINCY, MASS. GRAN. MONT. S.

MONUMENTS—WRITE FOR CATALOG AND PRICES. MEMORIAL GRANITE CO., 138 HANCOCK ST., QUINCY, MASS.

News Agencies

F. BROGGI
8 Bodwell St., Sanford, Maine

12 Florists

Penn The Florist — 124 TREMONT ST. BOSTON — PENNHURST — LIB. 4317

15 Lost and Found

Found Fox Terrier, German Shepherd, Boston Terrier, Poodle, Collie, 210th Terrier, Field Mice, Lhasa, Chow, etc. Lost boston, lady's wrist watch, diamond-studded, No. 25728, Reward Copley Square 7687. Lost black F.O.X. and mouse, Waterville or car Central Sq., Cash. Rew. Mid. 2000-R. Lost LADY'S white gold wrist watch, inside J. M. C. Reward. KEN. 6415.

Obituaries

MISS FLORENCE M. DUDLEY.

Funeral services for Miss Florence M. Dudley, 60, for 40 years a teacher in Ellis school, Cambridge, who died Friday at 1842 Beacon street, Brookline, were to be held in a funeral parlor, 497 Commonwealth avenue, today.

MIKARI J. DOWD.

The funeral of Michael J. Dowd, 80, former city clerk of Lowell, who died there yesterday at his home, 113 Merrill avenue, will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. in St. Michael's Church, Lowell.

WILLIAM D. ROGERS

Funeral services for William D. Rogers, 48, janitor in the Josiah Kendall School, who died early today in Baker Memorial Hospital, will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. in his home, 5 Ripley street, Belmont. Burial will be in Belmont Cemetery.

MISS MARY H. DOWNEY

The funeral of Miss Mary H. Downey, school department official in Lowell, who died there Saturday after her home on Huntington street, will be held tomorrow in the Immaculate Conception Church.

MISS MARJORIE F. BEARCE.

Funeral arrangements for Miss Marjorie Frances Bearce, 19, who died in Portland, Me., who died yesterday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bearce, in South Portland, were to be announced today.

LEONARD M. FOWLE

Funeral services for Leonard M. Fowle, yachting editor of the Boston Globe, who died a week ago in Hollywood, Calif., were to be held today in St. Michael's church, Marblehead. Burial will be in Woodbrook Cemetery, Woburn.

MISS ELIZABETH M. CAHILL

The funeral of Miss Elizabeth M. Cahill, for many years a bookkeeper in Lynn, who died Saturday, will be held from the home of her sisters, Catherine Lally, 618 Humphrey street, Swampscott, tomorrow at 8 A. M. A solemn high mass of requiem will be sung at 9 o'clock in St. Joseph's church, Lynn.

JOHN H. FARNUM

Funeral services for John H. Farnum, 75, senior member of John H. Farnum and Son, Boston produce merchants, who died Saturday at his home, 191 Summer avenue, Reading, were to be held today at his late residence. Interment will be in Reading.

MRS. MINA H. DELAND

The funeral of Mrs. Mina H. Deland, 52, wife of Frank W. Deland, who died yesterday at her home, 58 Batchelder street, Lynn, will be held tomorrow at 8 A. M. A requiem high mass will be sung in St. Pius' church, Maple street, Lynn. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

FINANCIAL

70 Money to Loan

CLIP THIS

FOR QUICK CASH

LOANS ON FURNITURE—AUTOMOBILES—SIGNATURES

CAPITAL FINANCING PLAN
148 STATE ST. CAPITOL 9561 LICENSE 37

PERSONAL LOANS
WITHOUT ENDORSERS
ON FURNITURE, AUTOS, NOTES
$Borrow $50, pay back $3 monthly
Borrow $100, pay back $5 monthly
Borrow $200, pay back $9 monthly
Borrow $300, pay back $12 monthly
On Principal with Charges at Lawful Rate for the actual number of days you use the money.
NATIONAL LOAN SOCIETY
24 SCHOOL ST., BOSTON
LAFAYETTE BUILDING
689 MASS. AVE., CAMBRIDGE
TROWBRIDGE 8115
1 SALEM ST., MALDEN
MALDEN 0085
Licenses S2—117—137 Respectively

LOANS $10 to $300
Whether you need $10 or $300 —you are sure of quick, courteous service—with repayment terms to suit your present income.
Conservative Financing Service
3rd Floor, Singer Bldg. LIB. 5293
55 Temple Pl., Boston License 216

MONEY FOR MARCH, BORROW NOW AND PAY ALL BILLS, NO NEED. $135 AVAILABLE—LOANS TO $1000. Utmost Courtesy—Complete Privacy. Nine Liberal Plan Suites Your Problem. SMALL AMOUNTS USUALLY LOANED ON SIGNATURE. NO SECURITY ONLY. IDEAL FINANCING ASS'N., Inc. 333 Washington St., Rm. 408-411. License 87. Phone for Information HUB. 4951.

LOANS In 24 to 48 hours
No Red tape. $50 to $300 and easy repayments spread over as long as 20 months. Call, write or phone for details.
Auto Endorsed Note Furniture and Combination Loans
NEW ENGLAND EQUITY CORPORATION
153 Washington St. 3rd Floor, Rm. 303 Phone LIBerty 1744 License 37

LOANS
Prompt Courteous
On Salaries, Autos & Stocks
BANKERS FINANCE CORPORATION
18 Tremont St., Room 501, Boston
Tel. LAf. 6810 License 334

GLOBE LOANS—
Disc. & Finance Autos — Trucks — Corporation Endorsements. Quick Service. Reasonable repayments. 537 Park St. Bldg.—LIB.—Dime 1845

MONEY FOR ALL YOUR NEEDS
M-A-C PLAN INC.
CALL, WRITE OR PHONE LIB. 2067
333 Washington St., Rm. 702. License 137

See Pilgrim Plan
AUTOMOBILE FURNITURE LOANS
$50 to $1000. Yes, Sir! Tenth PILGRIM PLAN, 24 SCHOOL ST. Room 304-305, 3rd Floor. License 63.

1 Hour Service. No Red Tape
AUTO and TRUCK LOANS
AMERICAN FINANCE CORPORATION. LICENSE 73
Room 727 Park Square Bldg. HUB. 1313.
WE SPECIALIZE IN 2ND MORTGAGE LOANS TO HOME OWNERS
Very Small Requirements. Hub Finance Co.
609 Washington St. LIBerty 8410

TRUCKS and AUTO LOANS
CREDIT 1848 and UNION TRUST License 68.
457 Stuart St. Rm. 210. Boston. KEN. 9249.

LOANS on furniture, with 24 months to pay. Boston Morris Plan Company, the house of 209 Washington St., Boston.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

18 Special Notices

Let The Salvation Army help your spring cleaning! Call Gar. 4125.

DURING your spring cleaning, don't forget the MORGAN MEMORIAL. A good call box will be sent you. Han. 0650.

WE Pay Highest Cash prices for rags, iron and metal, any amt. SOUTH BOSTON JUNK CO., 190 A St., South Boston 0025.

BINGHAM—HULL—NANTASKET New Steamer to Vacation Land.

WANTED—Stainless and high speed steel scrap. Prompt removal. Brockton 6577.

Zinc, copper plates for photo engraving. Edw. Mfg. Co., Plymouth, Mass.

MODERN Decorating Co., for jewelry. Maiden Lane, Attleboro, Mass.

19 Beauty Aids

ELECTRIC NEEDLE SPECIALIST
HAIR On ladies' faces permanently removed by latest scientific methods. Physicians' references. Miss Mollie Rapport
$1 PERMANENT WAVE COMPLETE $1
Rob Academy of Beauty Culture, Inc. 1 near Mass. Sta. 1 Kens. 0272
SHAMPOO—Finger wave free in 1126, 726c. Permanents, $2.50 up, complete. Antoine, 5 A Winter St.—Rm. 910. Dev. 7260.

20 Beauty Instruction

STUDLEY BEAUTY SCHOOL
Through training in every branch of beautykeeper in Lynn, who died Saturday, will be held from the home of her sisters, Catherine Lally, 618 Humphrey street, Swampscott, tomorrow at 8 A. M. A solemn high mass of requiem will be sung at 9 o'clock in St. Joseph's church, Lynn.

21 Professional Service

RUPTURE SUCCESSFULLY TREATED
without steel springs, elastic belts or leg-straps. Our "COMMON-SENSE" TRUSS is EASY to wear and SURE to HOLD. POWERS & JOHNSON, 100 Boylston St., Boston. Rm. 809. Established 50 years.

ANGLO-SWEDISH MASSAGE
241 West Newton St. Summer 1993

ADELLA M. W. Wilson, magnetic healing, massage. 65 Edgerly Rd. Ken. 5583.

24 Dancing

William H. O'Brien 240 Huntington Ave., cor. Belvidere. Ken. 1926. 10 PRIVATE LESSONS $5—2 CLASS LESSONS $2
8 PRIVATE LESSONS $8 MISS HUNT'S STUDIO LESSONS $5 376 HUNT. AVE., KEN. 5631
2 PR. LESSONS—ACADEMY OF DANCING $1
2098 BOYLSTON ST., near Mass. Ave. Gen. 0328

Barbara Holmes gives her patrons a card of introduction from the bureau to the agency or person offering the rental.

FINANCIAL

70 Money to Loan

LOANS on Furniture, Autos, Signatures
Repayments to suit your income
Personal Finance Co.
Room 1001, 31 Milk St. HUB. 1717

LOANS
$10 to $300
Quick, Courteous Service

NEW ENGLAND'S GREATEST EVENING NEWSPAPER

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

MONDAY, MARCH 25, 1935

LARGEST EVENING CIRCULATION BY MORE THAN 80,000

American Merchant Marine Needs Intelligent, Patriotic Support

ESSENTIAL alike to the progress of the American people and to their national security are a prospering American merchant marine and American air transport.

The development of these auxiliaries of our interstate and foreign commerce and of "the common defense" ought to be of paramount and constant concern to every Congress and to every President.

The time is at hand for the Congress and the President to unite in an intelligent and patriotic effort to do something large and liberal and worthy of the greatness of the nation and of the magnitude of the public interests which are involved in the upbuilding and maintenance of a prospering merchant marine and an equally successful system of air transport.

Such an effort to succeed must apply the lessons of the past, taught by the experiences of our own and the other maritime nations of the world to present needs.

CONGRESSMAN LEA of California has introduced a bill to carry out the main recommendations of the Federal Aviation Commission for the rescue of American air transport and its restoration to a firm foundation. Hearings on this measure should not be longer delayed by the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce.

Under the chairmanship of Congressman Bland of Virginia, the House Committee on Merchant Marine has begun discussion of problems that must be solved if American shipping is to be able to compete on fair terms with foreign shipping.

THIS COMMITTEE WILL BE WELL-ADVISED TO OPPOSE ANY DRASTIC CHANGES IN THE MERCHANT MARINE ACT OF 1928.

TO repeal this law or to cancel the contracts entered into under its provisions would be a fatuous blunder.

It would send into bankruptcy many shipping companies which are doing their best to carry out these contracts.

It would postpone indefinitely the building of new ships and the expansion of services now in operation which have proved their value to the country.

IT WOULD REPEAT THE COLOSSAL BLUNDER OF WHICH AMERICAN AIR TRANSPORT WAS THE VICTIM A YEAR AGO WHEN ALL DOMESTIC AIR MAIL CONTRACTS WERE CANCELLED AND THE SYSTEM WELL-NIGH WRECKED.

WHAT the American merchant marine and American air transport now most need today for their development are:

First, continuity of merchant marine and air transport policy over a period of years.

Second, honest and effective administration of existing laws under which, in spite of the depression, in spite of political attacks, in spite of foreign competition, our shipping lines and air lines have been making progress.

Third, perfecting amendments to the mechant marine act of 1928 that will remedy defects in its operation and encourage a better administration of its main provisions.

Fourth, new legislation to carry out the main recommendations of the Federal aviation commission the report of which is now before the Congress for action.

ONLY the President and the Congress can restore confidence in the purpose of the federal government to provide that aid for merchant shipping and air transport which the government, under existing law, is pledged to provide.

If democracy under the New Deal is to merit the continued support of the American people it must rid itself of an obsession for changing everything.

Instead of being so discouragingly destructive, instead of striving always to tear down, "New Deal" democracy must soon show some desire to build up lest the people come to the conclusion that it DOES NOT KNOW HOW, AND IS UNWILLING TO LEARN.

Fanning the Flames

Weasel Words by NRA Man

AMERICA'S economic supremacy has been builded on a recognition of the fact that there is a partnership between capital and labor.

In this spirit employers in normal times have developed unprecedentedly high wage standards. In terms of goods, workingmen have received four times as much as their grandfathers.

In return, workers recognized their obligation to heighten productivity, avoiding the European trades union blunder of deliberately slowing up production.

Old World economics progress was retarded by the insidious notion that the interests of management and men were irreconcilable and that a class war existed.

Unfortunately such efficiency-destroying ideas have gained some currency here in the last two years.

UNDER Section 7-A of the National Industrial Recovery Act an attempt has been made to pit workers against employers.

It is regrettable that in a recent address a high Administration official, Francis Biddle, chairman of the National Labor Relations Board, supposedly a fact-finding agency, gave encouragement to that un-American philosophy.

Speaking in Pittsburgh and attempting to carry water on both shoulders, Mr. Biddle said:

"There are two theories about the relationship of capital and labor. One is the partnership theory, the other the class war theory . . . A little thinking will show that both these generalities are partly true; that each taken alone is misleading; that together they are not only not inconsistent but complementary.

"Thus it becomes fair to describe the relationship as a partnership only AFTER an agreement has been entered into by the parties from some equality of bargaining power. Such agreements are collective bargaining agreements, signed by employer and union and are REAL PARTNERSHIPS, which carry with them the joint good will and spirit of team play of real partnerships."

BEHIND these weasel words was a frontal attack on company unions.

Fortunately Mr. Biddle's utterances and prejudices do not constitute the law.

In the recent Weirton Steel case Federal Judge Nields, in Wilmington, Del., on the contrary held that company unions are legal under the terms of Section 7-A.

Apart from the technicality, Mr. Biddle, engaged and paid for fact-finding, is open to severe rebuke for acting as an agitator rather than serving as a conciliator and social interpreter.

The time has come to call a halt to the dangerous tendency of Brain Trusters and others to sow the seeds of discontent at a time when public welfare demands a harmonizing of interests.

When officials in judicial positions become special pleaders for parties whose disputes come before them they lose their unselfishness and should be replaced.

Practical Pledges

Will Aid Employment

State Director John F. Malley of the Federal Housing Corporation announces $1,785,257 pledged for repair work on Bay State homes.

The pledges were those for the week ended March 16. The total pledged in the present campaign is $9,822,495.

Boston, Lawrence and Cambridge are the cities that lead, and in the order named.

Such a considerable volume of work as is indicated may not spell a boom. But it will mean employment in the affected lines will be nearer normal than in several years.

We congratulate the pledge getters for successfully pursuing a constructive line of work.

Home Owners' Bill

It Makes Progress

Seventeen members of the Massachusetts State Senate were more than enough to order the so-called Home Owners' bill to a third reading last week.

The bill would prohibit arrest and commitment of persons for failure to pay real estate taxes.

One Senator who opposed the measure declared it would force the tax collectors to sell the property of the non-paying owner.

Even if this claim is true, the probability is that the average home owner would prefer a tax title sale to being jailed.

We had thought that jailing people for inability to pay debts belonged to the Middle Ages. Massachusetts cannot end her share in such actions any too soon.

Line Is Busy---

Off the Hook—To Stay Off!

By T. E. Powers

Listen, World!

By Elsie Robinson

ARE WOMEN MORE SENSITIVE THAN MEN?

How COULD a man do a thing like that unless he was perfectly heartless? Take his second wife to the place where they two had been so happy together before the big break came?

Eloise wonders, fearfully. She has, to be sure, married again herself. But that, she protests doesn't make a BIt of Difference.

She'll always remember—ALWAYS! So how CAN Hal be so cruel? And it doesn't it just go to prove that men aren't as sensitive as women?

Elsie Robinson

Does it? I wonder. Yes—I know how she feels. Every woman feels like that at some time.

Dozens of women—wives, mothers and sweethearts—write letters like that to this department every day. CAN FIFTY THOUSAND FURIOUS FEMALES POSSIBLY BE WRONG? I suspect they can—and are.

THINGS THEY DO

Let's hastily admit that it's bad taste—as well as doggoned dumb for gentlemen to take New Loves to the romantic rendezvous they once shared with the Old Ones.

But it does not necessarily follow that this proves that men are less sensitive than women.

A man may completely crush his Fragile Flower's spirit by forgetting her birthday, favorite perfume, pet dessert and the name of the show they attended the night they became engaged.

Yet the same man will drudge himself into an early grave to provide said F. F. with quite needless comforts.

And, outside his home, he will make the most amazing sacrifices, suffer incredible penalties, to aid or defend a friend or business associate.

On the other hand, the Fragile Flower who will sob herself into a pulp over a forgotten anniversary will, without flinching, betray the most sacred confidence, spread the most virulent gossip and take endless advantage of the fact that she's "just a poor little woman."

HOW SHE SEES IT

Which one, in this case, would you call the more sensitive? It all depends, of course, on what you mean by "sensitive." A woman means one thing—a man another.

The average woman views sensitiveness as she views every other problem—from the limited angle of her personal life. She never rates any experience on its own merit, but entirely as it affects or implicates HER.

If the experience plays no vital part in her private life, she speedily dismisses it.

But if it has ever formed part of her program, it henceforth BECOMES IDENTIFIED WITH HER PERSONALITY, and is as important as she, herself is, and should be treated as seriously.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

New York, March 25—In the manner of Arnold Bennett's journal: Some French papers from Win Larkin today. Dr. Francois Dubois recently advertised for a toe to replace one lost by a rich client. Blanche Vogt wrote it up in Grin goirs. They received hundreds of letters from poor devils offering their toes for money.

O. O. McIntyre

I'm mensely pathetic, all of them. Genuine letters. The grim part is the doctor selected a girl born with six toes. So killed two birds with one stone. How much should one ask for one's little toe? Me, $10 for the one with a touchy corn. And no questions asked.

I heard somewhere Lloyd Osbourne was the first literary gentleman to own an automobile. He now travels with a regular Wodehouse Jeeves and friends say he has lost interest in America. Henry James hated the U. S.—except the West. He once said at his house in Rye that New York was abominable. Eeeeimagine!

The luxurious new buses are a delight. Strap-hanging joins the lost arts. I often wondered why Parisians prefer to ride backward in buses. They jump for the one back to the chauffeur. Freudian stuff likely. Or maybe they like to think they are leaving Paris.

They were talking at Erskine Gwynne's how certain letters make interesting neologisms and others don't. The funny letters are B, F, G, J, K, OO, V and Z. OO enters into hundreds of slang words. K is the alphabetical outcast.

Cincinnati is the only city I know to rout vice and political graft.

Signs of cherry blooms in Central Park. M. and I decided at breakfast there is a surfeit of charm lately. It is peddled like soap. I don't like charming people.

A Katharine Hepburn looking girl coming out of Maillard's recently indulged an amusing fraktitude. Stood in the middle of the sidewalk with a mirror. Removed all the cosmetics with burried swipes and did her face over.

"What tricks are we wenches driven to when once 15 hath found us out"—The Alchemist (?)—One of the Elizabethans anyway.

Most misspelled is the first name of Lodovik Vroom. Applause checkers, I hear, are ticking off reactions to Huey Long in the news reels. Is there anything that can evade and crawalip when you pursue it with a knife like ice cold fresh butter?

J. T. was in a violent crotchet today. He had been over New York looking for a man's light silk union suit. Everywhere treated with scorn and contumely. Made him feel effeminate. He hunts lions for relaxation.

Battles of Oratory

Human Side of the News

By Edwin C. Hill

The current large scale exchange of dead cats between Father Coughlin and Messrs. Long and Johnson is a spirited debate and ought to be good for Uncle Sam's arthritis.

Edwin C. Hill

That the radio would provide a new national forum everyone has known, but, at that, no one seems quite to have visioned the full provocative possibilities of a big slam-bang shirt-sleeve argument on the air, with all the country listening in.

A few of the more serious commentators find deep significance and startling new factors in political life in the vehement outbreak on the air, with the field, or rather the heavens, wide open for demagogues and rabble-rousers—or saviors of the nation, if they happen to feel that way about it.

MASS PRODUCTION

I sought the views, not of a sociologist, but of a shrewd, practical politician—one who happens to be highly skilled in the origins and inducements of public trends and who, until a few years ago, was known as one of the most effective political orators in America. He said:

"The big radio debates are merely mass production of the old arguments and issues. And so far as basic human psychology is concerned, there is nothing new on tap.

"They know people are stirred to action by emotion, rather than logic, and they do just what every campaigner has done in political meetings, from the What Cheer, Ia., opera house to Madison Square Garden, ever since the country started.

"When I was a young man, just starting out in political speaking, I was thrown into a hot campaign in Ohio, in which I had to tour the state and engage in debate with experienced old-time politicians.

"My idea was that the average voter didn't want oratorical bunk. He wanted an ABC explanation of the facts, a clear and reasonable presentation, without uproar and ballyhoo. I worked my case down to an iron-bound syllogism, absolutely invulnerable to attack.

"I took a little blackboard with me. I would write down my major premise, explain why it was tenable and then deduce a minor premise.

"The old-timer, with his Prince Albert coat and his black string tie, usually began by explaining that he was just a simple dirt farmer.

"Then he proceeded to plaster me and all I represented, like Cicero denouncing Catiline, 'While honest men were asleep in their beds, this base hireling of predatory interests'—etc.

"They almost carried me out on a stretcher. Those old boys literally tore the shirt off me. For about a month I lost every decision and then I began to get the hang of the thing.

"I wore a black slouch hat and a sloppy suit. I threw away my blackboard and stepped right in with all the invective I could swing, usually managing to see the other chap and raise him on name calling. That was the beginning of my career as a political orator.

"At Piqua, Ohio, I got my audience cheering and flattened the Jack Dempsey of the opposition—without either of us spilling an ounce of logical argument."

Father Coughlin rakes up the old contention about the bankers' usurpation of the congressional function of issuing money—and that rates another big run.

General Johnson, with his bullwhip invective, lashes a previously indifferent public first to a crowd emotion and then to some bed-rock examination of facts. As always, the emotion before the fact.

Since the big radio rucus, I have heard on the streets, in clubs, on trains and in theater lobbies more argument and more excited interest in money, credit, banking, wealth and basic economic problems than I have heard in all my life before.

To my way of thinking, that's all to the good. Let the dead cats fly. Every once in a while one of them brings down a real idea.

Ignoring Einstein

By Hendrik Van Loon

Who invented that strange myth about the English not having a sense of humor? Personally I have always found the English people most generously possessed of a dry, but highly civilized, sense of the ludicrous.

And therefore, when a London publisher sent my American publishers a book on physics that had just appeared in Germany and wrote, "You may be interested in this volume for it will perhaps make you think vaguely of v.l.s well-known geography," I was curious to see what was on his mind.

The postman finally brought me a book that had a cover that was an exact and minute replica of the cover of my own geography.

* * *

I read this volume and found that the author had paid me that particular compliment which is said to be the highest of all forms of flattery.

He had completely imitated me. He was not the first to do so. Some of our own fellow-citizens have done likewise. I hear them no ill-will.

I fully agree with Anthony Fokker, the famous aeroplane inventor, who once told me:

"Don't ever bother about patents. Do the way I do. I just go ahead and invent something new and let the mob run after me. That is just as easy and in the end it will save you a lot of worry."

So that, if I bring this matter up, it is because I would like to use this German opus to say a few words about a strange new development of this age of intense patriotism, which seems to me a very serious menace to all true progress.

We all know what happened only a few years ago in Russia, when the intellectual leaders of the country were expelled from their laboratories and were left to shift for themselves in the streets.

Only a very short time afterward the benighted Bolshies quietly invited them to resume their labors.

That Germany, of all countries, should have tumbled into this same error is unbelievable to those of us who knew that country when it was the most enlightened of this earth.

* * *

The book of which I am speaking is supposed to be a popular treatise on physics. Modern physics without Einstein is like a lamb stew without lamb.

You take the meat and look up Epstein (Albert), but you do not find him. You find a million and the other learned doctors who have worked within the Einsteinian field. But there is no mention of the name of Einstein.

Of course, the author could not very well omit all reference to the theory of relativity, for it is the beginning and the end of all modern speculations within the realm of physics. And since relativity and Einstein are one, the theory itself had to be fully explained. But the name of its inventor was carefully omitted from the index.

In the next German handbook on medicine, we shall probably find that Ehrlich has been left out. For he, too, was a Jew.